SECURITY PACT REPORT DENIED BY AMERICANS

Plan Would Have Been Based on Pacific Treaty of 1921.

U. S. DELEGATES CITE ENTANGLEMENT PERIL

PLENARY SESSION IS SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Stimson Voices Optimism; Journal Claims Hoover Will Take Initiative.

London, March 26 (Wednesday) (A.P.).—Rumors that the American delegation to the naval conference was now willing to enter a consultative pact with the other powers on the lines of the Pacific treaty of 1921 with a view to saving the conference were published in one of the London morning papers today, and were current late yesterday evening. They met with an immediate and authoritative denial at the headquarters of the Americans. It was said that the American policy had not been changed from that outlined by American spokesmen several weeks ago.

The idea of a consultative pact had been chiefly pushed by the French in quest of security guarantees. Without some such guarantees the French delegates refused to reduce their claims of 724,000 tons for their fleet strength.

A statement of denial issued by the delegation said that it had been made clear "that America had no objection to entering a consultative pact as such, on the contrary the United States was already party to a number of treaties involving the obligation to consult other powers:

Would Avoid Entanglements.

"It will not, however, enter any treaty, whether consultative or otherwise, where there is danger of its obligation being misunderstood as involving a promise to render military assistance, or to guarantee protection by military force, to another nation."

"Such misunderstanding," the statement continued, "might arise if the United States entered into such a treaty as a quid pro quo for the reduction of naval forces of another power.

"That danger has hitherto inhered in the present situation, where France has been demanding mutual military security as a condition of naval reduction, as appears from the original statement of her case last December.

Hopes Are Revived.

"If, however, this demand for security could be satisfied in some other way, then the danger of misunderstanding consultative pact would be eliminated, and the question would be approached from an entirely different standpoint.

"In such a case, the American delegation would consider the matter with an entirely open mind."

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, March 25 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A startling change, renewing waning hopes that a five-power naval reduction treaty may yet be negotiated here, has come over the London Naval Conference overnight.

A meeting today of the heads of all delegations, the first held in a fortnight, was followed by announcement that a plenary session will be held next week on a date to be definitely fixed following the return to London of Aristide Briand, French foreign minister.

Hoover Initiative Reported.

The suddenly revived atmosphere of optimism is ascribed in some quarters to reports that President Hoover will take the initiative toward American participation in a consultative pact. In others it is attributed to a French climb-down from its delegation's demands due to fear in Paris over imminent conclusion of a treaty between the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

All sorts of definite statements, purporting to explain the great riddle of the new conference atmosphere, are being made tonight and are no sooner made than met with categorical denials.

The Daily Herald, Labor organ, will headline across its front page tomorrow:

Paper Bares "Plans."

Over the initials of its editor, the newspaper states:

"The Americans have informed their colleagues that, in view of the gravity of the situation, the Government of the United States was prepared to make new proposals.

"Hoover, after consultation with his country's delegation, has decided

Child Gets Damages In Suit Citing Major

Awarded $100.01, Says Officer Caned Her After Prank.

MARGARET JAMES.

Actual damages of 1 cent and punitive damages of $100 were awarded by a jury in Municipal Court before Judge Nathan Cayton yesterday to Margaret James, 14-year-old Chevy Chase school child, who is alleged to have been caned by Maj. A. H. Hobley, United States Air Corps, of 6413 Ridgewood avenue, Chevy Chase, on last Hallowe'en night.

The alleged caning is said to have occurred when the major is said to have interrupted and dispersed a group of children who were throwing peas against the window of his home.

Maj. Hobley is alleged to have chased the children. In the stampede Margaret James is said to have fallen and to have been overtaken by the Army officer and to have been struck while she was prostrate.

The child entered suit in Municipal Court several weeks ago through her grandmother, Mrs. Margaret V. James, of 1360 East Capitol street. She sought to recover damages of $1,000, Attorneys Hawken and Havell representing her.

Testimony at the trial, given by the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood B. James, of 315 West Bradley lane, Chevy Chase, was to the effect that the child came home that night and that she had two welts on her back. They also declared that as a result of her experience her rest was disturbed for several nights.

Margaret James on the stand told the jury that on Halloween night she and her 10-year-old sister and another girl of the neighborhood were throwing peas against the window of Maj. Hobley's house in order to attract the attention of the officer's daughter, one of her schoolmates, who was sitting near the window. Suddenly,

SHAKEDOWN INQUIRY HEARS STORIES OF 12

EXPECT REPORT MONDAY

After the grand jury had completed its investigation of the police "shakedown" scandal, hearing twelve witnesses yesterday, it was revealed that one of the most important witnesses had not been called.

He is Hugh C. Hummel, of Plainfield, N. J., now out on bond as a Government witness. Hummel was in the house on First street northwest when a policeman and two civilians are alleged to have attempted to "shake down" two girl inmates for $30 "protection money" early last Wednesday.

No reason was offered yesterday for the failure to subpena Hummel, who signed an affidavit for the Police Department testifying that he had been in the house at the time of the alleged extortion and had heard one of the girls curse and declare that she would not "give anybody $30."

District Attorney Leo A. Rover said he had placed the case in the hands of one of his assistants, that he had presumed that all witnesses had been called and that he could think of no reason why Hummel should not have been included.

The grand jury is expected to bring in its report next Monday, after studying the testimony given by the twelve witnesses heard yesterday.

Specifically, the inquisitorial body is considering charges of conspiracy to extort, brought against Policeman Ardie C. Swortzel, of the Fourth Precinct; James Crotts, young carnival showman, who is critically wounded in Casualty Hospital as a result of shots fired at him by Policeman S. F. Gravely, of the Third Precinct, a few minutes after the alleged "shake down;" and John C. Elgin, who had accompanied Mr. Crotts and Mr. Swortzel to the house.

Dr. John F. Collins, of Casualty Hospital, who treated Mr. Crotts after the shooting, was the first witness. Gravely had signed an affidavit quoting Mr. Crotts as confessing, in the presence of Dr. Collins, that he and his two companions had gone to the house with the intention of "knocking off" the girls for money for "protection."

The surgeon declared to reporters yesterday, however, that he could not

HOUSE REPUBLICANS MAP TARIFF BATTLE

Leaders Intend to Allow Talk, but Keep Tight Hold on Situation.

FLEXIBLE POWER SOUGHT

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

House Republican leaders began yesterday to shape their tariff plans with a view to letting the members get as much political satisfaction as possible and yet not let the situation get out of control. Only such old heads as they could hope to do this, but there is every indication that they will.

It began to appear also that some change in the flexible provision by which Congress will have to do with the flexible rate-making power now exercised exclusively by the President will come out of the chaos. Such a change, it appears, is likely to stand on its own weight and not on political considerations, as the President is in position, if he should take a stand not only to retain the flexible power, but the increased administrative authority which the House originally voted him.

There is, however, a strong sentiment in the Republican ranks of both Houses that Congress should share in the flexible power, a sentiment that the President has been apprised of and therefore is not likely to fight.

The first day of maneuvering on the part of Republican and Democratic leaders in the House and the rather indefinite agricultural block did not improve the chances of the debenture provision. Representative Sproul (Republican), Kansas, in a speech did demand that the House accept the debenture, and Representative Garner, Democratic leader, jumped up and told him if he would get 90 Republicans of his mind, the debenture would be retained.

Mr. Garner's demand for 90 Republicans, however, rather emphasizes the lack of sympathy for it in his own ranks.

The chances are that the House leaders will be able to hit upon a plan which will be acceptable to Mr. Garner and the agricultural Republican group alike, and that is one that will permit the House to vote before the bill goes to conference on the four major rate items of the bill, brick, cement, sugar and lumber.

Canada House Votes Curb On Rum Shipments to U. S.

Senate Will Get Measure Giving Authority to Refuse Clearance.

Ottawa, March 25 (A.P.).—Premier W. L. Mackenzie King's bill to amend the export act was passed on third reading by the House of Commons today by a vote of 173 to 11. The bill, which grants the government authority to refuse clearance to liquor shipments destined for the United States, now goes to the Senate.

Reading of the bill followed spirited debate. Representatives of several parties united to furnish the eleven votes which opposed the measure. Eight conservatives were joined by a single liberal, Maj. C. G. Poweg, member for Quebec, South; Henri Bourassa, independent member for Labelle, and A. A. Heaps, Labor member for Winnipeg, North.

During the debate, R. B. Bennett, conservative leader, challenged the

CHEMIST SLEW SELF TO SECURE FUND FOR WIFE

WOMAN COMPANION WAS FIRST KILLED

DINGY HOTEL ROOM SCENE OF TRAGEDY

$35,000 Benefit Is Assured Deserted Family, by Act, Letter Says.

Vienna, March 25 (A.P.).—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Dr. Hermann (Ernst) Watzl, Cleveland chemist and inventor, of Austrian birth, was cleared today after an inquiry in three continents for four months.

The body of a man found shot dead in a dingy hotel room yesterday was definitely identified as that of the chemist by his father, H. Watzl. A woman lying near Watzl's body, and also shot dead, was said to be Mrs. Mary MacGranahan, of Cleveland.

A rapid medical examination resulted in a statement that Watzl had killed the woman and then shot himself through the heart. The bullet with which he ended his life pierced his body, issuing through his back and fell to the floor of the room after striking a wall.

Mysterious Letter Hinted.

A mysterious letter was thought by Vienna police to have had something to do with the missing chemist's suicide and the killing of the woman. They said that the shooting had followed the receipt of this letter by Watzl, but searched everywhere for it unavailingly. They surmised that he had destroyed it.

In any case, the man and woman died penniless, leaving an unpaid bill at the Hotel Sacher. The exact time of the deaths could only be guessed, no one having apparently heard the sounds of the shots. The bodies were cold when found in the bedroom yesterday.

A farewell letter from Watzl to an intimate friend in Vienna, which was communicated to the press this afternoon, said that Watzl had decided to commit suicide in order to secure for his wife his insurance policy of

15 PASSENGERS SLIGHTLY HURT IN BUS MISHAP

LEAPS OVER CURB AND HITS PLATFORM

GATHERING CROWD TIES UP TRAFFIC

Imperiling its capacity load of passengers twice within a few moments, a Woodridge-bound bus of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. first collided with a truck, hurled the bus driver from his seat and then the unpiloted coach went on a 60-foot dash into the loading platform of John H. Wilkins Coffee Co. warehouse at 523 Rhode Island avenue northeast at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

At least fifteen persons among twice that number on the bus suffered minor hurts, but hospital aid was required only by the driver, Louis E. Young, 31 years old, of Fort Myer, Va., who sustained lacerations of the head, the right side of the back and a dislocation of a finger. He was treted at Sibley Hospital and dismissed.

Crashes Into Truck.

The first crash, which sent Mr. Young scudding from his seat, occurred when the coach collided with a truck of the Loose Wiles Biscuit Co., driven by Willard E. Foss, 28 years old, of Belmont street, near Thirteenth street northwest. The accident took place when the truck emerged from its plant at 513 Rhode Island avenue northeast, according to report of Twelfth Precinct Policemen H. W. Hawse and Watson Salkeld.

Bounding aside after the impact, which jolted passengers and threw several to the floor, the bus swerved over the curb, across the property of the coffee company, head on into the loading platform while persons on the coach were trapped inside, helpless, until Young struggled to his feet, reassumed control and opened the door.

Traffic Is Tied Up.

A large crowd quickly gathered and a traffic jam ensued until police took charge of the situation. The greater number of the passengers, suffering inconsequential bruises and cuts, ac-

Rudy Saves His Band By Using Megaphone

Embarrassing Situation When Voice of Member Hired to Sing Is Taboo in First Engagement; Tension Relieved by Leader.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER IV—SINGING THROUGH A MEGAPHONE.

AFTER that hour of rehearsal we went with our instruments to the Heigh-Ho Club, over in the aristocratic East Side section. I think it was the greatest thing that Don Dickerman ever did.

Gold as the predominating color. Everything so tasteful, so subdued. Dignified, and yet with a touch of Dickerman humor beneath it all. A tremendous landscape mural on one side faced a mural of the bottom of the sea, decorated with the odd fish that Dickerman had drawn as staff artist with the Beebe expedition. In all this there was humor, which you might see by glancing at the big centerpiece in the middle of the ceiling, where, among the stately signs of the Zodiac, you encountered one of the little half-man, half-animal figures thumbing his nose! That was Dickerman, always dignified with his tongue in his cheek!

The band platform was the best, acoustically, from which we have ever played.

Directly behind my drummer was a big live white cockatoo from South America. He was not a speaking bird, but we had only to frighten him by a glance or unintentional movement, or even a loud voice, to cause him to raise his yellow crest while he watched for trouble. It was months before we were able to stroke him on the crest or under his beak.

Julie's Voice Taboo, Is Notice.

The evening found us ready to play at 7, and off we went.

As I have said, the stage was acoustically perfect and the opening number did my heart good. After a while Dickerman joined some of the guests and I asked our vocalist, Julie, to sing a song while we played.

I was called to the Dickerman table and told that Julie's voice was taboo. Julie had been an entertainer in vaudeville, but Dickerman felt that his style was not quite suited to the Heigh-Ho Club.

This was an embarrassing situation. The man we had hired to sing was barred from his task. There was a danger of losing the audition, just as our manager's other band had lost it, due to the lack of singing.

No one else felt like coming into the breach, so I picked up a megaphone which I had carried in the bell of my barytone saxophone

ROVER IS GIVEN LIST OF 10 SPEAK-EASIES IN SCHOOL CHARGES

Failing as Reformer, Actress Gets Divorce

HELEN TWELVETREES.

Los Angeles March 25 (A.P.).—Helen Twelvetrees, motion picture actress, was granted a divorce from Clark Twelvetrees in Superior Court today. She charged mental cruelty and brutality.

"He was drunk when I married him," she testified, "and I did not see him again for two days."

"Why did you live with him for three years?" the court asked.

"I thought I could change him, but now I have found out it can't be done," the actress replied.

The couple was married in February, 1927. They have no children.

Twelvetrees leaped out of a window in New York some time ago and was in a hospital for several months. The actress said she paid the bills.

It may or not be an odd coincidence that this drab courtroom drama should so closely parallel the screen play in which Helen Twelvetrees was most recently seen at the RKO-Keith Theater in this city and in which she scored what has been hailed as her greatest success to date in pictures.

In "The Grand Parade" she was cast as a young woman who married a man to reform him and insure a successful resumption of his stage career, interrupted by a temporary surrender to strong drink and a burlesque blonde. It was perhaps part of the irony of fate that Miss Twelvetrees should have been more successful in the celluloids than she was in real life.

Lynn Asserts All Sell Liquor in Vicinity of Eastern High.

PROHIBITION AGENTS WILL MAKE INQUIRY

SAW BUYING DONE, ACCUSER DECLARES

Kramer and Ballou Doubt Wet Party Was Staged by Students.

No grand jury inquiry into the charge of drinking by Eastern High School students will be conducted until an investigation is made by prohibition agents of the ten alleged speak-easies which Henry Lynn yesterday charged are operating in the vicinity of the school.

District Attorney Leo A. Rover made this announcement following a conference yesterday afternoon with Mr. Lynn and Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Orcutt, who is in charge of prohibition enforcement.

Goaded by school officials and police to present facts to bolster his allegation of drinking, Mr. Lynn appeared at Mr. Rover's office and submitted to him a list of places, where, he said, drink can be bought.

Data Are Given Orcutt.

Upon the presentation of the list by Mr. Lynn, Mr. Rover submitted the information to Mr. Orcutt for investigation. If his charges are substantiated it was indicated that the grand jury will be asked to review the evidence.

Mr. Lynn, whose charge threw a verbal bombshell into the fraction merger hearing at the Capitol Monday night, told the District Attorney that the incident to which he referred at the hearing had occurred last November. He told the committee that he had witnessed the purchase of liquor by Eastern High School students.

Mr. Rover did not say whether Mr. Lynn had proved to him that the high school students were the participants in the occurrence he witnessed. Following Mr. Lynn's recital the district attorney submitted the charges to Mr. Orcutt.

Demand for Facts Made.

With the publication of Mr. Lynn's testimony before the committee, school and police officials issued a demand for the facts. Police Chief Henry G. Pratt communicated with the district attorney's office suggesting that Mr. Lynn be called.

Stephen E. Kramer, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, addressed a communication to Mr. Lynn asking specific information regarding the drinking party. Mr. Kramer further asked that the facts be presented upon which Mr. Lynn based his charge that the persons drinking were students of Eastern High School.

Interviewed yesterday afternoon, Mr. Kramer and Superintendent Frank W. Ballou asserted that they had received no complaints from teachers of drinking by the pupils. Both expressed doubt that if there had been a drinking party, as charged by Mr. Lynn, that the participants were students of any high school.

Removal of Stigma Sought.

In justice to the other students, they said, a correct presentation of the case should be made by Mr. Lynn, to obliterate any stigma that may have been placed on the students of Eastern High as a result of Mr. Lynn's accusation.

In his letter to Mr. Lynn Mr. Kramer said that information regarding his charge was desired so that prosecution could be made of the individuals concerned and the danger would be eliminated.

Charles Hart, principal of Eastern High School, made a report to school

HYBLA VALLEY PORT URGED FOR ZEPPELIN

Merits of 1,237-Acre Field Will Be Demonstrated for Dr. Eckener.

BOARD OF TRADE TO ACT

Dr. Hugo Eckener, of Graf Zeppelin fame, during his visit here today and tomorrow, will be importuned to select the 1,237-acre field at Hybla Valley, Va., as the American terminus of the lighter-than-air mail and passenger transatlantic line.

In the wake of announcement from New York Monday that signing of contracts with prominent financial and aircraft interests in the United States and Europe had assured establishment of the air service, coupled with Dr. Eckener's journey here, the Washington Board of Trade and the Washington Air Terminals Corporation yesterday made public that the latter's airport will be strongly recommended as the base.

In a fifteen-minute radio talk at 6:45 o'clock last night over Station WMAL, L. E. Williams, chairman of the aviation committee of the Board of Trade, boosting the Bingham Nelson municipal airport bill which will receive a public hearing this afternoon at the Capitol, sounded the necessity for immediate action in familiarizing Dr. Eckener with the strategic position of Washington and its environs as the American terminus for the proposed line.

The Board of Trade, through Robert Cottrell as secretary, immediately announced that it would seek to interest Dr. Eckener in the tract of land owned by the Washington Air Terminals Corporation, located a short distance south of Alexandria, and that a conference would be held today with officials of that organization on the matter.

The corporation simultaneously issued a like statement that the

G. U. MEDALS GIVEN ENVOY AND MUSICIAN

Claudel and Toscanini Are Honored as Distinguished Company Watches.

BOTH GET HIGH PRAISE

Academic honors were conferred upon Paul Claudel, French Ambassador to the United States, and Arturo Toscanini, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, at exercises last night at Georgetown University, commemorative of the founding of the institution.

In the presence of ecclesiastical and diplomatic dignitaries, the Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, president of the university, decorated the ambassador for his eminence in the field of literature with the medal of the James Ryder Randall Academy of Letters. To the maestro he presented the first medal of the Francisco de Vico Academy of Music. Both academies were recently instituted at the university.

President Nevils spoke of Ambassador Claudel as a "man skilled in political science, most erudite in the fine arts, an author of splendid repute who is, indeed, most worthy of our praises by his activities in the field of letters and his literary productions."

Turning to Signor Toscanini, President Nevils read the scroll elevating him to the academic distinction and referred to him as "America's most cherished minstrel; a man of marvellous memory, a maestro of magic influence over musicians and audience.

Before the bestowal of the honors Auxiliary Bishop John M. McNamara read the roll call of the Georgetown Founders. As the names were pronounced, the Rev. Timothy J. Barrett, aged archivist of the university, tolled the bell in memory of the priests who first projected the idea of the college.

The bell is a relic of the university and two and one-half centuries ago it Tells Court of Spirit Letters Instructing Her to Kill Woman.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 25 (A.P.).—Nancy Bowen, aged Indian woman of the Cayugas, began to tell a story to a jury today which the prosecution is confident will convict the Seneca Indian, Lila Jimerson, of the murder of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand.

Taking the stand as today's session drew near a close, the wrinkled old Indian widow was examined by District Attorney Guy B. Moore. Nancy, through the medium of an Indian interpreter, admitted she had gone to the Marchand home on March 6, chloroformed and beaten Mrs. Marchaud to death. Testimony then was taken regarding letters sent her instructing why and how she would kill the wife of Henri Marchand, artist and sculptor.

The letters, Moore told the jury in outlining his case, were from the pen

BALTIMORE COUPLE DIE IN SUICIDE PACT

NOTE HINTS DESPONDENC

Baltimore, March 25 (A.P.).—An aged couple, in ill health and near poverty, today ended their lives, 32 years of which they had spent together, because one could not live without the other.

Police found the bodies of the couple, Harry B. Applewaite, 75, and his wife, Laura, 70, lying in their bed with their throats slashed. Two old razors, the instruments of their double suicide pact, were found lying by their bodies.

On a table beside the bed was a note, telling of the fight against ill health and straitened circumstances of the couple. It was written by Mrs Applewaite and signed by her and her husband, though police said she had done all of the writing.

"My health has steadily declined," the note read. "I have a heart weakness and my lameness is more painful than ever. So I feel that I can not 'make the grade.' Harry and I have been married for 32 years, and one can not live without the other so we have concluded to go together by our own hands."

Lying on top of the note, which instructed that Mrs. Applewaite's sister be informed, lay a nickel with another note saying it "was for the telephone call."

The sister, Mrs. J. G. Schmetzer, said today that a letter had been received by her this morning, mailed last night by the couple, which told of the approaching poverty which both feared.

A third note, left for Miss Anna Buffington, owner of the house where the couple had an apartment, told of their lots, already purchased in a Baltimore cemetery, with instructions for their double funeral. It requested that the bodies be put in the same casket.

Mr. Applewaite was the Baltimore representative of a boiler-making concern, and persons at the office where he held desk space, said that he had been at work yesterday as usual and had given no indication of ending his life, though he seemed to be depressed and commented on his wife's illness.

AGENTS INVSETIGATE COUNTERFEIT NOTES

Merchants in Capital and Three States Report Bogus Bills.

WASHINGTON POLICE AID

Washington, Virginia and Maryland police are on the lookout for two men who have been passing counterfeit notes in this city and at numerous towns between Hagerstown, Md., and Staunton, Va. Department of Justice agents are cooperating in the effort to track down the criminals.

Bogus $20 bills continued to turn up yesterday in banks and merchants' cash registers in nearby communities, among which are Winchester, Berryville, and Stephens City, Va.; Charles Town, W. Va., and other Shenandoah Valley towns. The men are believed heading South.

While in the capital the men passed several $10 notes on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. They had portraits of Alexander Hamilton on the front and the United States Treasury on the back. In Virginia the notes were drawn on the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank, with a picture of Andrew Jackson on the face and the White House on the other side. All bore the same serial number, E01397149A, series of 1928.

The bills have a slightly bluish color, instead of the brilliant green of the genuine. They also have a greasy appearance, due, bankers said, to the parrafin used in the color process.

The men are said to be between 40 and 45 years of age. One is about 5 feet 9 inches tall, has dark hair, sharp face, sallow complexion, and wore a dark overcoat and soft hat. He acts as if he were slightly deaf. The other man is about 6 feet tall.

LAXITY IS CHARGED TO COUNTY'S HEADS

FAVORITISM IS ALLEGED

The publishers of the Montgomery Independent do not charge that there has been any dishonesty in the county government of Montgomery County and they have not asked that any one be indicted, E. Barrett Prettyman, president of the board of directors, told the county grand jury yesterday.

The Independent charges that while the county officials are personally honest that the methods by which they are running the county business are not proper and they should be removed in the interest of more efficient county government, he told the grand jury. Mr. Prettyman stressed the contention of his associates that "the charges which have been made by the Independent are purely political charges and are part of a State-wide as well as county political campaign, "a bitter political fight," as he interpreted it.

The grand jury yesterday questioned the 13 directors and the managing editor of the Independent regarding charges published in that paper that the county officials had handled county funds in an irregular manner and had been high-handed in their administration of county affairs.

Officials Are Summoned.

Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, president of the board of county commissioners; Lacy Shaw, vice president of the board; John Culver, clerk of the police court, and O. W. Robey, former county commissioner, have been summoned to appear before the grand jury today.

It is believed that the grand jury will question them about the charges which had been printed in the Independent alleging mishandling of county funds and favoritism in the conduct of the county business.

Mr. Prettyman was in the grand jury room for approximately two and a half hours.

According to the statement given by him to The Post, he told the grand jury that he personally did not have the proof of the charges which had been printed in his paper, but that he would give them the names of witnesses and sources which would substantiate the charges. "I made clear that we do not ask that anybody be indicted," he said, "and told them that since we had taken over publication of the paper that we had not attacked any individual or the county officials with regard to their honesty. I explained that these charges are a part of a bitter political fight which is State-wide as well as county. I explained that we believe the methods of the county officials in handling county affairs are such that they should be swept out of power."

Alleged Hand of Officials.

Mr. Prettyman then explained that the position of the county commissioners, as explained in the Maryland News, semiweekly paper supporting the organization Democrats, is that they can use money appropriated for any particular purpose for any other county purpose so long as they replaced the funds before the annual audit, is wrong in the belief of himself and his associates. He cited the building of schools and roads with money which had been borrowed to pay for the construction of the courthouse at Rockville and which was replaced later through legislative action. "We believe that as soon as $1 of those funds had been diverted to some other use than that for which they were provided that it was wrong and showed extravagance and mismanagement by the commissioners."

"We stand for strict budget control," he said.

Mr. Prettyman then charged that the loaning of $50,000 to the Maryland State Roads Commission to construct the underpass at Sligo for the extension of Sixteenth street to Colesville pike was unbusinesslike and improper use of the county funds, inasmuch, he claimed, as the commissioners had no power to make such a loan.

W. S. Casey, managing editor of the Independent, told the grand jury that members of the county police department had been permitted to exceed their yearly allowance of $300 for equipment and that misconduct on the part of police had been allowed to go unpunished. He told the grand jurors that the evidence of the overdrawing of accounts could be found in the records kept by John Culver, clerk of the Police Court.

He further charged that the county commissioners had taken funds from the courthouse bond issue to finance a trip for themselves to the jails and courthouses of Virginia, which he claimed was illegal. Mr. Casey reiterated most of the statements of Mr. Prettyman, according to his statement given after he came from the grand jury room.

Directors Are Questioned.

Other members of the board of directors of the paper who were questioned were: Mrs. Parker Weller, Miss Vivian B. Simpson, George E. Bonifant, Mrs. Thomas D. Griffith, Edward Peter, P. Ray Souder, Edward P. Abbe, Dr. Bates Etchison, Joseph F. Whalen, Eugene H. McLachen and Enos C. Keys. Harrison B. French, a former member of the board of directors, also was questioned. Summons had been issued for Morris A. Bealle and Walter W. Liggett, former editors of the paper, but it was found that Mr. Liggett is out West and that Mr. Bealle is in the hospital.

It is understood that most of the directors did not give information to the grand jury on the ground that they had no personal knowledge of the conditions charged, but had left the running of the paper to the managing editor.

The grand jury investigation was asked for last Wednesday by Maj. E. Brooke Lee, county Democratic leader and speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, and the board of county commissioners, who went into the grand jury room as that body was preparing to adjourn, and demanded that either the county officials be indicted for malfeasance in office or that the publishers of the Independent be indicted for criminal libel. The newspaper, through Attorney F. Barnard Welsh, then asked that a special grand jury be impaneled and that a special prosecutor and an expert accountant be employed for the inquiry. This petition was denied by Judge Robert B. Peter, who said that he did not feel that he had any authority to grant such a move and that he believed the present grand jury and prosecutor capable of making the inquiry.

In the meantime, the grand jury inquiry continued to be the chief topic of conversation in the county and it is said by political observers that the result of the inquisitorial body's investigation probably will have a decided effect on the county elections which take place in November.

As Bishop McNamara read the names of Andrew White, John Altham-Gravenor, Thomas Gervase, Thomas Copley, Ferdinand Poulton and John Carroll, Father McNamara rang the bell which is a memorial of their early work.

Following a greeting by William D. Mooney, of the class of 1930, George McNeir, of New York City, regent of the university, read the charter granted the institution in 1789 by Congress.

President Nevils read the proclamation of Founders Day in which he paid tribute to the early labors of the pioneer Jesuits of colonial days. It briefly recounts the difficulties confronting the early aCtholic settlers and closed with the narration of the founding of the school.

Assisted by Mme. Claudel, Signora Toscanini and President Nevils, the two honored guests, received informally after the ceremonies.

The occasion was the first public appearance of Sir Ronald Lindsay, Ambassador of Great Britain. Among the guests weer Bishop Thomas C. O'Reilly, of Scranton, Pa.; Clarence H. Mackey, John H. Cassidy, regent of the university; the Ambassador of Spain and Senora de Padilla, the Ambassador of Turkey, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar; the Ambassador of Germany and Frau von Prittwitz, the Ambassador of Poland, Mr. Tytus Filipowicz; the Minister of Portugal and Viscountess d'Alte, the Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter, the Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi and Mr. Justice Pierce Butler, of the Supreme Court.

MARKER UNVEILED ON MARYLAND DAY

GOVERNOR GIVES SPEECH

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 25.—Maryland Day, the 296th anniversary of the landing of the Colonists at St. Mary's City, was celebrated in patriotic fashion here today. The Peggy Stewart Tea Party Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution unveiled a bronze tablet marker on the old Treasury Building on State House hill, one of the oldest buildings owned by the State. State and National officers of the organization, and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, participated in the ceremonies which were held in the presence of a large gathering.

The building, erected during the regime of Sir Francis Nicholson, provincial governor, 1694-1699, was first used as a meeting place for the governor's council and a provincial court room, in colonial times, and later became the Treasury of the colony and the commonwealth. The tablet was presented by Mrs. Daniel M. Garrison, vice president general of the National Society, D. A. R., and a history of the building was read by Mrs. Henry M. Robert, jr., recording secretary of the State D. A. R.

Accepting the tablet in behalf of the State, Gov. Ritchie spoke of the appropriateness of placing the marker, and declared that to get the atmosphere of what Maryland Day means, one must go to St. Mary's City, where amid the fragrance of approaching spring, the colonists set up their government, or go into any of the hundreds of manors or old homes of the State. In their environs, he said, the true Maryland dwells, they speak the memories which go to make up the traditions of tolerance and advancement in these days of the ideas of self-government.

Amann, of 1427 Monroe street northeast, was bruised on the chest, but told police that she would receive treatment from a family physician.

Nine Are Rescued As Tug Is Rammed

Craft Sunk by Steamer as Heavy Fog Envelops Baltimore Harbor.

Baltimore, March 25 (A.P.).—The captain and eight members of the crew of the tug Mary Clare were saved today when their craft was rammed and sunk by the steamer Calvert in a heavy fog which blanketed the Baltimore harbor and put a virtual halt to shipping in the Chesapeake Bay.

The Calvert and Mary Clare both were proceeding at slow speed when the steamer crashed broadside into the smaller vessel, throwing the engineer of the tug into his engines and injuring him. The Mary Clare clung to the bow of the Calvert until the larger ship pulled away and then sank almost immediately. The crew of the tug was taken aboard the Calvert before it backed away.

The fog was so dense on the Chesapeake today that all shipping was halted, many in and out bound ships anchoring in the bay awaiting a clearing of the haze.

Oldest Nun Dies In Charity Order

Sister Veronica, 91, Expires at Hospital in in Baltimore.

Sister Veronica Klimkiewicz, a native of Washington, and the oldest member of the Order of Sisters of Charity in the United States, died yesterday afternoon at Saint Agnes Hospital in Baltimore. She was 90 years old, having been born in Washington on October 3, 1838.

She entered the novitiate at Emmittsburg, Md., at the age of 16, a year after she had asked permission to become a Sister of Charity. She celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of her religious profession in the chapel of Saint Agnes last October. Her sister, Sister Serena Klimkiewicz, also entered the Order of Sisters of Charity and lived to celebrate the golden anniversary of her profession. She died several years ago. Both sisters served as nurses in the Civil War and on one occasion nexpectedly found their wounded brother on the Gettysburg battlefield.

The sisters were the daughters of Bennett Henry Klimkiewicz and Amelia Langley Klimkiewicz. For many years, Sister Veronica was a pharmacist at Saint Agnes Hospital. She suffered an accident during the seventieth anniversary of her entrance into religious life.

Kernahan to Make 15 Talks in Day

Chicago Man Will Direct Evangelistic Drive in Washington.

Dr. A. Earl Kernahan, of Chicago, who will direct the visitation evangelism campaign in Washington next week, will speak fifteen times at different churches on Sunday, it was announced yesterday. The Rev. C. O. Morong, his assistant, is in the city making engagements for the director of the drive.

The principal appearances of Dr. Kernahan Sunday will be at 7:30 o'clock in the morning at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, at 11 o'clock service at Columbia Heights Christian Church and at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Constitution Hall. Several radio talks are scheduled for the week.

Survey cards taken during the recent census have been turned over to the various churches, and these will be used as a basis for the visitation campaign. The colored churches of the city will end their survey tonight with a supper at Mount Carmel Baptist Church.

Rail Time to St. Louis Will Be Cut One Hour

Washington travelers will profit by faster train schedules to and from St. Louis when the Pennsylvania Railroad this spring places its two speediest trains between New York and St. Louis on a 23-hour basis. "The American" and the "Spirit of St. Louis" will make the trip each way in an hour less time.

The connection for the former, westbound, will leave Washington at 7:20 p. m., 50 minutes later than at present, the running time being 22 hours and 45 minutes. The other connection will leave at 2:55 p. m., 15 miutes later.

of Lila Jimerson who, playing on the superstitious mind of Nancy, convinced her Mrs. Marchand was a witch and should be killed to prevent ill fortune befalling Nancy and her relatives.

"The most powerful motive for murder that human beings know," said the district attorney, "was responsible for the crime. It was love. The fact is the defendant though she would marry Marchand as soon as he was free, meaning as soon as Mrs. Marchand was out of the way."

Instead of using the traditional bow and arrow Moore said, Lila selected as the instrument of death the ancient Nancy and by "feeding up her mind and inflaming her superstitions" induced her to kill.

The letters read into evidence by the district attorney were signed by a fictitious "Mrs. Dooley." They told Nancy that a "witch in the city of Buffalo" killed Nancy's husband "Sassafras Charlie" because the herb he was peddling in Buffalo was hurting the witche's trade. The method used by the witch was described by the writer as follows:

"She said she made an old rag doll of Charlie, she put in a glass dish, pour the green oil on doll and filled up dish with beef blood. Soon as rot he died."

"She kill many, many, many that way, Indians and whites" the letter said, and then proceeded to say the witch had cut out an effigy of Nancy herself with intent to send her with her dead husband.

The remaining letters, all written last December, gave explicit instructions for the killing of Mrs. Marchand, instructions which the prosecution charges were faithfully carried out.

The district attorney told the jury he possessed no evidence to indicate Henri Marchand was involved in the plot to murder his wife.

Lila remained slumped in a chair without apparent emotion over today's developments.

Moore said letters in his possession, "while they do not express love, do express tender sentiments" between the defendant and Marchand. Sketching the 12-year-old history of Marchand's acquaintance with Lila, the district attorney said the artist had established relations with the Indian woman to induce her to pose for him in his work of modeling museum figures.

The intercession of the Federal Government in the trial, through the presence on defense counsel of United States District Attorney Richard H. Templeton stirred Moore to bitter resentment. The Federal attorney appeared in court this morning and said he was acting on instructions from United States Attorney General Mitchell. At this time Moore protested his presence and requested a three-hour recess to allow him to become familiar with the case.

Moore, over the heated objection of the Federal attorney, declared the request that the Federal Government to intercede for Indian wards "came from Canada." Templeton insisted the demand was made by Chief Clinton Rickard, of the Tuscaroras of this country, and not by Canadian tribesmen.

Mellon Demands Inquiry Into Leper Rum Activities

Charges of Prohibition Law Violation Among Inmates and Staff of Leprosarium Prompt Action by Secretary of the Treasury.

New Orleans, March 25 (A.P.).—An investigation into charges of prohibition law violations at the Federal leprosarium at Carville, La., was ordered today by prohibition administrator O. D. Jackson, on orders from Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon.

Mr. Jackson said he would send two men to the institution to make the investigation. Charges of liquor drinking among the staff and the lepers was made in a letter to Mr. Mellon from a person who said he was a resident of Carville. Mr. Mellon forwarded the letter to the prohibition administrator with instructions to investigate.

Dr. O. E. Denny, superintendent of the leprosarium and former officer in charge of the leper colony at Culion, P. I., said today that the complainant was an inmate of the insane ward of the hospital.

These same charges were sent to the President, he said, and Dr. John McMillen, Public Health Service official, investigated and found the allegations groundless.

TRANSOCEAN RECORD SMASHED BY EUROPA

AVERAGES 27.9 KNOTS

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—The new speed mistress of the seas, the North German Lloyd liner Europa, slid into a fog-bound New York Harbor today with a new transatlantic record for her maiden voyage from Cherbourg Breakwater to Ambrose lightship, just off the entrance of the lower bay.

Cutting through a light mist and drizzle, the Europa passed the lightship at 5:54 a. m., to establish a record 4 days 17 hours and 6 minutes for the run across the Atlantic's speed lane. She left Cherbourg at 12:48 p. m. (E. S. T.) Thursday.

This lowered by eighteen minutes the old record established by the Europa's sister ship, the Bremen, last October and cut 36 minutes under the time made by the Bremen in her maiden voyage last July.

The Europa averaged a speed of 27.9 knots in the 3,157 miles, on a course that was 7 miles shorter than the route taken by the Bremen in her record-breaking October run.

Turbines Stop at Light.

When the Europa swept by the Ambrose Light—the official finishing mark for east-west transatlantic speed runs—passengers immediately sensed a quieting of the throbbing turbines that had rushed the gigantic liner through a wind-swept sea. Her huge hulk cut more slowly through the gathering mist to anchor at Quarantine.

Here the Europa waited patiently until the customs and United States Public Health officials put out from Manhattan in the cutter Raritan that sent up a shrieking salute as she broke through the blanket of fog and rain. Her welcoming party, headed by the German Ambassador, Baron F W. von Prittwitz und Gaffron, already knew of the Europa's new record. Once aboard, Baron von Prittwitz and Dr. Karl von Lewinski, German Consul General, went immediately to the chartroom to greet the new speed queen's commander, Commodore Nicolaus Johnsen, the 61-year-old salt, who rose from cabin boy to pace the bridge of the world's fastest liner.

Radio Broadcast Made.

Both Commodore Johnsen and Ambassador von Prittwitz spoke in German through a portable microphone set up in the Europa's chartroom by the National Broadcasting Co.

Fogbound at Quarantine for more than an hour, the Europa finally started up the harbor, guided by a small fleet of tugs, when the blanket of mist partially lifted. Scores of persons lined the Government piers in Brooklyn—the only slips adequate to berth the 936-foot Europa—to greet her at the end of the record maiden voyage.

She carried 1,940 passengers on the voyage and a crew of 975 men. She has accommodations for 2,200 passengers.

Her steam is generated by oil-fired water-tube boilers and the electric power is created by four large Diesel-driven dynamos, two supplementary dynamos are installed on the sun deck.

Brickbats & Bouquets

—By JAMES HAY, JR.—

FROM the inner councils of the sage and discerning gentlemen who manufacture campaign strategy for an unterrified but battle-scarred Democracy comes the report that they will make merry with the goose-egg as their favorite weapon in the 1930 fight for control of the House.

Not at all dejected by Mr. Wood's ridicule of their high and bounding hopes, they are gleefully preparing to placard the republic with pictures of the pee-pul in a sort of London-town-is-falling-down condition while the national back cracks under the burden of a Republican-made and iniquitous tariff.

Glass, Harrison, Garner and associated campaigners are the fair-haired and blue-ribbon boys when they get a chance to assail the opposition with the charge that as a record of achievement it has written down a mass of zeroes, naughts and nothingness.

"What," they will ask the more or less excited voters, "has this administration done?

* * * *

"WHAT," they will further inquire, "have the Republicans done to soften hard times, employ the unemployed, enforce prohibition, disarm the armed and relieve the emphatically unrelieved farmer?"

And to both questions their enthusiastic and resounding answer will be "Nothing!"

Thus, in crescendo and basso profundo, they will transform the goose-egg into big-gun ammunition and the zero and the minus sign into swords and snickersnees which, they joyously proclaim, will make the fields and forests wet with the gore of political massacre.

"Yes," they admit; "we've got to win 53 seats to control the House, but what could be easier than that when we have the enemy on the defensive, the situation which, above all others, breaks the heart and benumbs the brain of a politician?"

One of the Democratic graybeards tells a story about a member of the Cabinet who, in an unguarded moment, recently emitted the moaning lament, "I thought I'd done some hard work in my day, but this job beats them all. Why, it's no rarity for me to work fourteen hours a day."

* * * *

THAT, says the minority Solomon, is merely one more indication that the President, in a last-minute desperate effort to succeed in something and to dodge the goose-egg bombardment, is working himself and his lieutenants to the limit of their endurance.

Mr. Hoover's friends, on the other hand, point out that the President, with his usual efficiency and conscientiousness, is merely doing everything possible to solve the problems now confronting the country and its statesmen.

That, however, doesn't seem to have slowed up the Democrats to any perceptible degree. They pretend to be more unterrified than ever.

They go serenely ahead with their plans to make the air blue with Republican ciphers, bagate' s and trivialities. High above the donkey on their coat of arms they have emblazoned the goose-egg rampant.

U. S. CHEMIST KILLS WOMAN AND SELF IN VIENNA HOTEL

"Thus my wife will be robbed unless I die today," the letter said.

Travels Are Described.

After stating that he had arranged the "accident" at Pottstown, Pa., last November 6, Watzl explained, "I first went to New York, where I bought a false passport in the name of Plasaak and secretly married Mary MacGranahan. Fearing recognition, we determined to quit New York, which we did, and went to Canada."

This passport in a false name made identification difficult. Three passports were found on the bodies, the man's bearing the names "Ernst Watzl" on one and "Johann Plasaak" on the other. The woman's gave her name as "Josefa Kropej," but it was learned that she was really a mannequin named Mary MacGranahan. Her mother, Julia Horvath, is a resident of Cleveland.

Watzl's body was identified by his father, a watchmaker who now owns a toy shop in Vienna. He said he had not heard of his son's return to Austria, and had not seen him since his departure some years ago for the United States.

Father Calls Son "Hermann."

The elder Watzl called his son "Hermann," instead of Ernst, the name under which he was known in the United States. He said that he had gone to America to sell patents, marrying there and becoming the father of three children.

According to information here the chemist had been sued for $50,000 by the husband of his companion.

Dr. Dryak, chief of the Viennese criminal police, who has taken charge of the Watzl investigation, told the Associated Press that all the documents connected with the case had been sealed, and that nobody had examined them yet.

Woman Called Retiring.

A detailed description of the woman was not available, but the people of the Hotel Sacher said she was tall, slim, and blonde, good looking, and about 25 years old. She was further said to be extremely retiring in her manners and habits, rarely speaking to anyone during her stay. However, she always appeared to be in good spirits.

The hotel employes added that the couple had never been known to visit places of entertainment.

Watzl's letter to his Viennese friend gave an account of extraordinary wanderings around the world after the sudden disappearance at Pottstown.

Contents of Watzl Letter.

"In Canada we were nearly caught, so we decided to go to the coast and take a steamer across the Pacific. We did so, sailing to Tokyo, where I hoped to find a job, but quickly realized there was no chance. So we went to India.

"Here we bought jewelry and trinkets, which will be found in our luggage. Leaving India we went to London, but stopped there only a short time, pushing on to Vienna.

"But the $5,000 I took from my bank at Philadelphia after my automobile escapade were soon eaten up We were faced with two alternatives; either to go to my parents and relatives and ask assistance and confess my misdemeanors, or to commit suicide. I preferred the latter.

Thought of Wife's Plight.

"I was also influenced by the thought of my wife and children in trouble in Cleveland. Knowing the customs of insurance companies, I realized that my wife would be unable to cash my policy of $35,000 unless she could officially establish my death. But I also knew that the claim would fail if my premiums were not paid regularly to my death.

"Then I remembered the insurance installment falling due tomorrow which I am unable to meet. Thus my wife will be robbed unless I die today."

Watzl's letter ended with the statement that he was going to kill himself before the premium fell due.

"I am therefore going today, before the premium is due."

Dual Cremation Is Asked.

In another note, left in the hotel, Watzl and Mary MacGranahan ask that they be cremated together.

Watzl's identity was actually established by his brother-in-law even before his father arrived. This brother-in-law, Dr. Zorn, of the Austrian ministry of finances, recognized the dead chemist's cigarette case and watch.

An Austrian inventor named Dominik Fillier today asserted that Watzl had made a fraudulent attempt to patent under his own name an invention for destruction of mosquitos and other insects, which had been made by Fillier and intrusted to Watzl as representative.

Fillier said that in order to prove his claim he had been obliged to spend a large sum of money.

Alleged Auto Crash Causes $25,000 Suit

Suit to recover $25,000 damages was filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Leila L. Davison, of 1120 Dewitt avenue, Alexandria, Va., against the Park Transfer Co., of Fifth and V streets northeast.

The plaintiff alleges that on February 18 last, she brought her automobile to a stop at the intersection of G and Seventh streets southwest and that a truck belonging to the defendant crashed into the rear of her machine, causing her to be thrown forcibly against the interior of the vehicle. Negligence and violation of traffic regulations on the part of the company's agent is alleged. Attorneys Herbert P. Leeman and Charles J. Dean appear for the plaintiff.

PACIFISTS BLAMED FOR NAVY DEADLOCK

Extensive Propaganda Has Embarrassed Nations, Is Declaration.

TRY TO DICTATE POLICY

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Continued hope for a miracle to save the London naval conference was manifest here yesterday, despite reports that a six months' adjournment was under consideration by the delegates. Something substantial may yet be saved and the crisis, though admittedly acute, may not prove fatal, according to the view of the American Government.

There was a dearth of news here respecting the actual status of the negotiations—if the present discussions may still be called negotiations—but there was reliable information concerning a new phase of the situation and a flood of light was shed upon the source of widespread mischief-making and misinformation which have embarrassed all of the governments represented at London and have retarded the cause of naval reduction as well as the cause of world peace.

This source of embarrassment has been uncovered and proves to be made up of the various volunteer and professional pacifist and internationalist organizations, of which American propagandists are the most conspicuous leaders. More damage to the cause of naval reduction and world peace appears to have been done in a day by these pacifists than was done at the Geneva conference of 1927 by all the so-called Shearers, working overtime during the entire conference.

Seek to Dictate Policy.

All the reports relative to a so-called consultative pact have been inspired and circulated by the American pacifists and their agents, some of whom are in London, while others are presuming to direct the American Government's policy from pacifist headquarters here. Mingling with the delegates and the newspaper correspondents in London and pretending to divulge hidden secrets, the pacifists and their agents have succeeded in flooding the newspapers of the United States and Europe with reports concerning a consultative pact which the European powers were described as proposing to America and which America was being urged to accept.

Meanwhile President Hoover was being bombarded here with pacifist appeals to accept the consultative pact and organizations like the Foreign Policy Association recently went so far as to state that the President would be responsible for the failure of the conference if he did not direct the American delegation to accept such a pact.

The extraordinary part of this propaganda, it now develops, is that the consultative pact by which the conference is to be saved exists only in the minds of the pacifists, who have volunteered to produce their own brand of remedy and have assumed that the nations represented must take their advice.

Pact Never Suggested.

As a matter of fact, no one of the five nations represented has ever suggested a consultative pact, nor has President Hoover or Secretary Stimson ever had occasion to consider accepting such a pact. The authors of these pacts have insisted on communicating them to the American delegation where they have been examined as humorous examples of amateur statesmanship. But if President Hoover agreed to accept all the pacts proffered, it would not make the slightest impression on the conference. France would not exchange a single ton of fighting craft for all the pacts which the pacifists have composed and offered.

What France is interested in is a political and military pact with the United States whereby America would agree to contribute military force on the side of France in the event of French securities being threatened. President Hoover would not consider any such pact. France now knows this. The delegates at London are under no illusion as to the position which the United States has taken and intends to stand by.

The fact that the consultative pacts composed by the pacifists and volunteered as "a means of saving the conference" are valueless does not altogether nullify their embarrassing effect. The embarrassment has resulted from the misinformation spread broadcast by the pacifist organizations relative to the work of the naval conference in connection with France's desire for security.

Chairman Britten of the House naval committee, in a public statement declared that it was time for the American delegates to pack up and come home as they already had leaned backward "in an attempt to preserve the conference."

"The conference should not recess," he added. "It should adjourn so that the United States might proceed with the naval construction program that is necessary to protect American commerce throughout the world."

Young Prisoner Killed In Attmept to Escape

Corsicana, Tex., March 25 (A.P.).—Ralph V. Graff, 20, Tipton, Ind., was shot and killed late today when he jmped from a truck in which T. M. Franks, guard at the Navarro County Farm, was conveying prisoners to the farm.

The youth was held on a charge of unlawful train riding.

she said, the major came running from the house carying a cane.

Margaret said the trio fled and that about a half block away she stubbled in a gutter and fell. While in that position, she declared, the major struck her twice across the back. She testified that she begged him not to hit her again whereupon he turned and went back to his home.

Mrs. James testified that she telephoned the major about the filleged incident and that he told her he did not let his daughter go out and that if her daughter had gotten hit it was the mother's fault. Mr. James testified that he personally called on the major and found the officer to be very belligerent. He quoted the officer as stating that he had been considerably annoyed that night.

Maj. Hobley testified that he chased the children and that he drew back to cane one of them but that when he saw the child was a girl he did not deliver the blow but returned home.

On cross-examination Maj. Hobley admitted that he had his daughter make inquiries at school about the matter to determine which of the children had been hit.

Later he corrected himself and said that he did not mean to say that he had his daughter inquire as to what child had been hit but as to what child had been chased.

PACT REPORT DENIED BY U. S. DELEGATION

to reconsider his decision of a fortnight ago that under no circumstances would the United States be party to any security treaty.

"The American Government is now prepared to sign with the other four powers a consultative treaty on the lines of the Pacific treaty signed at Washington in 1921. The suggestion now is that a similar treaty should be signed by the five powers, referring not only to the Pacific but to disputes arising from any cause whatever.

U. S. Headquarters Besieged.

"At the same time the President insists that it must be made clear 'beyond a peradventure' that America, in signing such a pact, would not be committing herself in any way to anything but consultation."

Up to a late hour tonight no confirmation of any kind could be obtained from any member of the American mission of this story. Towards midnight the American headquarters in the Ritz Hotel presented a scene of activity unprecedented at that hour. Correspondents had been clamoring all evening for a statement on the rumored American adhesion to a consultative pact and all Americans had refused comment, even when confronted with the definite statement published in the Daily Herald. Secretary of State Stimson was preparing a statement for the press at a late hour. One previously well-informed American authority declared earlier in the evening that he is pessimistic and that the present activities reflect merely a French decision to manuever to make a five-power breakdown appear not the fault of the French.

Stimson Voices Optimism.

At a press conference early this evening Secretary Stimson said, regarding this afternoon's meeting of the delegation heads:

"The whole spirit of today's meeting was on the basis that a five-power agreement will be evolved in London. The whole spirit of the meeting was very hopeful."

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald also voiced the hope that a five-power treaty would be arrived at "if humanly and politically possible."

A British official spokesman breathed new hope for the first time in several days, saying:

"The idea is now to get the heads of the delegations into action, pull the work together, get on if possible with problems still vexing the conference, and in any case to hold a plenary session next week and tell the world what has been accomplished and how things stand."

Adjournment Not Discussed.

The Big Five decided, said the spokesman, that "the conference wants pulling together." They reviewed the discussions between experts and the Anglo-American naval programs and figures, which are actively proceeding, the effort to bring the French and Italian policies into "productive contact" and the "so-called American-Japanese agreement."

The proposal of Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, to Mr. MacDonald last night, when gloom reigned supreme, that the conference be adjourned for six months to let France and Italy compose their differences, was not discussed at the meeting of the Big Five, it was authoritatively stated by the British and Americans, and in fact all camps here, excepting the Italian, have vetoed this scheme. The Italians themselves now attempt to deny responability for it.

Probability of an early agreement between Japan, the United States and Great Britain is indicated today. This will, apparently take such form, perhaps as a result of British mediation, that neither the United States or Japan will have won in points of controversy. An ingenious formula has apparently been devised that will save the faces of each side.

Japanese Acceptance Seen.

According to the New York World News Service's information, the United States Ambassador at Tokyo has advised our delegation here that the Japanese Government will accept the last American proposals subject to the right to build new Washington treaty cruisers up to 70 per cent of the American total if the United States lays down three of these vessels in 1934, 1935 and 1936 to come into service after the expiration of the treaty it is hoped to negotiate here.

The compromise reached, it is now understood, is to the effect that the United States will accept this Japanese reservation subject to another clause affirming the right of the United States to protest and to reopen the issue if Japan does so build. Accordingly, it seems that the 70 per cent issue has, in effect, been shelved until after 1936, but that until after that year Japan will have more than 70 per cent of the American big cruiser total. No new information was obtainable regarding the Japanese attitude on submarines.

Conflict on "Agreement."

The most interesting incident at today's meeting of the big five was former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki's statement regarding the so-called Japanese "agreement."

According to a representative of a power not involved who was present, one delegate referred to the "agreement," and Mr. Wakatsuki then said he must demur to the term. No agreement, he said, had been reached between the delegations on substance. There had merely been an agreement to transmit to Tokyo for decision the results of the conversations between Senator David A. Reed and Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira. Mr. Wakatsuki added that because of this action the delegation here had not exhaustively studied all the questions involved.

In an American quarter a different version of Mr. Wakatsuki's statement to the heads of the other delegations was forthcoming. The former Japanese premier, it was stated, declared that he had caused to be published in Japan a statement that the Japanese delegation had recommended to its government a compromise reached between the delegations of Japan, the United States and Great Britain.

Ways to Scrap Ship.

A sub-sub-sub committee, thrice removed below committee No. 1, has prepared a report on scrapping warships which in due course will reach higher committees. This committee's activities when solemnly recited by a British official spokesman arousrd shouts of laughter from an assembly of 100 correspondents.

The sub-sub-sub committee has decided that there are five ways to scrap a ship, as follows:

1. To scrap her; that is, rip her to pieces.
2. To make her into a hulk, and what constitutes a hulk is laboriously and minutely defined.
3. To turn her into a target, and "target" takes a page of definition
4. To dismantle her for experimental purposes, with more definitions needed.
5. To turn her into a training ship which is also meticuously defined.

FOG FORCES CAPITAL PILOT TO QUIT PLANE

ANOTHER LANDS IN FIELD

An unexpected fog around the capital early yesterday morning caused one veteran air mail pilot to take a 11,000-foot parachute jump and another to make a forced landing when unable to locate their landing fields. Neither pilot was injured, and the mail was saved in both instances.

Verne E. Treat, 36 years old, pilot on the New York, Washington, and Atlantic section of the Eastern Air Transport, jumped from his plane at St. James, Md., near Hagerstown, when the gasoline supply in his craft was exhausted. He had taken-off from Bolling Field in an attempt to reach Richmond but turned back on account of the dense fog.

Henry T. (Dick) Merrill, of the same air line, made an emergency landing at Appomattox Court House, Va., after wandering in the air for 5 hours and 40 minutes. He was flying from Greensboro, N. C., to Richmond. Though he reached his destination, he was unable to land.

The night was said to be one of the worst, from the standpoint of flying, in many months. It was all the more dangerous because weather men did not foresee the sudden change in the atmosphere, and the air mail pilots were unprepared.

Treat just missed landing at Richmond by ten minutes, he said, as the fog came suddenly down as he approached the State capital. Unable to land, he turned back about 12:35 a. m. and sought futilly for a place to alight until 3:30 a. m., when his gas gave out.

Jumping from an altitude of 11,000 feet, to which he had gone in the hope of gaining better visibility, the veteran airman fell for 2 miles and landed in a tree. Four or five hours later he located his wrecked plane, 3 miles away, and later brought it to Washington by auto. His parachute was the new Floyd Smith device, just recently introduced to mail fliers.

Merrill had an experience similar to that of Treat save that his plane had more gasoline, and he was able to wander about in the clouds until daylight. When he landed in a farmer's field, his supply was nearly exhausted. Later in the morning he took off again and reached Richmond safely at 10:30 o'clock.

Although Treat has been with the local air mail line since it was inaugurated May 1, 1928, last night was the first time he was forced to jump. The first year of his service was marred by about a dozen forced landings and the wrecking of several planes, but for the past year he has had scarcely any trouble.

POST WANT ADS PAY

CLASSIFIED SECTION IN NEW GARB TODAY

ADVANTAGES ARE CITED

The Post's Classified Advertising section is being presented today in a new arrangement, in keeping with the systematic classification of the greatly increased volume of ads, and increasing immensely the readability of its columns.

The presentation of this distinctly new Classified section marks the beginning of a change in Post Classified Advertising that will prove immeasurably profitable to readers and advertisers.

The scientific make-up of the Classified section is the result of years of research by a group of advertising experts and is considered the last word in convenience for the thousands who peruse the classified columns each day. The ads themselves are written, arranged and set up in accordance with the basic principles of advertising: uniform in appearance, convenient in form and giving the pages an appearance that is pleasing to the eye. The arrangement is known in the newspaper profession throughout the country as the Tovey Method.

Tovey Method Described.

The Tovey Method has been secured on long and exclusive contract by The Post and Mr. John H. Tovey, its creator, who is considered the leading classified authority in the country, is in Washington to supervise inauguration of this work. Each member of The Post staff is receiving a thorough course in classified advertising to be able to write copy which will bring the greatest response. Readers and advertisers alike will benefit from this service.

Under the new Classified system inaugurated by The Post Wednesday, the ads will no longer start with "wanted" or "for sale," and take up the reader's valuable time in searching for the article or service wanted. Classification headings take care of these words and each ad is set in such a way that the first word tells what the proposition is.

For example, to find a position as housemaid, one glances at the index which appears daily at the beginning of the Classified Ad Section, and under the general heading of "Employment," will find "No. 56," which is "Help Wanted—Female." Each classification is numbered in this index and the numeral there corresponds to that at the beginning of each new classification in the section. Since each ad is listed alphabetically in its proper classification, upon finding "No. 56," one merely runs down the list of jobs offered until reaching those which begin with "H." There will be found the positions open for housemaids.

Simplicity of Method.

The same is true of every other classification in the Classified Section. The index is the key to the section. By using it the task of finding any type of ad becomes simplicity itself.

Second in importance to the appearance of the Classified Section is the care given to wording of the ads themselves if they are to accomplish the purpose of their existence. To achieve this result, The Post maintains a staff of trained ad writers under expert supervision for the service of the advertiser. They will receive ads over the telephone, courteously offering suggestions which are sometimes necessary to strengthen the ad. Another sales force is ready to give this same service to contract advertisers.

As a result of these efforts, readers of The Post will find a Classified Advertising Section of well-written ads, each properly indexed and classified alphabetically for quick, easy reference—a section unequaled for "readability" and simplicity by any other newspaper in Washington.

4-Year-Old Boy Saves 2 Children

Runs to Station and Leads Firemen to Burning House.

Denver, March 24.—In North Denver they acclaim a hero but 4 years old.

James McCurdy, the hero, didn't know, perhaps, that he was doing anything extraordinary when he ran several blocks to the fire station and gave the alarm.

But his action, firemen said, probably saved the lives of two youngsters in danger of suffocation in their home.

James was playing in the front yard when he heard screams from a nearby house.

James ran to the door of the home, occupied by the family of C. O. Butto.

"What's the matter?" he called.

Two children screamed, "We're burning—house on fire."

James wasted no time. Away he went, his little feet pattering on the pavement, his little short legs moving as fast as he could drive them. Frantically, James kicked at the door and yelled at the top of his voice. The firemen came running.

In a second the firemen had loaded into their truck. One grabbed little James and put him on the seat. Away went the truck, with James giving directions. They arrived in a jiffy at the Butto home. Firemen rushed into the house and found Junior Butto, 4, crouched near the stove in the kitchen. His sister, Josephine, 3, was under the bed.

The house swirled with smoke and the children would have been overcome, firemen said. Mrs. Butto had left them in the house while she went to a store.

A canopy of smoke is said to increase New York's temperature several degrees.

Making "Gobs"

After a considerable time in the service it is amusing to look back on the foolish things that were done during the training period. I entered the service in 1917 and, believe me, Valley Forge couldn't have been much worse than the Naval Operating Base at Hampton Roads during that winter, the coldest I have ever experienced.

One of the first things we were told by our company commander was never to salute in ranks, but shortly thereafter, when we had mastered the mysteries of squads east, &c., &c., we were passing in review and as we passed the officers about half of the men snapped out a salute.

The "razzberries," which were received for that performance were far more effective in breaking the "saluting in ranks" habit than any amount of instruction or orders that could be given. We were cured.

Mistakes Will Happen

In April, 1919, three of us were touring the Verdun sector and became so interested in Dead Man's Hill that we decided to miss the last train and hike back to Verdun at a later hour. We started back during the latter part of the evening. Several hours later we were still walking on a road hoping that it was the one to the city. It was a black night, the stars and moon seemingly being on a vacation. Seeing a light just off the road, we approached it and I made out the dim form of a man carrying a lighted lantern. In my halting and stuttering French, and using the word "street" for "road," I asked if I were on the road to Verdun. To my surprise the answer came back in "doughboy French," and I said, "Aw, talk American." It was a colored American soldier.

You're Right, Buddy

The uselessness of it all, or of many occurrences during the war, is probably the thing which is stamped most indelibly on the minds of most who saw actual front-line service.

During the Argonne drive, near Mount Faucon, two infantry regiments advanced into an open field, almost like a golf course. German observation balloons had them under direct observation and the German artillery was consequently making direct hits in the ranks. Under these conditions the infantry advanced about 5 miles with a loss of aproximately half its strength, and after reaching the objective formed resisting lines in consolidation with three other companies and the one with which I served.

About 100 men were ordered forward to make an atack, or more probably to act as a feeler, and after going beyond wire entanglements into a field were subjected to such terrific machine gun fire that it seemed the bullets made solid sheets of steel. The men just seemed to melt beneath it and after reaching a spot about 200 yards beyond those who remained alive were signalled and recalled by the officers. Believe it or not, it was a great war.

Sherman Said It

It certainly looked unreasonable to a "buck" to see lives sacrificed by the score as masses of troops advanced under shell fire to attack, but possibly there was some good reason known only to higher military officers—as in the case when we advanced into Fismes after crossing the Marne. Bushing through Fere En Tardenois about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, possibly a whole infantry company was under a withering fire from German batteries which could be plainly seen by the men, firing from the banks of the Vesle River. They made many direct hits and after losing a majority of men the infantry went into the town where many others were killed by the falling walls of buildings. White mortar dust covered everything and the men looked like hod carriers as they struggled through the cloud of dust that was permeated with the nauseating smell of gas and high explosives.

It would be impossible to describe the weird and terrifying sight as darkness finally mantled the town and reflected the glow of burning buildings—but the scene will never fade from the memory of those who saw it nor will the tragic loss of practically two companies from the same regiment who were blown up on a mined road while advancing through Fismes on the same day.

recall Crotts having made any such confession in his presence, and added that the wounded man had been in such critical condition ever since being taken to the hospital that he could not talk.

William Fulkerson, of Cherrydale, Va., the mystery witness, whose connection with the case has been veiled in secrecy ever since his name was first mentioned Monday, was not heard by the grand jury yesterday, although a subpena had been issued for him. Mr. Rover said yesterday he understood the man had been reported as present in the First street house at or about the time of the shooting, and that he had been called in the possibility that he might know something of the alleged extortion attempt.

Girl Gives Testimony.

Rose Marie Foster, one of the two girl inmates of the place, followed Dr. Collins into the jury room.

Frances O'Brien's testimony is believed to have been confined to the explanation that she had been in another room reading when the Foster girl entered and told her that "three men are trying to shake us down."

Taxi Driver Heard.

Inspector Thaddeus Bean, who has been investigating the shooting for the Police Department; Headquarters Detective H. E. Brodie, Capt. William T. Stott, commander of the Third Precinct, to which Burke and Gravely were assigned until they were suspended after the shooting; Lieut. Michael Ready, of the Eighth Precinct, and Lieut. Ed Kelly, of the Homicide Squad, all of whom have been investigating various angles of the affair, also were called and told the grand jury of their inquiries.

George A. McVey and John C. Cornell were the other two witnesses heard. McVey is the taxicab driver who piloted Swortzel and his companions to the house and introduced them to the girls, while Cornell is declared to have been a friend of the O'Brien girl and who was arrested shortly after the shooting for investigation.

A charge of conducting a disorderly house against the Foster girl and Della Greathouse, which was brought after the shooting, was nolle prossed yesterday under orders of Mr. Rover, who explained that not only is the Foster girl a Government witness, but that he believed that "there is not enough legal evidence in the specific case to warrant a charge of conducting a disorderly house."

Other Charge Stands.

A previous identical charge standing against the Foster girl as the result of a raid last November 13 on another house, "positively will go to trial," Mr. Rover said. This charge had been nolle prossed by Assistant District Attorney Charles Murray after Detective W. F. Burke is charged by Maj. Pratt with having "gone to the front" for her and pleaded to have the case dropped on the grounds that she had left town and that if her bond of $500 were forfeited, he would have to reimburse her bondsman.

Gravely, who was given a preliminary hearing on a criminal charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, has received a continuance until April 4, when it is expected Crotts may be recovered sufficiently to be brought to court. At the hospital yesterday, however, it was said that the man's condition still is "very critical and will be critical for several days, at least."

Charges against Gravely, Burke and Swortzel are to be brought before the Police Trial Board next Wednesday, although there were indications yesterday that the trials may be delayed until other angles of the tangled case have been straightened out.

Upset Not Serious If Bowels Get This Help

When you're out-of-sorts, headachy, dizzy, bilious, with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy—don't worry. It's probably constipation.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how quickly your trouble clears up. No more headache; no gas on stomach or bowels. Appetite improves; digestion is encouraged. Take another tomorrow night and the next night. Get every bit of the souring waste out of your system. Then see how bowel action is regular and complete.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. Ten cents at all drug stores.

KOREAN STUDENTS FOMENT UPRISING

National Revolt Has Origin in Dispute Over Girl Incident.

HAVE HUNGER STRIKES

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, March 25.—Again Koreans rise for independence—but not until after thousands have been arrested and hundreds injured and killed. Chicago Koreans, for the most part university students, met recently to express their sympathy for the nationalistic movement by Korean students at home. It is called the greatest national uprising since the independence movement in 1919.

According to the current issue of the Korean Student Bulletin, official organ of the Korean Student Federation of North America, "the beautiful 'Land of the Morning Calm' is once again turned into a scene of bloodshed.

"The Korean people have risen en masse in the name of justice and freedom, each time only to be trampled down by brute force, but certain to rise again. The sacrifice is great, but it is worthy," the paper says.

"The trouble began," continued the Bulletin, "when a Japanese student refused to offer apology demanded by a Korean student for his ungentlemanly act toward a Korean girl. It became serious and took on a nationalistic air when the police held only the Korean students for trial, freeing every Japanese arrested. This was deeply resented by the Koreans.

"Augmented by nationalistic sentiments, this resentment drew the whole student population of Korea into a turmoil. Korean students began registering their protests against this injustice by conducting a series of wholesale sympathetic strikes, demonstrations, parades, &c.

"Seoul, the capital, led the movement. The greatest demonstration took place on December 9 when thousands of students marched shouting 'Ten thousand years, Korean students!' Twelve hundred arrests were made that day. Then the following two days saw the entire student population on strike; students throughout the nation joined in the uprising, in many important cities hundreds of them went on hunger strikes, including school and college girls in important cities. The movement became so nation-wide in its scope that it went beyond the student circle. Nationalist bodies throughout the country still are planning secretly to start a second independence movement. An alarming cable from Shanghai on January 27 states that 17,000 Korean students have been arrested and 78 killed. It adds that the movement is growing stronger."

Imperial Coach Offered for Sale

Railway Car of Royalty Is Called Suitable for Week-End Parties.

Vienna, March 25 (A.P.).—A bargain is offered by the Austrian Federal Railways for any one who desires to buy a railroad car formerly used by royalty.

Austria, in empire days, had 60 of these luxurious conveyances, but with the break-up at the end of the war, all except four of them were handed over to neighboring nations.

The one now offered for sale is 68 feet long. It has a lounge, ten berths, hot-water heat, hot and cold running water, wash room and kitchenette. It is described as especially suitable for week-end parties.

Man, 107 Years Old, Fails in Bid for Wife

Omaha, March 24.—Failing in his recent bid for a wife, William Everitt, who is approaching 107 years, is nevertheless continuing his quest for a woman.

This time he will be content with some one to look after his rooming house, with matrimony left out of the contract.

He has placed an ad in the paper: "Wanted—woman to take charge of a rooming house. Call in person."

"I don't want to be bothered with letters," he said. "Some of them ask for money."

DUST STORMS STIR CAPITAL IN MEXICO

Newspapers Renew Agitation for Reforestation to End Alkaline Pest.

HAVE DENSITY OF FOG

Mexico City, March 25 (A.P.).—The season of dust storms in the high, dry valley of Mexico is in full swing and the abundance of the powdery alkiline dust in the air has stirred the newspapers to renew their annual crusade for "reforestation" which they claim will end the pest.

El Universal, leader in the campaign to replace great forests that once thrived about Mexico City, claims that cutting of these forests for fuel and lumber is the sole cause of the storms which sometimes descend on the city, with the density of fog.

In the time of the Spanish Conquest Mexico City was on an island in a vast, shallow lake, called Texcoco, and into the depths of which the starving Aztecs are alleged to have thrown millions of dollars worth of gold during the days preceding capture of the city by the Spaniards.

Modern drainage has reduced Texcoco, however, to a tenth its former size and much of the old lake bed now lies dry and alkiline, reaching to the edge of the city. Vegetation does not prosper there and when February and March winds swirl in the bowl-like valley, the dust rises into clouds which obscure vision for miles.

New River Line Proposed.

Baton Rouge, La., March 25 (A.P.).—The Mississippi Valley Barge Line Co. seeks I. C. C. permission to run a barge service on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers touching river ports in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and the Mississippi River south.

Horses in Louisiana decreased by 5,000 in 1929, while mules increased by 2,000.

"No repair bills during 3 years' hard service"

"We used nothing but AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO MOTOR OIL" says big Philadelphia truck fleet operator—

The trucks of the McLean Motor Service, Inc., are a familiar sight on Philadelphia streets, for there is a big fleet of them in constant operation.

But there's just one of these trucks that we want to tell you about now. It's a 3½-ton G. M. C. with a tank body--bought in February 1927.

This truck started working in the worst of winter weather three years ago--and has been in continuous operation six days a week, eleven hours a day, ever since.

AMOCO-GAS was the only fuel ever used. AMOCO Motor Oil was the only lubricant ever supplied. And the truck ran through three years of heavy-duty hauling without a single visit to the repair shop.

Late in January of this year it was decided to give the motor an overhauling "just on general principles." And when the engine was dismantled, here's the report in the exact words of the McLean Motor Service, Inc.

"Cylinder walls were clean and bright and not scored at all. No carbon formation of any kind, simply a light coating of soot which was wiped clean with a dry rag. Valves were in good condition, but were reground. Two oil rings needed replacement. Other rings were in good condition. Bearings absolutely tight. Our mechanic took out 1/1000th inch on general principles, but was obliged to put it back, as bearings were then too tight. Wrist pins showed no signs of wear.

I am writing this as evidence of the result of using Amoco Oil and Amoco-Gas consistently, which I believe is responsible for the fact that this truck has cost us practically nothing for repairs for three years and apparently is just as good as when it was bought."

We can't promise that the use of AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO Motor Oil will duplicate this exceptional record in every motor car and truck. But we can and do promise that the consistent use of AMOCO-GAS and AMOCO Motor Oil will reduce repair bills to a minimum, give you more miles per gallon, and materially help the resale value of your car!

THEATER PLAYERS GUESTS OF CLUB

ALL MAKE BRIEF TALKS

Washington welcomed the National Theater Players in a civic testimonial yesterday at the National Press Club Auditorium which was sponsored by the Advertising Club of Washington. About 300 attended.

At the advent of its sixth spring and summer playing season the company was praised by Wilton J. Lambert, local attorney, who greeted the actors in the name of the organization.

Mr. Lambert, in his salutatory, stressed the need for companies such as the National Theater Players to offset the recent decline of road companies. "Such companies as we are meeting here today," he said, "are relieving the pressure and keeping up the standard of the drama."

Mr. Lambert averred that thanks were due to the stock company for bridging the tedious gap which usually exists between the closing of one theatrical season and the opening of another.

In a tribute to the players he declared, "All of us have felt the urge to peep behind the scenes, to become personally acquainted with the members of the profession, even to call them personally by name. This, however, in one-week stands is hardly possible. Yet, here with the National Players entertaining us constantly during the season, we both become more neighborly."

In closing, Mr. Lambert paid tribute to William H. Rapley, the owner of the National Theater, and narrated the early history of the theater from the time of its dedication in 1835 until the present.

Ernest Johnston, president of the club and advertising manager of The Washington Post, presided. Clifford Brooke, director of the company, responded to Mr. Lambert's address.

Members of the company and guests who were introduced were Mr. Rapley, S. E. Cochran, manager of the National; Marion Wells, Walter Gilbert, Edith Gresham, Romaine Callender, Adelaide Hibbard, Dudley Hawley, Marion Sterly, Freddie Shefman, Forest Orr, Edward Poland, Frank Peck, the Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, and the Rev. Francis J. Hurney, director of the Catholic Players Guild.

All the players made brief talks. The program was broadcast by Station WMAL.

Property Owners Win Suits Against District

A jury in Circuit Court, No. 2, before Justice Jennings Bailey yesterday, assessed damages of $3,300 against the District of Columbia. The damages were awarded in connection with three suits filed by Benning road property owners, who alleged that their property had been damaged as a result of the construction of the overhead bridge and the raising of the road to make an approach to the bridge. All the damages resulted from water during rains.

George W. Farr, who sued for $1,500, was awarded damages of $750; Charles N. Farr, suing for $4,500, was awarded $1,200, while Charles E. Farr, suing for $5,000, received $1,350. Attorneys F. B. Rhodes and Marcus Brochart appeared for the property owners, while Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride and Assistant Corporation Counsel R. E. Lynch represented the District.

Street-Widening Extension Urged

Capper Urges Change in H Street Project to Board of Trade.

Widening of H street from Third to Fourteenth streets instead of from Seventh to Thirteenth streets as provided in an item in the District appropriation bill was urged upon Senator Arthur Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, in a letter from the Board of Trade headquarters yesterday.

Recommendation that the proposed widening of the street be extended to this extent was made by the trade body after an investigation of the situation by the streets and avenues committee of the organization, of which G. V. Graham is chairman. The committee points out that by stopping the widening at Thirteenth and Seventh streets two bottlenecks will be formed which hinder the flow of traffic.

Widening of H street from Third to Fourteenth streets has been favored by the District Commissioners, the Park and Planning Commission and the majority of property owners along the street. H street, it is pointed out further, has been selected as one of the main arteries in the main thoroughfare plan.

Hundreds of Thousands Of Wise Americans Demand Kruschen Salts

Keeps you in good health all the time—skin clear and body free from fat.

Just think of it: These new, better and different salts were only introduced into America a few months ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.

Kruschen Salts are the daily health dose of millions of people the world over—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain.

One-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.

But the six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly need have no fear of poisons polluting the system, which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85 cents, and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that, but one bottle will bring about body activity—increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

PETTY ROBBERIES, HOLDUPS REPORTED

TWO SOLDIERS ACCUSED

Police last night were investigating three holdups and a series of petty robberies which occurred early yesterday. Two of the stickups are believed to have been committed by a band of three colored men.

Andrew Gaydash, of Cleveland, Ohio, a guest at the Grace Dodge Hotel, told police that he was walking on the west side of the Capitol Grounds when three colored men, armed with pistols, told him to "stick up your hands." Instead, Gaydash struck one of the trio on the nose. In the tussle that followed, the colored men ripped the trousers' pocket of Gaydash and made off with a small card case.

The same bandits are believed to have wielded revolvers at Thomas Throw, of 303 Second street southwest, and stole his pocketbook containing $32 in bills and change. Throw was walking in C street between Second and Third streets southwest when attacked.

John A. Shaw, who gave his address as 1835 K street northwest, told police that he was robbed of $50 by two soldiers who took him into an alley "somewhere in the North east section." He said he met the soldiers at Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest and after purchasing some liquor, went for a tour of the District in a taxicab.

Clothing valued at $200 was stolen from a tailor shop at 1506 U street northwest, according to a report made to the police yesterday by Harry Popatin, manager. Entrance was made, the manager said, sometime between March 20 and yesterday by means of a duplicate key.

James W. Jones, of 3719 Military road northwest, reported to the police yesterday that his apartment was entered by thieves through a rear window and jewelry and clothing, valued at $155, were stolen.

Margaret C. Marsh, of 1575 Spring place northwest, told police that a locker in her apartment was ransacked and three lace curtains and three portieres valued at $75 were stolen.

Building construction equipment, valued at $200, was stolen from the new St Elizabeths Hospital, according to L. E. Palmer, superintendent of the W. P. Rose Construction Co.

Law Committee to Meet.

The law committee of the Board of Trade will meet at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow at the Raleigh Hotel. Several matters of importance will be brought up for discussion. Joseph A. Burkart is chairman of the committee.

Girl Files $10,000 Suit Against Taxicab Firm

As the result of a collision between a taxicab and an automobile last October 19 at K and Thirteenth streets northwest, the Mayflower Taxicab & Sightseeing Service, Inc., of 1834 L street northwest, alleged operator of the taxicab, was sued yesterday in District Supreme Court for $10,000 damages.

Ardella Craig Smallwood, by her uncle, Welby C. Smallwood, of 1352 Madison street northwest, is the plaintiff. She alleges that she was a passenger in the automobile and that the collision was due to negligence on the part of the taxicab driver. She asserts that she was disfigured and suffered other injuries of a permanent nature. Attorney George E. Sullivan appears for the plaintiff.

Committee to Discuss Outing for Chamber

Plans for a summer outing of the Washington Chamber of Commerce will be discussed at a meeting of the house committee of the organization at noon Friday.

The chamber has not had a summer holiday celebration in several years, and it is hoped that this year will see a resumption of the custom. Several invitations have been extended the organization from summer resorts. A subcommittee will be appointed by Charles H. Frame, chairman of the house committee, to consider these invitations and make plans for the outing.

Injuries Retire Policeman.

Police Private Edgar D. Gemeny, jr., appointed to the Police Department in December, 1920, and who resigned the following year, but was reappointed in January, 1925, yesterday was retired because of injuries sustained in line of duty. Gemeny was injured several times in falls from motorcycles.

Wife Asks Divorce; Says Mate Hit Her

Spent Week in Hospital With Fractured Jaw, She Declares.

Asserting that she left her husband after he had struck her, fracturing her jaw and had told her that if she "did not like the way he treated her she could leave," Josephine Katheryn Clary, of 1149 Third street northeast, yesterday requested the District Supreme Court to grant her a limited divorce from Virgil Edwin Clary, of 1426 Trinidad avenue northeast.

The couple was married on November 21, 1921. They were separated for a year when the husband was sent to St. Louis to work, but had lived together in Washington until March 21, when the wife left. Her departure, she stated, followed a severe pummeling at the hands of her husband, which caused her to spend a week in the hospital.

The wife says she is unable to support herself and asks alimony, custody of their 7-year-old child and an injunction to restrain her husband from molesting her. Attorney Vivian O. Hill appears for the plaintiff.

Crosby Senate Hearing Postponed to Tuesday

Chairman Capper, of the Senate District committee, yesterday announced that the public hearing on the nomination of Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, retired, to be a District Commissioner, has been postponed from Friday to Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

In the meantime, James Ring, clerk of the committee, will send out letters to all those who want to be heard on the nomination, notifying them that the committee will be glad to accord them a hearing.

$115,000,000 PLANS PASSED BY SENATE

Success of Keyes-Elliott Bill Means $190,000,000 for Capital Buildings.

PLAN NEW STRUCTURES

The Keyes-Elliott bill to authorize an additional $115,000,000 for Federal buildings here was passed by the Senate yesterday and sent to conference. As passed by the Senate, the bill is slightly different from the form in which it passed the House.

The $115,000,000 authorized by the bill will send to $190,000,000 the amount authorized for the Federal building program in the National Capital. Congress already has authorized $50,000,000 for buildings and $25,000,000 for the acquisition of land.

The bill passed by the Senate yesterday provides that $100,000,000 shall be spent on construction and $15,000,000 on land.

Anticipating passage of the bill, the Treasury Department has made plans to proceed immediately with construction of two big buildings and the remodeling of the State, War and Navy Building.

The new buildings will house the Public Health Service and the Interstate Commerce Commission. The first-named will be located on the north side of B street between Twenty-third and Twenty-fixth, and the latter at Twelfth and B streets.

HICKS IS BOUND OVER UNDER $10,000 BOND

Grand Jury to Investigate More Than 100 Counts Against Man.

WAS TRAPPED BY "DATE"

George Emmett Hicks, 36 years old, of C street northwest near Third street, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on a warrant containing three charges of housebreaking and larceny and was bound over to the grand jury under $10,000 bond. Hicks, acting as his own attorney, waived hearing.

Police stated that while only three charges were in the Police Court information, that more than 100 charges would be pressed before the grand jury.

Hicks, police said, worked a system of calling persons on the telephone, and when they failed to answer he would visit their homes and help himself. All his alleged victims were young women, it was said.

The warrant on which he was arraigned yesterday charged thefts totaling $128 from Bertha E. Snyder, Lillian Lowery and Minnie Kerby, all of 1321 Fairmont street northwest.

Hicks, police said, was trapped by one of his victims whom he persisted in telephoning after he is alleged to have looted her apartment. The young woman finally consented to give him a date, and when he arrived was placed under arrest by Tenth Precinct police, it was said.

YOU ARE PAYING FOR A PACKARD

Why not own one?

The First Cost of Ownership. Just because the first cost of one automobile is lower than another, it does not follow that depreciation is less. Depreciation—one of the major costs of motoring—depends upon the length of time the owner keeps his car. Suppose you are driving a car of similar size to a Packard Standard Eight—but lower in price by half—and trading it in every two years or so. You are paying as much depreciation as you would on the Packard, providing you keep the Packard twice as long.

The After Costs of Ownership. Lower first cost does not mean lower operating and maintenance rates, either. Gasoline, oil and tires cost as much for a half-price car of like size as they do for the Packard Standard Eight. So do license, insurance, garaging and repairs, in the aggregate. It costs you as much, therefore, to operate a half-price car as it would a Packard—and you do not enjoy the beauty, comfort and distinction, the luxury of Packard Eight transportation.

The Natural Conclusion. Why not get what you are paying for? Let us appraise your present car. If it is of average value it will make or exceed the down payment on your new Standard Eight—and the remainder may be arranged on convenient monthly payments. It costs no more to own a Packard. Why not buy one now?

The price of the most popular model of the Packard Standard Eight—the five-passenger Sedan—is but $2485 at the factory. Ten other body styles are available on the 127½ and 134½-inch wheelbases at from $2425 to $2885.

AGREE OR BUILD.

The London conference is said to be considering a proposal made by Signor Grandi, head of the Italian delegation, to take a recess for six months. France and Italy would thus have an opportunity to compose their differences without prolonging the fruitless and potentially mischievous discussion among the five powers. It is intimated that a three-power agreement might be made by Great Britain, Japan and the United States, before adjournment, and that upon reassembling next fall the conference could go ahead with a five-power agreement in view.

If this proposal should develop into a plan to freeze the naval situation as it stands, thus denying to the United States the right to proceed with cruiser building toward parity with Great Britain, it should be rejected.

The London conference has failed to promote Anglo-American cruiser parity or general reduction of naval armaments. The American people were led to expect that these ends would be attained by a conference. For the sake of obtaining parity by agreement, together with general naval reduction, the people of this country were willing to suspend the construction of vessels that would otherwise be indispensable to national safety.

Now, if it is proposed to postpone the conference, while also suspending the construction of needed naval defenses, the public will enter a protest. Nothing but disappointment has come from the conference. The nations conferring with the United States have not shown any willingness to reduce their naval forces. There is no guarantee of peace. Foreign naval construction is going forward. It is already six to ten years ahead of American construction. If Great Britain should stop building and the United States should go forward with its cruiser program, the United States Navy at the end of five years would still be inferior to the British navy.

Parity, either by agreement or by building, is demanded by the United States. Prime Minister MacDonald has more than once conceded the justice of this demand. If parity can not be obtained by agreement in conference, it must be obtained by building American ships, since Great Britain refuses to scrap a single ton of any kind of ship.

Great pressure has been exerted upon the Americans in London for the purpose of postponing battleship replacement. Thus far the Americans have insisted upon reaching a cruiser agreement before taking up the battleship question. A three-power agreement would contain nothing valuable except a provision for postponing battleship replacement. It could not establish cruiser parity between the United States and Great Britain, because Britain will not agree to parity with the United States so long as France's naval program is not limited by agreement.

Therefore a three-power agreement, with postponement of the conference, would leave the United States without parity, and morally bound to suspend cruiser construction while awaiting the resumption of negotiations. Great Britain would remain mistress of the seas, and America, hopelessly outpowered in cruisers, would be risking its commerce, its rights, and its safety on the uncertainty of a future conference.

All the advantages of a postponement of the London conference would be reaped by Great Britain. All the disadvantages would be reaped by the United States.

Adjournment of the naval conference, sine die, should be agreed upon by the five powers if they are unable to make a treaty. The peoples of the world are not foaming at the mouth, ready to fly to war in the event of failure to agree at London. Some harm has been done because of the failure to pave the way before calling the conference, but the nations are still friendly, and there is no international war cloud. So far as Americans are concerned, they are a practical people who try to mind their own business. They will take up the alternative of building for parity if they can not have parity by agreement. But they will not consent to the postponement of national safety any longer. They will have a navy equal to any other in the world, by one method or the other.

MR. WICKERSHAM TALKS SENSE.

The statement of George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Law Enforcement Commission, before the Senate judiciary committee, is sensible and constructive. Mr. Wickersham does not pretend that enactment of the eighteenth amendment changed human nature or brought about an economic revolution, as so many dry enthusiasts seem to believe. In the midst of the prohibition hysteria he has neither closed his eyes nor lost his good judgment.

One hundred per cent drys have never been willing to concede that the law could not be fully enforced if a sufficient number of conscientious agents were employed. Nothing short of complete abolition of intoxicants will satisfy them. They would prosecute the buyer as well as the seller to exterminate the "demon rum." On the other hand, the wets contend that it is impossible to enforce prohibition, and that the law is a complete failure. Mr. Wickersham recognizes that "the human appetite is widespread," but he believes that the law can be "measurably enforced." Transfer of the enforcement agency to the Department of Justice, he believes, will give a true test of its effectiveness.

Mr. Wickersham called to account the fanatics who supposed they could curb the flow of liquor by providing five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fines for offenders. There never was any occasion for imposing such severe punishment on persons convicted of trivial offenses. Judicial discretion, that safety valve written into the Jones law to mitigate its literal rigors, has rendered the measure virtually inoperative. No judge and certainly no jury is inclined to send a man to prison for five years for a misdemeanor. Congress should wipe this blunder from the statute books.

NATIONAL MOTOR ROADS.

The most constructive attack that can be made on the automobile accident rate is the extension and improvement of the highway system. Campaigns designed to instruct motorists in the rules of safety, stringent traffic regulations, and mechanical improvement of automobiles have failed to check the accident rate to any appreciable extent. Regulation can mitigate but not eliminate the danger that arises from narrow highways, sharp turns, railway crossings, etc.

The need of a national system of express highways was pointed out at the annual conference of the American Automobile Association in Washington last week. President Thomas P. Henry called attention to the enormous economic waste resulting from traffic congestion, and called upon Congress to enact the bill providing increased Federal aid for highway construction. It is unfortunate that this fund is not now available to relieve the unemployment situation as well as to reduce traffic accidents.

Automobiles are increasing in number far more rapidly than highway space. A report from the Department of Agriculture just released shows that the total registration of motor vehicles in 1929 was 26,501,443. This is an increase of 8 per cent over the previous year. The highways are more congested than ever before, and the situation is becoming worse. No end to the multiplication of automobiles is in sight. Unless road construction is speeded up the country may look for a still higher accident toll.

It does not require prophetic vision to see a great network of highways broad enough for four lanes of traffic stretching out across the country. Such a system is an absolute necessity. Added to it must be a series of belt-line highways around the great cities to divert through traffic from congested areas. Billions of dollars will be required for these projects, but it is questionable whether the cost will be more than the amounts now wasted in delayed traffic and accident damage.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE FAILURE.

The Geneva conference, which aimed to establish a tariff truce in Europe, has ended after what its chairman, Karl von Moltke, describes as "five exhausting and often exasperating weeks." The conference avoided the appearance of failure by adopting a protocol outlining the scope of possible future negotiations and a convention which pretends to establish a customs truce for one year. The truce was signed by Germany, Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Austria, Estonia, Finland and Luxembourg.

The delegates set out to negotiate an agreement for a tariff holiday extending over at least two or three years. Instead they fixed March, 1931, as the date for termination of the proposed truce. In any event the agreement can not take effect until November, for the signatory nations have called a meeting during that month to determine "whether and when" it shall come into force. The most that can be hoped for is a tariff truce of four months, and even during that time innumerable duties may be increased by taking advantage of the withdrawal clauses. Since tariff duties are made as a rule only once in several years, the achievements of the conference are nil.

Chairman von Moltke admits that the convention depends "less upon its immediate results than its possible future developments." His closing address leaves a question as to whether the conference took one hesitating step toward the concerted economic action of which idealistic statesmen of Europe dream. If events preceding the conference are taken into consideration, a step deeper into the mire of economic disunion is evident. A considerable majority of the nations which sent delegates to the conference boosted their tariffs to secure trading advantages. The net result is that much higher duties prevail than would have been the case if the conference had never been called.

The chief value of the meeting has been to emphasize to the various governments "how distant still is the goal, how arduous the path, and how many obstacles encumber it." M. Briand will scan the results of the conference for a long time before he will be able to glean any encouragement for his Utopian United States of Europe.

HALF FARE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Chairman Mason A. Patrick, of the Public Utilities Commission, has suggested a proper solution of the problem as to who shall bear the cost of transporting school children. If this loss of revenue to the traction companies is not made up in some way it will be passed on to the full-fare patrons. As Gen. Patrick points out, the whole community is benefited by lower school fares, and the cost should not be shifted to a single group of citizens; namely, the street car and bus passengers.

Hundreds of modern cities and rural communities provide free transportation for their school children. This expense is considered a legitimate part of the cost of educating a child, just as much as the construction of school houses and hiring of teachers. On the theory that the community, as well as individuals, reaps benefits from the educational system, schools are supported out of general tax funds. The same common sense should be applied to transportation of school children.

Gen. Patrick has suggested a plan by which the companies can be reimbursed for this service. He would have the gross revenue tax reduced sufficiently to make up the loss from half fares or free rides. In this way the burden would be distributed over the entire list of taxpayers and would work a hardship on no one.

The general impulse is to let the companies furnish this service free of charge. But long experience has taught the public that there is no way to get something for nothing from a public utility. If the traction lines were compelled to grant half fares to school children the burden would not only fall upon passengers, but the companies would have an excuse to demand increased fares.

The French blame American doughboys for carrying the potato bug to France. It must be true, because the boys didn't bring that home.

Science says there are "three dangerous periods" when men are apt to get into trouble. They are, no doubt, the periods between 20 and 30, before 20 and after 30.

FINDING NEW LANDS

By Dr. ISAIAH BOWMAN,
Before the American Philosophical Society, February 7.

Admiral Byrd has been able to make a number of flights of which two are of outstanding importance. A first was made on November 28 and 29, 1929, when again the aerial mapping camera was employed on an 800-mile flight to the pole. The round trip of 1,600 miles was made in nineteen hours, including a stop of one hour at a refueling base. Of importance to the success of the flight was the radio report on the weather as far as the foot of the mountains over 400 miles from Little America, made by Dr. Gould's geological party. In return Byrd was able to help the geological party by dropping a package of photographs taken on a previous base-laying flight, thus enabling Gould the better to plan his advance to his distant goal, Mount Fridtjof Nansen and the Queen Maud Range. Byrd's second flight was intended to extend his discoveries toward the east of Little America while at the same time he established an independent communication with the seacoast outside of the Ross Dependency. In this manner he was able to set up the basis of an independent claim on the part of the United States to newly discovered territory tied directly to the coast.

It was his good fortune to discover a deep salt water entrant on this flight which seems to cut off King Edward VII Land from a new mountain range extending along the 147th meridian west, to trace 100 miles of new seacoast and to connect the new mountain range with Marie Byrd Land in the interior, thus providing the framework for a physiographic description of an entirely new group of topographic features. At the same time the trend of the newly discovered coast throws light upon the hitherto baffling question as to why there should be such a great concentration of ice in the Ross Sea and in the region to the northeast. The whaling operations of the Norwegians have shown the pack-ice thereabouts to extend far to the north as if it were held back by land still untraced or by groups of islands that might serve equally well to confine the ice in the direction of the Ross Sea.

The sledge party under Dr. Gould which had Mount Fridtjof Nansen as its objective was able to explore new territory and at the same time gather rock specimens from localities so close to the pole that both rocks and fossils have exceptional value in determining the probability or improbability of a connection between the Queen Maud Range and the Antarctic Archipelago. New hypotheses of origin may thus be set up that will help direct future explorers in their search for additional information. From 6,500 feet elevation on the flank of Mount Fridtjof Nansen Gould found a sandstone that includes a layer of carbonaceous material, thus extending to this distant interior point the so-called Beacon sandstone found at other points in the long stretch of South Victoria Land on the west side of the Ross Sea, and making it more probable that the south polar plateau, east of the 160th meridian east, is underlain by a vast coal field.

Wilkins' great flight from Deception Island, 600 miles south, on a meridianal course, is one of the great feats of exploration by aeroplane in the Antarctic. In five and a half hours of outward flying he transformed our whole conception of so-called "Graham Land," proving that it was broken into separate units and that as a whole it was separated from the main body of the Antarctic Continent by scattered islands and a water passage filled with ice. The name "Graham Land" thus drops off the map and the whole group of islands may more properly be designated the Antarctic Archipelago.

EYES.

Eyes are different, some can see
Leaf and bud on many a tree,
Some discover, here and there,
Tiny little lines of care
Stamped on faces white and wan
Others never look upon.

Some, whatever they behold,
Merely see its cost in gold.
Theirs are advantageous eyes,
Shrewd, and sharp, and cold, and wise,
Seeing only things which may Serve their own concerns some day.

Some have eyes which sweep about
Finding little follies out.
They can readily detect
Clothes which are not quite correct,
But they never seem to find
Rich endowments of the mind.

From the self-same point of view
Some see more than others do.
What is beautiful to one
Others never look upon.
And I wonder can it be
Life is merely what we see.

The Old Gang Can't Afford to Go Yachting With You and the Rich Have Yachts of Their Own.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

NEARLY all poor people amuse themselves at times by telling one another what they would do if they were rich.

Most of them, having learned compassion in a hard school, begin by describing the great works they would do for the poor; and all of them find in these day dreams a generous place for their friends.

It is a pleasant pastime that indulges charitable impulses without cost, and it may serve as inspiration to go adventuring and win a fortune; but for those who make the dream come true there is a rude awakening.

Wealth has been so often maligned by envious cranks and foolish idealists that people of sound sense have become suspicious of anybody who questions its value, yet it is a fact easily demonstrable that the poor who win wealth quickly usually lose more than they gain.

They lose, first of all, their friends.

The good fellows of yesterday have grown suddenly cool and distant—some of them because they are envious, some because they are suspicious of superior airs, but most of them because they are too proud to accept courtesies and hospitalities they can not return in full measure.

These proud ones are the friends most worth keeping, and their sense of fair play might prevent a complete rupture if they were handled tactfully; but their poverty keeps them at work and imposes social obligations among their own kind, so that they are seldom free to share the pleasures wealth can afford.

New friends can be made, of course, but wealth invites hypocrites, as carrion invites jackals, and a few humiliating experiences make it suspicious of all who make advances.

The established rich, it is true, are above suspicion in this particular, but they have old friends of their own kind and discriminating middle-age does not make new friendships easily.

In short, our new-rich poor man, bored by mere spending and burdened with the orthodox play-pretties rich men buy, must fall back on charity to get any fun for his money.

He is like a cook who has lost her appetite over the stove and can enjoy good things only by watching others eat, or the worn-out old man made tolerant by age because his jaded appetite finds only a vicarious enjoyment in the pleasures of others.

But here, too, is disappointment; for the rich seldom can find the poor worthy of help, and, once they attempt it, are surrounded by howling professional mendicants and weaklings willing to become permanent charges of charity.

The solution, of course, is institutional charity, but that affords little more pleasure than the business of paying taxes to care for the poor.

The only way to enjoy wealth is to hide any part of it that exceeds the wealth of people you know and like.

Scattering Returns From the Literary Digest Poll.

For the dry law.....11
For sobriety 9

Seven of the residents who voted for the Volstead amendment did so, they announced at Lem Quiggan's drug store tonight, because they hated to see the community have to junk all the copper kettles, rubber hose and other home-brew devices it had put in during the last few years.

• • • •

Whortleberry Creek—This village is all agog over the dry poll. It has already resulted in some of the best fights in months. Ambrose Fletcher, the dentist, who gets the only copy of the Digest sent here, was mobbed today by citizens who wanted a ballot. Ambrose escaped injury by promising to strike off enough hand-printed ballots to go around. It is understood that of the 64 residents here 32 are for repealing the law while the other 32 are for letting the bootlegger prosper. This nullifies the town's vote. Both sides are now trying to import a citizen from some nearby village to vote their way.

• • • •

Digsby Cove—Voting in the Literary Digest poll was featured by a bad accident in Main street this morning. Three prominent citizens on their way to vote for the dry law were run over by rum trucks.

• • • •

Winnikilinik Lake—This community went overwhelmingly for the retention of the dry law today, the entire voting list of 32 citizens declaring that the new place fitted up by Chet Whaples, one flight up over the general store, could not be improved on even if the saloon did come back.

• • • •

Bissell's Hill—Eleven of the fourteen residents of this town have gone hook, line and sinker for modification of the Volstead act. They want it changed so no more than five speak-easies can be located within 500 feet of a police station, United States court building or jail. The other three voters did not vote. They intended to but were incapacitated by the explosion of a still in a cellar where they had met to discuss the situation.

• • • •

Crabapple Valley—The vote here was thrown out after a stormy meeting tonight. Sixteen citizens cast ballots and it developed that none of them understood what they were voting about. Twelve thought they were balloting on Babe Ruth's salary increase, three supposed they were expressing their attitude on disarmament and the other fellow thought he was filling out an order for a gallon of corn likker.

• • • •

Whipperwill Gulch—The result of the Literary Digest poll here will be a little delayed. Hemingway Prout, chief moderator, while carrying the ballots to a mail box, was caught between the crossfire in a street fight between bootleggers and badly wounded.

NO DOUBT.

Spring is here—
I know I'm right;
The kitchen pipes
Froze up last night.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mexico at the Crossroads—Time and Opportunity to Make Good Is Right Now.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial of March 20, "What About Mexico?" is quite pertinent to the state of affairs as they exist between our Government and that of Mexico. It summarizes facts which have brought no benefit to the citizens of Mexico or the industrial development of that country, and until industrial development is seriously and actively under way, Mexico will remain in an unsettled condition with its government continuing bankrupt in the estimate of other governments.

The policy pursued has created most deplorable consequences to many of our citizens who had purchased properties in that country and given thereto their time and financial resources. I know personally two cases whereby the confiscation of their property resulted ultimately in the owners having to return to their homes in the U. S. A. and were so reduced financially that they became wards of county charity and one of them has recently died. For years they sought and hoped for such aid from our Government as would bring them compensation. I doubt if the general public understands how helpless our fellow-countrymen are when a foreign government seizes their property and retains it without compensation. They are as little children who must look to their father for protection!

When in the year 1920 Gens. Obregon and Calles became the official heads of the Government of Mexico many of our countrymen were confident that they could carry on their business with that security enjoyed in every other country on this continent. Alas! Their hopes and expectations were not realized. The facts are that the list of those who had suffered during the ten years of active revolution has been largely augmented.

When our Government entered into the convention of 1923 it was provided therein that "the commissioners shall be bound to hear, examine and decide within three years from the date of the first meeting, all claims filed." This period of time as fixed by the convention ended in August, 1927. Your editorial tells the state of the convention as it exists today. Our Government has demonstrated by many acts and also by every possible diplomatic courtesy, its desire and intention to support the constitutional government of Mexico, and it is generally acknowledged that without such support the present government would not be in power. It may be satisfactory to that government to continue the shiftless policy of the past and thereby avoid the purport of the convention of 1923, but such a policy can only delay the issue, which must be dealt with and consummated before our people can have that confidence in the government which the President—according to his public utterances—so ardently desires.

When we examine facts as they appertain to the industrial life of Mexico, what do we find? Poverty extreme in many parts, agriculture at the lowest ebb in its history, and approximately 2,000,000 of its citizens have immigrated to this country due to the necessity of obtaining a livelihood which is not possible, under present conditions in Mexico. If political affairs there were similar to any other country on this continent a population of five times the present size could find lucrative employment.

The ailment with which Mexico is afflicated lies deeper than can be cured by superficial treatment such as has been administered during recent years, for it lies deep in the channel of reality and must be brought to the surface for treatment by well established remedies.

Rumor says that so long as the Government of Mexico can maintain an annual revenue exceeding 200,000,000 pesos it will not see the importance or the necessity of expediting the conclusion of the 1923 convention, but will continue its policy, which is to the contrary. If this rumor is correct a settlement involves both legal and moral questions and the time has arrived when our Government must take cognizance of former President Coolidge's statement: "Our Government has certain rights and duties toward its citizens and their property wherever they may be located."

I believe this is an accepted principle of our Government, but its meaning becomes a farce if it does not apply to those individuals directly concerned but to those who may inherit their estates. Time is the essence of every contract, and has particular importance to the convention of 1923. This convention was not entered into for the purpose of seeking compensation for unworthy citizens with fanciful claims, but to give compensation to those citizens who are worthy of their Government's protection and whose claims are founded on facts.

I hope the Government of Mexico will recognize that the time and the opportunity have come when wisdom should prevail in its council. The hand of friendship recently extended to its president should be grasped with the fullness of sincerity and the expectation that with the aid of its powerful neighbor the problems from which it has suffered for many years will be definitely cured, and Mexico take its place among the other prosperous countries on this continent.

FREDERICK CUTLAR POISSON.

A. F. OF L. PREPARES PROTEST ON PARKER

Decision on "Yellow-Dog" Contract to Be Basis of Objection.

BORAH STUDIES OPINION

A decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in which the opinion was written by Judge John J. Parker, upholding the so-called "yellow-dog" form of labor contract, it was learned yesterday will be made the basis of protest to the Senate judiciary committee against his elevation to the Supreme Court.

The committee has been informed that the American Federation of Labor is preparing a brief on the decision, which was an affirmation of the sweeping injunction granted by Federal Judge McClintic in Charleston, W. Va., in 1921, restraining the efforts of the United Mine Workers to reunionize the turbulent coal mining areas of Logan and Mingo Counties.

The nomination of Judge Parker made by President Hoover recently to fill the vacancy created by the death of Justice Sanford will be investigated by a subcommittee headed by Senator Overman (Democrat), of North Carolina, and composed of Senators Borah (Republican), Idaho, and Hebert (Republican), Rhode Island.

Borah Reads Document.

Senator Borah yesterday obtained a copy of the Parker opinion written in 1927, but declined to comment until he had studied it and the original ruling of Judge McClintic.

The Idaho senator, however, did express the opinion that the "yellow-dog" labor contract, whereby employes are put to work under contract not to become members of a union, was "indefensible and un-American." The fact that the decision was concurred in by the other members of the Fourth Circuit Court, Judges Waddill and Rose, must be given consideration, Senator Borah added.

Judge Parker's ruling, which was appealed to the Supreme Court and a review denied, was in the case of Mine Workers Union against the Red Jacket Coal & Coke Co., although twelve additional suits were involved.

Troops Ended March.

As the result of attempts of the union agents to reorganize the miners of the two West Virginia counties nine years ago after 316 operators had placed their employes under contract, troops were called out to break up a march of 7,000 miners from Mingo to Logan. The Red Jacket and other companies then sued for permanent injunction against the activities of the union organizers.

The portion of the Parker opinion referring to the contract said:

"There can be no doubt of the right of the defendants to use all lawful proposals to increase their membership. On the other hand, this right must be exercised with due regard of the rights of the complainants. To make a speech or circulate arguments is one thing. To approach a company's employes, working under contract not to join the union while remaining in the company's service, and induce them, in violation of their contracts, to join the union and go on strike for the purpose of forcing the company to recognize the union or of impairing its power of production, is another and very different thing."

Marconi Today Will Try Novel Radio Experiment

Genoa, Italy, March 25 (A.P.).—Scientists, electricians and the public are awaiting eagerly Guglielmo Marconi's wireless experiment tomorrow.

Signor Marconi plans to transmit from his yacht Electra a small unit of power to Sydney, Australia—11,000 miles—in order to close a switch there and open an electrical exposition. At the same time he will hold a two-wave conversation with Sydney by radio telephone on short waves. Signor Marconi completed final tests today and said the set-up was functioning perfectly.

Princess Gives Up Title To Become U. S. Citizen

Philadelphia, March 25 (A.P.).—Princess Irini Wladimirovna Skariatina, of Russia, gave up her titles and renounced all allegiance to her mother country today and was naturalized an American citizen in the Federal District Court. She is the wife of Victor Franklin Blakeslee, retired naval officer, whom she married in 1926.

According to the naturalization records she was born in St. Petersburg. Seven years ago she came to this country from London. She met her husband in Chicago, where she was an interior decorator. Her mother is Princess Mary Lobanov, of Rostov, Russia.

ZEPPELIN TERMINUS URGED FOR CAPITAL

Hybla Valley field offered exceptional advantages as a dirigible base, especially in view of Dr. Eckener's declaration that the terminus should be located between Baltimore and Richmond.

The Bingham-Nelson bill to establish a municipal airport for Washington will be the subject of a public hearing at the Capitol this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

It will be conducted by a special subcommittee of the Senate District committee, made up of three senators—Vandenberg (Republican), of Michigan; Jones (Republican), of Washington, and Tydings (Democrat), of Maryland.

Conflicting views on the merits of the bill will be offered by witnesses who have been summoned to appear. For example, Lawrence E. Williams, chairman of the Board of Trade aviation committee, will support the bill, while Lieut. Walter Hinton, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, will oppose it.

Dr. George C. Havenner, of the Citizens Advisory Council, also is expected to oppose the bill, the council having taken a stand against it at a recent meeting.

Under the terms of the bill, the Federal Government would lend the District government $2,500,000 to establish the airport, the money to be paid back without interest as it is spent.

The airport would be established on land that now is taken up by Hoover Field, the Washington Airport and the Department of Agriculture experimental farm. Also a watery area off Hoover Field would be filled in and added to the site.

Presidential Nomination Rejected.

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, March 25 (A.P.).—Juan Bautista Vicini Burgos today refused the National party's nomination for president of the Dominican Republic. The party will call another General Assembly to elect a new candidate.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Prohibition seems likely to dominate the Pennsylvania political situation, complicating the ambitions of Secretary of Labor Davis, "Uncle Joe" Grundy, of "backward States" fame, and of Gifford Pinchot, not to mention possible consequences to and effect on Andrew W. Mellon and President Hoover. W. W. Atterbury is already embarrassed by the injection of the wet and dry fight, despite his intense wetness in principle, and Henry P. Fletcher, former Ambassador to Italy and mentioned for Hoover's Cabinet, has been shying away from possible involvement.

All the trouble grows out of the unwillingness of a comparatively small group of enthusiastic wets to stand aside and let the political giants battle for power, unless the aforesaid giants declare themselves either wet or dry.

Hence the announcement of his candidacy for governor of former Representative Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, and his immediate enthusiastic indorsement by Chairman Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and quite a rallying to his banner. Hence an eager search now being conducted for a candidate for senator to run on a wet platform.

If no deals should be made in the meantime, whereby some of the candidates are eliminated, the voters will have at least four choices for governor. They are Samuel S. Lewis, former State treasurer, running with the backing of Senator Grundy and the Mellons; Francis Shunk Brown, running with the backing of the Vare organization in Philadelphia and its allies through the State; Gifford Pinchot, former governor and extreme dry, with his own personal backing, and Thomas W. Phillips, with the backing of the wets, and a record of having polled 76,000 votes four years ago without any backing whatever, and with a popular wet candidate, Beidleman, also in the field with Vare backing.

* * * *

ENTHUSIASTIC wets claim that if all four stay in the race Phillips will poll at least 200,000 votes, and maybe more. Enthusiastic drys claim that Pinchot will poll more than 200,000. Yet neither the wets nor the drys claim that their candidates will have a chance in the world to win the nomination if the fight goes ahead on the present basis.

What the wets hope for, of course, is that their threat may frighten the two organizations battling for the spoils of this State into surrender. If either Lewis or Brown should come out wet, there is no doubt whatever that the wets would pull Phillips out of the race immediately. In fact, his announcement makes it clear that such a declaration by Lewis or Brown would satisfy him.

At the same time there is the probability, or at least possibility, of a deal between the Mellon and Vare organizations. This would eliminate the wet and dry issue, to all practical purposes, and would save everyone's face, but would postpone the real battle for leadership. The only sort of compromise along this line that any one figures as practical would eliminate Davis and Lewis. It would mean that both the Mellon and Vare organizations would support Grundy for the Senate and Brown for governor.

* * * *

IN such a contingency the two big organizations could ignore both wets and drys, and could count on electing Brown governor despite Pinchot and despite Phillips. They could take that chance, even assuming an honest count in both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which ordinarily would be a violent assumption, though maybe not this year with the recollection of the United States Senate and the Vare case still hanging over.

But if Brown should come out wet, and Lewis continue to pussyfoot, Brown would gain a tremendous advantage unless Pinchot should retire in favor of Lewis, thus making up for the retirement of Phillips in favor of Brown.

To appreciate the situation one must remember that the powers behind both big political organizations are wet. Vare was nominated for senator on a wringing wet platform four years ago. His organization held Philadelphia for Hoover two years ago despite the wet tide here. On the other hand, the Mellons make no bones of being wet. Vare, the Mellons and Grundy are none of them interested at the moment in prohibition. They are interested in who is going to control Pennsylvania politics.

Committee Named For Cancer Study

San Francisco Group Will Look Into Treatment Outlined in Capital.

Baltimore, March 25 (A.P.).—A committee from the County Medical Society of San Francisco, has been named to make a study of the recently announced cancer treatment of Dr. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber, of San Francisco, and the national commission, which was to have conducted research into the treatment will not take any action, Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, nationally known cancer specialist of the Johns Hopkins University, said today.

Dr. Bloodgood said that the Coffee-Humber treatment, which was outlined in Washington, ten days ago before the Senate commerce committee, had resulted in the decision to have it gone into by the national committee from the American Society for the Prevention of Cancer.

Dr. Bloodgood declared that announcement of the treatment, which he said even its originators do not claim is a cure for cancer, had resulted in the flocking to California of hundreds of patients and inquiries by hundreds of others. He said he alone had received inquiries at the rate of 50 per day.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 12 and recessed at 1:35 to 12 Friday.

Passed the annual supply bill for the Agriculture Department carrying a total of $162,253,788.

Passed the House bill authorizing $230,000,000 for Federal buildings.

Adopted the Heflin resolution authorizing the erection of a $50,000 monument to Maj. Gen. William Crawford Gorgas.

Rules committee shouted down a resolution by Senator Watson (Republican), of Indiana, restoring to representatives of the press associations the privilege of the Senate floor.

Adopted the House resolution authorizing $300,000 for completing restoration of the old frigate Constitution.

Adopted a resolution authorizing President Hoover to invite representatives of other governments to join the United States in observing the 150th anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va.

Senator Nye (Republican), of North Dakota, paid a brief tribute to Carl Ben Eielson, Arctic explorer, who lost his life recently in an attempt to rescue passengers on an icebound ship.

Commerce committee received testimony of Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, of Baltimore, who recommended the appropriation of $100,000 to be used by the Public Health Service in making a survey of problems of cancer.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:35 to noon today.

Representative Black (Democrat), New York, charged that Secretary Mellon had punished Federal narcotic agents for giving information to a New York grand jury, which led the grand jury to criticize the Narcotic Bureau.

Minority Leader Garner demanded that the proceedings in the Senate-House conference on the tariff bill be made public.

Representative O'Connell (Democrat), New York, urged a scientific approach to the liquor problem.

Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas, said the Veterans Bureau had a reserve fund of $700,000,000 and suggested that steps be taken to arrange for a partial payment to veterans on their bonus certificates.

Representative Hudson (Republican), Michigan, declared that the motion picture industry has become a public utility, and urged passage of his bill to prevent monopolistic block booking and blind booking.

Approved the Senate amendment to the $300,000,000 Dowell road bill, increasing from $15,000 to $25,000 per mile the amount of Federal aid to States for highway construction. The bill now goes to the President.

Abuses Are Laid To Congo Officers

Dying Negroes Recruited for Public Labor, Charge in Belgian Chamber.

Brussels, March 25 (A.P.).—Serious charges against officials in the Belgian Congo, Africa, were brought today in the Chamber of Deputies by Emile Vandervelde, Socialist leader and former minister of foreign affairs.

Interpellating the government, M. Vandervelde quoted assertions by President Orts, of the Congo Red Cross, that Negroes were forcibly recruited for public labor even when in a dying condition. According to M. Orts, the Socialist leader said, the mortality figures among the natives reached 128 to 144 per thousand, which was almost equal to the casualty rate in Belgium during the World War.

Premier Jaspar, who also is colonial minister, admitted the existence of individual abuses, but declared that much reform work had been accomplished. He refused to order a parliamentary investigation, promising, instead, a gradual suppression of the forced labor system among the natives.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS MAP TARIFF PLANS

sumably the Democrats and agricultural Republicans would vote to instruct the House conferees to accept the Senate rates on these items, as they are lower than those of the House, although the Senate provision on lumber is much broader.

With the exception of sugar, though even if this vote carried, it is difficult to see where the political sting would be eliminated. There would still exist high rates on brick, cement and lumber.

Sugar is different. If the House should accept the 2 per cent rate on raw Cuban sugar which the Senate wrote it would be much lower than the rate written by the House, and only a twenty-four one-hundredths over the existing rate.

Representative Andresen, of Minnesota, has been going around with a list of Republicans pledged to insist that the House conferees accept the agricultural rates written by the Senate. There is not much disposition to challenge them anywhere. Generally speaking, they do not mean anything.

The House does not plan to take up the bill until Monday.

Chaliapin, Operatic Basso, Ill.

Milan, March 25 (A.P.). — Feodor Chaliapin, celebrated operatic basso, is seriously ill here. He has had to cancel special performances of the Russian opera, "Boris Godounow," in which he signs the title role at La Scala.

GERMAN SHIP LINES AGREEMENT REACHED

Lloyd and Hamburg-America Directorates Announce 50-Year Pact.

COMPETITION IS CAUSE

Berlin, March 25 (A.P.).—Almost at the very moment the German liner Europa had seized the blue ribbon of the ocean, the Hamburg-America and the North German Lloyd steamship lines announced today they had completed a 50-year cooperative agreement to end competition.

The new combine places the German group third in the world from the viewpoint of tonnage. The Royal Mail Line has 2,700,000 tons; the Peninsula and Oriental, 2,500,000; the Hamburg-America-North German Lloyd combination, 2,000,000, and Cunard, 1,200,000.

These figures, however, do not include third companies in which Hamburg-America and North German Lloyd have large interests—namely, Hamburg-South America, Woermann Line, German-East Africa Line and Bremen-Hansa.

As it is generally regarded that these must inevitably join the combination, Germany probably will soon have in one pool tonnage exceeding 3,000,000.

In transatlantic passenger traffic the agreement placed the combination second only to the Cunard Line, which in 1929 carried 25.2 per cent of the entire passenger traffic westward and 24.8 per cent eastward, while Hamburg-America and North German Lloyd together carried 17.4 per cent westward and 16.8 eastward.

Just what changes the combination will necessitate nobody can foretell at present. This will be chiefly up to the joint executive board, consisting of Hamburg-America's seven members and German Lloyd's four—which four, however, by terms of the agreement, have equal voting power with Hamburg-America's seven. These eleven will so subdivide their work that each will have some department.

The agreement will be ratified by stockholders April 15 as a matter of form.

Police Teletype Put in Operation

Radio Crmiinal Detection System Next Step, Pratt Says.

The installation of a short wave radio criminal detection system is likely to be the next step of the Metropolitan Police Department, Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent, said yesterday as the teletype communication devices were put into operation in the fourteen precincts.

Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty officially opened the teletype system. He found the letter "Y" the most elusive key on the board, which is similar to a typewriter. The system enables a policeman to type a report in his station for immediate reception on a machine at police headquarters.

Officials said it will probably be several weeks before the system gets to working smoothly, as the policemen's fingers are not yet so skilled as those of stenographers. Meanwhile the telephone will supplement the teletype machines.

$1,000,000 Is Dnoated For Phoenix Laboratory

Phoenix, Ariz., March 25 (A.P.).—An endowment fund of $1,000,000 donated by William C. Grunow, Chicago philanthropist, is to be used in establishment of a clinical laboratory in Phoenix for the furtherance of medical science, was announced here today by a group of physicians.

The clinic is made possible through the creation of the Lois Grunow Memorial Foundation in memory of Mr. Grunow's daughter, who died in Chicago. Mr. Grunow is a winter resident here.

Decrease Shown In Unemployment

(Associated Press.)

A slight decrease in unemployment for March—the first gain to be registered since August— was shown by figures made public yesterday by the American Federation of Labor, based on trade union reports to President William Green.

Ten of 24 cities to report showed a decrease in unemployment, 10 others reported increases, and in four there was no change. The greatest improvement was shown in the figures of the seafaring trades, where unemployment decreased from 38 per cent in February to 277 per cent in March. Musicians unions reported an increase in the number of men out of work from 28 per cent in February to 31 per cent in March. Building trades employed more men; printing and metal trades employed less.

"Even the slight increase in the figure for the country as a whole is cause for optimism, as it comes a month sooner than in the unemployment crisis in 1928, when there was no decrease until April," the report said. "Owing to the unusually large number out of work this year, it will undoubtedly be a long time before unemployment reaches normal proportions."

BAPTISTS PROTEST DRY LAW CHANGE

Social Group, Representing 4,000,000, Also Prays for London Parley.

CABLE IS SENT STIMSON

Atlanta, Ga., March 25 (A.P.).—A protest against any change that would weaken the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead law was made today in a telegram to be presented to the House judiciary committee by the commission on social service of the Southern Baptist convention meeting here.

The commission also sent a letter to Secretary Stimson advising him of their prayers for the success of the London naval conference. Both messages were signed by Arthur J. Barton, as chairman of the commission.

The message on the prohibition law, sent to Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, at the Driscoll Hotel in Washington, follows:

"Please present the following statement to the judiciary committee of the House at hearings tomorrow if hearings are continued:

"The Commission on Social Service of the Southern Baptist convention in session assembled, representing the nearly 4,000,000 white Baptists of the South, respectfully and earnestly protest against any change that would weaken the eighteenth amendment or its supporting legislation. The eighteenth amendment was submitted and ratified after nearly a century of agitation and education against the curse and blight of the liquor traffic, the greatest social evil ever allowed in any country * * * Its supporting legislation is not extreme, but altogether reasonable * * * It has brought untold blessings to all classes of the American people.

"That the law is violated is frankly recognized, but it is not more frequently violated than are other laws. It is to our regret and shame that we have classes of people who will violate any law and defy constituted authority. In the case of prohibition this same element immediately turns and demands that the law be repealed or modified. * * * The great battle in America is not whether we shall have prohibition, but whether we can maintain orderly government; in a word, whether government of the people, by the people and for the people will prevail or whether the government and the authority of the people shall bow at the behest of a lawless minority."

The cablegram sent to Secretary Stimson said:

"The Social Service Commission, representing nearly 4,000,000 Southern Baptists, devoutly pray for the success of the five-power naval pact, for definite armament reduction, universal peace and the salvation of the peoples of the world from the burdens and ravages of war."

Members of the committee attending the meeting today were: Dr Barton, the Rev. Joseph E. Brown, of Kansas City; C. C. White, of Jackson, Miss.; Dr. W. W. Phelan, president of the Oklanoma Baptist University of Shawnee, Okla., and Charles H. Brough, former governor of Arkansas.

Carl Ben Eielson Lies in Home Town

Arctic Hero's Body Arrives to Be Buried Beside That of Mother.

Hatton, N. Dak., March 25 (A.P.).—Home at last from frozen Siberia, where he met death in an airplane crash last November 9, Carl Ben Eielson, flying pioneer of the Arctic, came back to Hatton tonight to be buried tomorrow in a grave beside that of his mother.

Lyning under two American flags and amidst a profusion of flowers, Eielson's body, attended by a detail of North Dakota National Guardsmen, completed the several weeks' journey from the North at 5:30 p. m. today. The body will lie in state until the funeral services, at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Ole Eielson, father of the famous flier, accompanied the body on its long journey from Alaska, as did a delegation of Russian and Canadian aviators who played a prominent part in wresting the bodies of Eielson and Borland from the Arctic's grip. Olaf Swenson, owner of the icebound fur-trading ship Nanuk, which Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, were attempting to reach when they crashed, also was here for the funeral. An official period of mourning was proclaimed by Gov. George Shafer during the funeral services tomorrow.

General Sales Manager Of Ford Company Quits

Detroit, March 25 (A.P.).—Fred L. Rockelman has resigned as general sales manager of the Ford Motor Co., it was learned today. He made no announcement as to his future plans.

Mr. Rockelman formerly managed branches of the Ford Co. in Seattle and Indianapolis. He was brought here to become general manager of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad, which Henry Ford sold last year to the Pennroad Corporation. He had been general sales manager since 1925.

30 Reds Arrested in Istanbul.

Istanbul, March 25 (A.P.).—Turkish police today arrested and expelled 30 French and Belgian Communists who had come here allegedly to incite Turkish tobacco workers to a May day demonstration.

Minister Seeks Senate Seat on Wet Platform

Boston, March 25 (A.P.).—State Representative Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware, a Congregational minister, announced his candidacy for the United States Senate on an unqualified wet platform today.

He said he will seek the votes of Democrats who "favor a candidate who will at all times be a straight-out, uncompromising foe of Federal prohibition."

CANADIAN EVIDENCE DUE AT DRY INQUIRY

Liquor Store System Is Expected to Be Told Of at Session Today.

HOUSE HEARS LAW HIT

(Associated Press.)

A picture of the operation of the government liquor-store system in Canada is expected today from E. C. Drury, of the Province of Ontario, who is to take the stand at the resumption of the House judiciary committee's hearings on measures to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

He will appear as a witness for the prohibition forces, which are nearing the end of their presentation in opposition to the several wet bills before the committee.

Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost, organizer of the dry witnesses, said yesterday that John L. Lentz, president of the American Insurance Union and former representative from Ohio, will be the second witness. His testimony probably will deal with the insurance company view of prohibition and the actuaries' findings on alcoholic mortality rates, a subject that has caused considerable debate in the committee.

Should this testimony be completed in time, indications were last night that heads of dry organizations might add their word to the already voluminous testimony in opposition to repeal or modification, but the dry forces were not ready last night to announce whether they would ask for any more time.

Tomorrow the judiciary committee is to go into executive session to consider the Law Enforcement Commission's recommendations for legislation to aid enforcement.

Prohibition engaged House attention late yesterday in a speech by Representative O'Connell (Republican), New York. He said "Volsteadism becomes the Nation's most colossal burden and blunder."

The New Yorker said alcoholic deaths, crime conditions, penitentiary and court congestion were evidence "of the impossibility of enforcing an unpopular and un-American law."

After declaring the Coast Guard Fleet next year will employ a personnel greater than that of the Navy during the Cleveland administration, Mr. O'Connell concluded, "surely we are paying a high price for a fallacious and unworkable experiment."

U. S. RUM MEASURE PASSED IN CANADA

government to resign, declaring that "self-respecting ministers would resign in a case of this nature."

This demand followed a charge that the government had changed front since, in the last session, W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue, had declared that such a measure was impossible of realization. Mr. Bennett quoted Mr. Euler as having said that the United States should enforce its own law.

In response to a question by Mr. Bennett, Premier W. L. MacKenzie King said that the phraseology of the bill, in reference to the word "deatined" for the United States, had been reconsidered and was found adequate.

During the course of yesterday's debate, Mr. King announced that Canada is negotiating with the United States for a treaty to suppress smuggling. The object of the treaty, he said, was not only to stop liquor traffic but to prevent smuggling of all kinds of merchandise both ways across the border.

Liquor Sphinxing Upheld by Court

Mayor and Former Official Freed in Refusal to Give Rum Answers.

Hartford, Conn., March 25 (A.P.).—The constitutional right of refusal to answer questions asked by a grand jury by witnesses who are engaged in the liquor traffic on the ground that answers might be self-incriminating, is an allowable privilege, Judge Newell Jennings, of Superior Court, held today. He discharged Mayor Walter E. Batterson and former State Senator Edward N. Allen, who were before him as recalcitrant witnesses before a special grand jury investigating liquor conditions.

Mayor Batterson was drawn into the inquiry when members of the Hartford police department were called into the jury room. As a witness twice he had been asked about a $500 purchase of liquors through a "friend" several months ago. The jury report to the court indicated that the "friend" might be Mr. Allen and the bootlegger was one "Murphy."

Reichelderfer Visits District Buliding Pair

Dr. Luther Reichelderfer, named by President Hoover to be District Commissioner in place of Commissioner Sidney F. Taliaferro who is to retire at the end of this month, paid a second visit to the District Building yesterday.

Dr. Reichelderfer called on Commissioner Dougherty and Col William B. Ladue, engineer commissioner. He found the Commissioners sitting in board meeting and stayed only a few minutes. His visit, he said, was a courtesy call to thank the retiring Commissioners for their kindness and courtesy in offering to be of any service possible to him while he was familiarizing himself with municipal affairs. Dr. Reichelderfer had called on Commissioner Taliaferro last Saturday.

Kidnaped U.S. Oil Man Is Reported Unharmed

San Angelo, Tex., March 25 (A.P.). J. E. Bristow, American oil operator kidnaped by Mexican bandits more than a week ago, is "unharmed," says a message received here from Gordon Bristow at Mazatlan, Mexico, where he is negotiating for his father's release. The message was received by the wife of the oil man.

"Dad unharmed, but still captive. It will take some time to work this thing out, so don't expect results too soon." Bristow was kidnaped while on a mining exploration trip with two companions in the rugged country around Tepic, Mexico, on the West Coast.

Judge Says Agents May Raid by Smell

Odor and Sight of Liquor Sufficient Evidence, He Holds.

Milwaukee, March 25 (A.P.).—Dry agents with visual and olfactory evidence that the liquor laws are being violated may enter a private home without a search warrant, Federal District Judge F. A. Geiger held today. His decision was on a motion to suppress evidence in the case of Joseph Larien, Milwaukee.

The agents came in through a basement door, which Larien slammed in their faces. But they saw a home brewery outfit working and smelled alcohol or cooking mash before the door was closed, they testified.

Cornelius Hanly, defense attorney, contended that under the dry law only sale of the liquor from a home constituted a violation. Heretofore agents have been able to enter a home without a search warrant only if the owner invited them in for a search or on the owner's admission of violating the law.

86th Birthday To Be Marked By Gen. Greely

Noted Explorer Will Be Feted by Kinfolk Tomorrow.

By JEAN ELIOT.

TO the list of March birthdays in which all Washington is interested, which includes Secretary Mellon's and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann's, add the birthday of Maj. Gen. Adolphus W. Greely. Tomorrow Gen. Greely will be 86 years young and in celebration of his anniversary his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Nesmith Greely, will give a tea in his honor, entertaining at their house in Allen place, from 5 to 6:30 o'clock, for a group of the general's old friends.

Although chiefly known to fame for his Arctic explorations, undertaken in a day when the roof of the world was reached by dog sledge, not by airplane, and when there was no radio to keep the explorers in touch with civilization, Gen. Greely has achieved distinction in many lines. He was the first private soldier of the Civil War to reach the grade of brigadier general, U. S. A. He laid telegraph lines and submarine cables pretty much all over the world, notably in China, the Philippine Islands, Cuba and Alaska, and it was he who established the wireless connection from Nome to St. Michael, which was the first successful long distance wireless operated regularly as part of a commercial system.

A gold medalist of the Royal Geographical Society of England and the French Geographical Society, Gen. Greely has written extensively on Arctic exploration and discoveries. Moreover, he has a long list of authoritative works on metereological subjects to his credit. In 1911 he represented the United States at the coronation of King George V in London.

Since his retirement from the Army Gen. Greely has made his home in Washington and he now lives with his daughter, Miss Rose Greely, in one of the picturesque houses of old Georgetown, 3131 O street—a house for which Miss Greely, who is a landscape architect, has designed the most charming of garden settings.

It was on recommendation of the Hamburg International Geographical Congress that Gen. Greely was placed in command of the expedition, sponsored by the United States Government in 1881, to establish one of a chain of thirteen circumpolar stations. With his party of 25, he reached farther North than any explorer had yet penetrated, discovered new land north of Greenland and worked his way to the Polar Sea. Then he was lost to the world for many months. Two relief expeditions failing, many of the party perished of starvation and when the survivors were finally rescued by an expedition in command of the late Admiral Schley (then Capt. Winfield Scott Schley), but seven remained alive.

Mrs. Minnigerode Andrews will entertain a party of ten at tea tomorrow afternoon following her lecture at the Washington Club at 3 o'clock, which is being given in the interest of the Maj. L'Enfant Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The chapter regent, Mrs. Albert Baggs, will introduce Mrs. Andrews, who will illustrate her lecture as she talks. Patronesses for the event are Mrs. James Couzens, Mrs. Guy Despard Goff, former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Mrs. Joseph S. Wall, Mrs. Robert Whitney Imbrie, Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, Miss Janet Richards, Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, Mrs. M. de Clare Berry, Mrs. George Pflaster, Mrs. David D. Caldwell, Mrs. John J. Myers, Mrs. Louis Pennington, Mrs. George Hillyer, jr., and Mrs. John Walker Holcombe.

Ambassador of Cuba Returns to Capital.

The Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara have returned to Washington the former from Florida and Havana and the latter from New York. The Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara postponed the dinner they were to have given last evening until after the period of official mourning.

Senator and Mrs. Key Pittman have taken up their residence at the Congressional Country Club during the rebuilding of their house, Ridgelands, which was burned.

Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, is at the Carlton for several days, accompanied by Mrs. Kohler and Walter J. Kohler, jr. Gov. and Mrs Kohler and their son have been spending some time in Miami, Fla.

Representative and Mrs. Frank Foss have as their guests at the Hotel Roosevelt for a few days, Mr William McIntyre and Mr. Harry Lawson, of Massachusetts. Their daughter, Miss Ruth Foss, has gone to New York where she will pass several weeks visiting. Mrs. O. E. Ringquist, who, with her baby, Sibyl Ann, has been visiting her parents, has returned to her home in Boston.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Willard H. Brownson returned yesterday to their apartment at the Mayflower from Mountain Lake, Fla., where they spent the winter.

Senator and Mrs. Patrick J. Sullivan, of Wyoming, have as their guest at the Mayflower Miss Sarah E. Morton, of Douglas, Wyo. Mrs. Sullivan invited a few of her Washington friends to luncheon yesterday to meet Miss Morton.

In Mount Kisco, N. Y., on April 26 will take place the marriage of Miss Anne Stuart Wortley, daughter of Mrs. Ralph M. Stuart Wortley, of Washington, and Mr. Davenport Plumer, jr., of Philadelphia. The wedding will be held in St. Mark's Church, the Rev. Harold A. Prichard reading the service. Afterward there will be a reception at Bedford, the country house of Mr. Ralph Stuart Wortley, jr., brother of Miss Wortley.

The bride-to-be is a granddaughter of the late Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley. Her father, the late Ralph Granville Montagu Stuart Wortley, was a brother of the second Earl of Wharncliffe. Mr. Plumer is a Princeton man, a graduate of the class of '28.

The couple will make their home in Ambler, Pa.

Mrs. William McClellan Ritter will return to Washington today from New York, where she has been for several days. Mr. and Mrs. Ritter have postponed the dinner they were to have given last evening in honor of the Brazilian Ambassador, Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral, until after the period of official mourning.

Leiter Home Dance April 5.

Henry Chilton Named British Envoy to Chile

Former Counselor Here Is Appointed by King George.

From London comes the news that King George has recently approved the appointment of Mr. Henry Getty Chilton, British Minister to the Holy See, as Ambassador to Chile. Mr. Chilton, his wife and two young daughters are well known in Washington, where Mr. Chilton served as counselor of the British Embassy in the regime of Sir Esme Howard.

Miss Betty Chilton, the elder of the two girls, made her debut here several years ago in a winter which was noted for its smartness and gaiety. Among her sister debutantes were Miss Alice Davis, Countess Cornelia Szechenyi, Miss Louise Spencer, Miss Katharine Wilkins and Miss Janet Newbold, now Mrs. Allen A. Ryan, jr.

The Chiltons have visited in Washington once since their departure for the Vatican City. Mrs. Chilton and the girls coming last summer to stay with the former's father, Mr. Thomas J. O'Brien.

Monthly Tea Today By Republican League.

Mrs. Edward A. Harriman, president of the League of Republican Women, will receive at the usual monthly tea to be given at Republican headquarters, 910 Seventeenth street, on Friday from 4 until 6 o'clock. She will be assisted by Mrs. Virginia White Speel, honorary president and chairman for the series of teas given through the winter. At the table will be Mrs. James Watson, Mrs. Henry J. Allen, Mrs. Charles Jones, wife of the Republican committeeman from North Carolina, and Mrs. Frederic T. F. Johnson.

On Saturday the league will entertain at an unusually interesting luncheon at the Washington Club at 1 o'clock. The president will introduce Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, the honor guest, who will speak. A large number of tables have been reserved.

Mrs. Kiang Kang-Hu, formerly dean of the Kindergarten Training School in Peking, China, who has recently returned to the city from attending sessions at the Merrill-Palmer School in Detroit, Mich., will be among the chief guests at the World Fellowship luncheon tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at the Young Women's Christian Association. She will speak on "Child Welfare in China."

Miss Jeannette Rankin, former congresswoman, will talk on the subject of "The Present Outlook for the Peace Movement." Miss Helen Hudson, chairman of the world fellowship committee in the Y. W. C. A., will preside.

Miss Belle Sherwin, president of the National League of Women Voters, will be an honor guest at the tenth birthday luncheon celebration of the local league tomorrow at 1 o'clock in Stoneleigh Court and will join with Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, the president, in the birthday cake-cutting ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jewett, accompanied by Mrs. W. Pennock, are at the Powhatan for several days en route to their home in Cleveland, Ohio. They have been in Florida for seevral weeks.

Mrs. Otis P. Glenn is passing a few days at the St. Regis Hotel in New York.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. M. F. Davis, of Cornwall-on-Hudson, N. Y., will be guests at the Mayflower until the end of the week. Gen. Davis is superintendent of the New York Military Academy and is here attending the annual meeting of the Association of Military Schools and Colleges now in session at the Mayflower.

Princess Braganza, of New York, and her two sons, John and Miguel Braganza, are passing several days in Washington at the Mayflower. Her sons are now on their spring vacation from St. George's School in Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning, jr., have returned from Virginia, where they attended the funeral of Mr. Chewning's grandfather, the late Dr. George H. Chewning.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wrenn Dupont and her sister, Mrs. R. W. Jasperson, have returned to their apartment after a month's cruise through the West Indies.

Mrs. Endicott Fiske has motored to Washington and is passing the week at the Wardman Park Hotel. Mrs. Fiske will return to her home in Morristown, N. J., on Saturday.

The Woman's National Democratic Club will celebrate Jefferson's birthday with a dinner at the clubhouse on Saturday evening, April 12, at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Claude Bowers, editor of the New York World, will speak after dinner on Thomas Jefferson.

Envoy Delays Returning to Washington

Dr. Olaya to Be Guest of Government of Panama.

Dr. Enrique Olaya, Minister of Colombia and president-elect of the republic, who was due to arrive in Balboa, Panama, today en route by easy stages to Washington, has been obliged to delay his departure from Bogota until next week, which will necessarily put off his arrival in Washington, scheduled for April 20.

Dr. Olaya is to be the guest of the government of Panama during the week he plans to spend there.

Another report from Bogota says that the country home of the President of Colombia, Senor Miguel Adadia Mendez, at La Union, was destroyed by fire on Monday. Since the building is the White House of Colombia, it is possible that Dr. Olaya delayed his departure from Bogota because of the damage to his future home.

Mrs. Larz Anderson will review her book, "A Yacht in the Mediterranean Seas," at the book review program of the District League of American Pen Women this evening at the studio in

WITNESS DESCRIBES FRAUD TRIAL BRIBE

GOT LIQUOR WHILE HELD

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—The procedure whereby a "hung" jury was effected in the recent Utah lead mail fraud trial was described on the witness stand in Federal Court today by Murray Wechsler, a bailiff, who said he acted as "gobetween" in the alleged bribery of a juror.

Wechsler appeared as a Government witness against Arthur N. Sager, Edward H. Reynolds and Joseph Shalleck, who are on trial charged with bribing John Cruz, juror No. 10 in the Utah lead case. The three men were defense attorneys.

The bailiff said Sager had given him small sums of money for himself and that later the lawyer had given him ten or fifteen dollars for Cruz. The juror had been taken ill in the courtroom on that day and ordered home, and Wechsler was to give him the money on the way home. Also, Wechsler testified, he was to tell Cruz that the defense attorneys would "take care of him," if he would help them.

Cruz, Wechsler added, agreed.

Harold H. Corbin, who is defending Sager, was told in his cross-examination that Wechsler had worked for one day in a gambling house "about a couple of years ago," and also that he had experienced little difficulty in obtaining liquor during the time he was held on Governor's Island as a material witness.

Mr. Wechsler said he had sent a steward at the officers' club at the Army post—a man named Steinhardt—to Manhattan with a note, on the strength of which the steward obtained six bottles of gin. The bailiff added that he gave the steward five bottles and took only one for himself, but denied that he had shared any of the liquor with Mr. Cruz, who also was being held there.

Mr. Corbin introduced in evidence the card on which the note was written. On one side was scribbled:

"This gent is O. K. Give him six. Regards to all. Murray Wechsler."

G. O. P. Club Listed.

On the other side was printed:

"Lincoln Regular Republican Club of the Second Election District, Murray Wechsler, captain."

The Utah lead case involved mail fraud charges against Charles Beadon and seven other defendants in connection with promotion of the stock of the Utah Lead Co. of Delaware. After seven weeks of testimony the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, but when a poll was taken Mr. Cruz changed his vote and held out for acquittal. A mistrial resulted.

Band Will Escort Buddy Poppy Girl

Child From V. F. W. Orphan Home to Pin Flower on Hoover.

Escorted by the Overseas Military Band, Drum and Bugle Corps of 114 pieces, together with the 16 stands of colors of all Veterans of Foreign Wars posts in the District, Lois June Allen, 8 years old, will parade at 7 o'clock tonight from Union Station to the White House, where she will pin the first buddy poppy on the coat lapel of President Hoover.

The actual campaign for the sale of buddy poppies will not begin until the week of Memorial Day, but this demonstration is gone through with to get the Chief Executive's indorsement of the drive.

The Allen girl will come from the V. F. W. Home for Widows and Orphans of former service men at Eaton Rapids, Mich. Her father, who was killed as a policeman in Detroit, served with the 310th Engineers in Michigan's noted Polar Bear Army in north Russia.

Hollywood, Fla., Kiwanis Celebrates District Day

District of Columbia day held in Hollywood, Fla., on Monday by the Kiwanis Club of that place was a great success, according to word received here yesterday by James B. Washington was given a place in the circle of States in front of the City Hall of Hollywood. Each State is represented by a tree and the Washington tree will be embellished by American Beauty roses. One of the high lights of the meeting was the declaration by Thomas McNicol, postmaster of Hollywood, that every school teacher should see Washington before trying to teach. The club was invited by Mr. Owen to attend the George Washington bicentennial in 1932.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Some Husbands.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I would like to recount some of my experiences with my two husbands! My first husband just drove me wild. One of his tricks was cleaning his shoes with something out of the soiled clothes hamper, linen cloth, baby's fine dresses or even his own silk shirts. This was after I stopped walking to the cellar for his shoe brush. He seemed to consider anything in the way of work beneath the head of the house. So I fixed the furnace, stopping in the act of putting the baby to bed to do so. I had to answer the phone no matter how busy I was. And several other despicable things too personal to mention. These killed my love for him quickly. I divorced him and married a man who has proved to be the love of my life, although I did not realize it until after we were married.

I chose him because he was so good to his widowed mother. But I find he, too, could be spoiled, especially concerning the furnace. So when the house gets chilly, while he is engrossed in a good book, I kiss him good-night very sweetly and say I'm cold so I am going to finish reading in bed where it is warm. Out goes the furnace and then he must chop wood and make it at midnight. He soon stopped neglecting the fire, as I wouldn't make it. I'd light the gas oven and he can not breathe he says with gas heat. He hates to do anything about the house unless I make him, so I wait until one of his men friends is there, and then I ask the friend on the side, but be sure hubby hears it, to please do it for me as my husband is getting old and has not much strength any more! We lived a while in the country and he would not cut the grass. I told his mother. She said, "Let the grass grow until you can hide in it. If he isn't ashamed of it don't you be either. When it is 2 feet high have some of his friends out. Don't remark about it unless they do, then merely say he is "so tired all the time." So I would say to any girl not to be discouraged with an otherwise good man. But, oh so tactfully, shame him out of annoying habits. This may not work with all men. But I used to purposely neglect shamefully something about the house that would greatly annoy him. When he had taken sufficient notice of it, I told him that is in return for the grass and the furnace. And then I would laugh to show I wasn't being mean about it!

"FROM A PARTNER IN MARRIAGE."

Dear Miss McDonald: I get a great kick out of your comments on men and thought I'd add a few! When I met my future mother-in-law for the first time she said, "May heaven help you, for I don't know where he got his disposition."

Well, sir, we were hardly married before I had cause to remember the old lady's words. I had broiled a fish for dinner just for a change. And when he came in he began throwing the windows up until there was a gale in the house. I could feel my ire rising, and I was nervous besides, as I felt I should start right and yet not make any mistakes. I wanted to "laugh off most of our troubles," so I just went on fixing dinner and never noticed the table cloth blowing up over the table and the curtains waving in the air. When everything was ready I had got control of myself and said, "If you are cooled off enough you can close the windows now." He never said boo, just closed them and sat down like a lamb. I know if I had got mad we would have started the fight habit. I never broiled another fish.

For some reason he never liked my bridesmaid. When he would come in and find her there he would say a few words and leave the house again. After about three times I got my hat and went out, too, taking the girl friend. When he came back there was no dinner and no wife. After that he was an angelman. She is a dandy girl but uses a lot of make-up, and he can not believe a woman is all right who rouges! He hates visiting, even my people. So I figure why spoil every one's fun? I have him run me over in the car and then to his mother's and call for me later. We could certainly battle over his not coming with me to my mother's, but why should we? My sister and her husband quarrel for days over this very thing. I think it's silly. He always brings me something to take over to mother's, he is so grateful for being spared what is to him an ordeal. Why shouldn't we give in to them in such things?

When I get letters he likes me to read them to him and pouts if I don't. When we were married ten years his mother told me she never thought I would be married over a year. Now he hardly ever does a disagreeable thing. But I've had to use a lot of sense and patience.

"MAUDE."

Mr. Weddell to Lecture on "An Imperial Caprice."

Mr. Alexander Wilbourne Weddell, for many years in the U. S. Foreign Service, will give a lecture this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Washington Club, the title of his talk being "An Imperial Caprice." The lecture will be illustrated with slides. It is one of a series being given under the auspices of Chapter 3, Colonial Dames of America.

In the course of his diplomatic service Mr. Weddell was stationed at Zanzibar on the east coast of Africa. During the war he was consul general to Athens, later being transferred to Calcutta, India; and his last post before he resigned from the service was in Mexico City. A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. Weddell purchased historic Warwick Priory in England, which was taken down, brought to America stone by stone and reerected under the name of Virginia House at Windsor Farms, near Richmond. This is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weddell, with one wing housing many of the possessions of the Virginia Historical Society.

Mr. Little, an authority on old silver, will illustrate the lecture with lantern slides showing some of the pieces of silver dating back for centuries. An interesting feature of the lecture will be the story of the history of the fork. The story goes that Queen Elizabeth declined to use a fork after she had had three presented to her. She declared them "clumsy." According to Mr. Little, knives and spoons date back years before the advent of the fork in society, and he quotes Scripture to prove his facts.

An exhibit of silver in connection with the lecture, which is given under the auspices of the Junior League of Washington, is now being shown at league headquarters, 1329 Connecticut avenue.

The Community Drama Guild, which for the last two years has been aiding in the development of the amateur drama activities in the Capital, will open its second annual spring drama conference here with a "get-together" dinner on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at Central Community Center.

Dr. DeWitt C. Croissant, who is chairman of the board of governors of the Drama Guild, will preside with Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, of George Washington University, as toastmaster.

10 in Ice-Bound Boats Rescued by Car Ferry

Leland, Mich., March 25 (A.P.).—Two small boats containing ten men, caught in the ice between South Manitou Island and the mainland since yesterday morning, were liberated by the car ferry Wabash, of the Ann Arbor Railroad this forenoon. The vessels, a mail boat and a Coast Guard craft, immediately headed for the Coast Guard station on the island.

Your Grocer recommends the MUELLER MACARONI PACKAGE because . . . .

BECAUSE he knows that every Mueller package is triple-sealed—keeping it clean, fresh and moisture-proof up to the moment you open it.

Because the package carries the Mueller name, proving that the contents are fully guaranteed.

Because he knows that special, exclusive processes, in the kneading, drying, etc., are used in making Mueller's products. He knows that they cook up lighter, "fluffier", and higher in food value than any other make.

Special Food-Elements

Because he knows that Mueller's macaroni and spaghetti are made of a special blend of farina—that wonderfully digestible and nutritious food. For the egg-noodles, only selected fresh eggs are used, and the choicest flour.

Because Mueller's products are made in bright, sunlit factory departments, and special precautions are taken at every stage to assure absolute purity and wholesomeness.

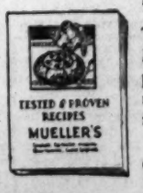
Saving Time and Labor

Another advantage in the Mueller package is the elimination of guesswork in cooking. Simply follow the directions on the wrapper, and boil for 9 minutes; in this way you avoid the mistake of overcooking, a frequent error with American housewives. To obtain especial tenderness, one or two minutes' more boiling may be allowed.

Variety In Your Menus

Mueller's macaroni and spaghetti are so delicious that they do not need special sauces to make a tasty dish. But, if you use the recipes in the booklet shown below, your menus will be delightfully varied. That's another reason for asking always for the Mueller package—you are sure of getting the product for which these recipes were prepared, and which will give you the best results.

Be sure to say "Mueller's" to your grocer. He has it, or can get it for you.



There are hundreds of ways in which Mueller's macaroni products can be prepared, all delicious. Send for our book of recipes in which many special dishes are illustrated in color. No cost or obligation.

FORMER GANG GIRL IS NOW REVIVALIST

Gertrude Fox's Man Was Executed and So She Changed Life.

AN UNDERWORLD QUEEN

Philadelphia, March 25.—From racketeer to revivalist—from gangland to grace!

There, in eight words, is the story of Gertrude Fox, known as Mrs Gertrude Doris, who queened it in the underworld of Philadelphia until three years ago.

Today she prays over outcasts and gangsters in the Salvation Army citadel at Eighth and Vine streets.

Three years ago there came a shock to this young woman, a shock that turned her thoughts away from parties, from rides to New Jersey roadhouses, from the thrills of defying the law.

Dapper Frankie Doris went out one morning and never returned. The big coup had not come off. The attempt to rob the Olney Bank & Trust Co. had been frustrated. But in preventing it, Policeman Harry M. Cooper had given his life.

Doris and three companions, William Juliano, William Curry and Francis Bentley forfeited their lives to the State for their part in the murder. They were executed in the State Prison at Rockview.

Was in Love With Gangsters.

Gertrude loved Frankie Doris. His end was a very real tragedy to her. It brought home to her the futility of trying to beat the law. It taught her that life meant something more than dancing and gin and the perils and excitement of the racket. A change was wrought in her, a change that transformed her entire outlook on life.

Recently the probationary period ended and Gertrude, former gang girl, was sworn in as a soldier of the Lord and a member of the Salvation Army. She had her uniform ready. Peaceful indeed is the face that smiles at one under the simple blue hood with its red ribbon. And in the shining eyes there is a light that no disappointment can quell, a different light from any induced by excitement or artificial stimulation in the old days.

She thought of entering a convent. And then she remembered the Salvation Army. When she was a child she used to delight in listening at the street corner meetings. And the Salvation Army remembered her.

"Gertrude always wanted to be good," said Commandant Stainthorpe, of the Eighth and Vine street citadel, last night. "We've known her since she was a child. She would stand around and listen to us sing. And we tried to interest her, but other influences were too strong. Her father was a policeman, you know, and they lived down in this district. Frankie Doris' father was a policeman, too, and the pair of them were always together.

Still Wanted War Cry.

"They grew up, and we knew that Gertrude was playing around with the gangs. But she still came in to our meetings every once in a while. Often her hair was different. I'd say, 'Why, Gertrude, I hardly knew you as a blonde!' or 'So you're a red-head now!' And she'd just laugh and tell us to be sure and leave the War Cry every week.

"And if we had a drive for funds we could always depend on Gertrude. She would take out a big roll of bills. She was generous, just like all the other girls and the bootleggers around here. And now she is working for $10 a week in a department store and every evening is with us, helping us with our work.

"After her tragedy we did not see her for a long time. Then I heard that she was attending meetings at headquarters on North Broad street. One day I saw her there. We talked. She told me that her one aim was to try to help those who had made the same mistake that she had made. I invited her down to our meetings, but she was afraid, and she was humble.

"She thought her former companions would jeer. She felt that she could not accomplish anything. But finally I persuaded her. So she has been helping us. I have talked with men and girls who knew her in her former life and they believe in her. They are glad that she is with us. One woman, who has an establishment near here, said that she would rather see twenty girls follow Gertrude than have one enter her house."

Was On Probation.

For nearly six months Gertrude was on probation. This was somewhat of her own choosing. She wanted to be sure of herself. And night after night gangsters and the women who on windows with latchkeys came and heard her voice—or heard her testify to the beauty, the peace, the blessings of her new life.

She has experienced peace and joy, she says. She feels it her duty to bring that peace and joy to these others, men and women without hope, men and women who have declared themselves enemies of society.

Her ambition is, she said, to be sent to the Salvation Army College in New York for training as a permanent officer. At present her services are all voluntary.

Wets 672, Drys 23 in Pennsylvania Vote

Philadelphia, March 25.—Wet sentiment won a straw vote taken by the Jenkintown Times-Chronicle on the question of modification of the prohibition law, it was revealed yesterday.

The vote showed: Wets, 672; drys, 23. Two physicians filed ballots favoring modification.

The vote was taken on suggestion of the Women's Society for National Prohibition Reform. One Glenside physician accompanied his vote with a letter in which he asserted: "I see more drinking than before the prohibition era. Homes in which there never had been liquor in any form now produce home brew in quantity. It is a disgrace with the younger element."

Argentina "Hoards" Scrap Iron.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, March 25 (A.P.).—Exportation of scrap iron and steel is prohibited under a presidential decree in an effort to aid the development of an iron and steel manufacturing industry in Argentina.

Vagabond Dreams—

By RUDY VALLEE

(it was an old one which I had used several summers before at a beach in Maine where I played and occasionally sang a few songs). It happened that I knew the words of a couple of songs which I had taught Burwell, our pianist, in New Haven. I sang these, and one of them, called "Rain," later became one of our radio favorites.

Dickerman Shows Approbation by Smile.

Dickerman smiled broadly, which was his way of showing approbation. At the end of the evening he told me that he was satisfied; in fact, he was enthusiastic about the band from both the appearance angle and the playing angle. The job was ours. So we felt happy.

The most surprised man in the band was my drummer who had heard me previously and who thought it was sheer suicide to put me in charge of this delicate engagement. He himself had an excellent voice which also pleased Dickerman. Our two violinists, alone, were good men, and together they were unbeatable. Miller and I blended our sax tones, as we had played together before. On slow tunes we played two clarinets in the low register, which gives a most unearthly quality to the tone. (This swept Dickerman off his feet.) And with my perfect pianist, drummer, string bass and banjoist, all excellent men, we had a unit that I had every hope of developing into one of the best dance orchestras in the city.

Truly my problem as saxophonist and director of the Connecticut Yankees is a difficult one; in fact, I am really busier than the proverbial one-eyed dog in a sausage shop.

In the first place we have only eight men, including myself, and there are only four of the instruments contributing a musical voice to the general ensemble, that is, the two violins and the two saxophones, of which I am one. The rest constitute what is known in orchestra parlance as the "back row." The "back row" is the rhythmic section consisting of piano, banjo, drums and string bass; these four contributing practically nothing but rhythm, except when the pianist "cues in" to help the melody out.

Each Voice Essential to Success.

Though the four voices (as I term the two violins and the two saxophones) always play at the same time, I only permit two of them to carry melody simultaneously; usually the first violinist and I take the melody against the harmony supplied by the second violin and the tenor saxophone.

The last two boys may each play a separate counter melody simultaneously, but they must be sure their obbligatos (which they usually improvise themselves) do not conflict at any point. Then on the next chorus I shift to obbligato, the tenor saxophone shifts to melody, while the first violin stays on the melody, the second violinist and I contributing the harmony, being careful likewise not to let our respective harmonies conflict.

Now, quite obviously, if any one of these four instruments ceases to play, even for a few measures, a valuable voice is missing and its absence is usually noted by even those patrons engrossed in eating, or in talking as they dance. The feeling that something is wrong is instantly in the air.

Abhors Gaps Between Phrases.

So I demand of the boys that they play at all times with no "lay outs" and no rest choruses for any one. That goes for myself, too.

This might seem very hard, but it really isn't, when you consider that we play only for short periods and that six of us secure a rest about every third or fourth chorus when I turn my pianist loose for a chorus featuring the piano with the drums playing a soft rhythmic background. Even without this rest it would not seem difficult to us, because most of us have played many club jobs in our earlier days, where we did not drop the instrument or take them from our mouths for hours at a time.

The words "fullness" and "sustained tone" have been cardinal points in my direction. I abhor what I term "gaps," that is empty spaces between the phrases of a song where the whole band seems to have gone out for a haircut or shave. It was some time before I conveyed to the boys just what I expected of them, that is, a fullness of tone giving the impression of twice the number of men, which is secured by the proper blowing and bowing on the part of the four voices with the proper rhythmic background.

That we have succeeded in this endeavor is shown very clearly by the surprised remarks of many people who, upon seeing the band for the first time, have asked me where the rest of the men were. Most of them have been laboring under the impression that we had twice as many players.

This effect of continuous, sustained tone is a beautiful one and easily achieved. But the value and importance of each individual in a small unit giving his best (and that with hardly a pause for breathing) to secure a richness of volume, is seldom realized.

Romance Renewed After 23-Year Rift

Girl Left Fiance to Go on Stage; Quits Theater for Same Man.

Omaha, March 25.—Twenty-three years ago Gwendolyn DeLany, now character actress with the Clemant-Walsh Players, broke her engagement to marry Richard Cale, young Omahan, because she wanted a stage career.

A few days ago, Miss DeLany and Cale met on a downtown street.

During the 23 years, Miss DeLany has been married and widowed, and had achieved a more than local reputation as an actress. Like "Uncle Bim," Cale had gone to Australia where he became wealthy in the automobile business. He had stopped in Omaha for a few hours between trains.

Miss DeLany says they will be married and probably go to Australia to live. Cale has gone East to attend to business matters before returning to Omaha.

Miss DeLany, who is an Omahan, began her stage career with the Woodward Stock Company at the old Burwood Theater. There she played with Eva Lang and Albert Morrison for a season, and then went East where she has appeared with a number of stock organizations. She came to Omaha a month ago from Albany, N. Y. A brother, Arthur DeLany, lives here.

Not Social Club.

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—The Bankers Club of America, in the heart of the New York financial district, with a membership of 2,200 is a business enterprise and not a "social, athletic or sporting club." The court of claims has so held in exempting it from a 10 per cent tax for such clubs.

Ohio school attendance is 90 per cent of perfect.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF March 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:15 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 5:30 a. m. to 7:30 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m.

A succession of small and unimportant catastrophies are augured for this date—a somewhat confused mind will make awkward fingers and stumbling feet. Influences will be more exasperating than dangerous. Activities will be unprofitable.

The child born on this March 26 will be predisposed to nervous complaints, and its emotions and mental ability should not be encouraged to develop too quickly. It will be a natural student, but not a natural sportsman, and outdoor games are essential for its proper development.

You are a person who suffers from being misunderstood. You have a splendid, strong mind (a grown-up one), but your heart remains that of a child, and in your human relations you are guided by your heart. Others benefit from this condition, but you unfortunately are often "taken in," and receive ingratitude and criticism for things done with the best and most unselfish of motives. When your heart is touched and your sympathies aroused you are deaf to the still small voice which warns you against deception. You are intuitive, and it is a mistake for you to disobey your hunches.

You will never be an idle being, one of the world's drones. You feel that you owe a duty to society—that somewhere, something is your job (whether you have need to work or not). You are too ambitious, too brainy, too energetic to become an idle wife, or a bored gentleman of leisure. You never feel dull, and you are not a boring companion.

You do not lack initiative—you are not afraid to let go the fence to see what is around the corner, or the next corner. You do not give up easily—you have both faith and optimism behind you. Your sunny-tempered ways, your great sense of humor and your loyalty are the things in you which are admired by all. You are not a saint, but you are good.

Back Seat Drivers Have Their Rights

Chicago, March 25 (A.P.).—Back seat driving is not only legal, says the Chicago Motor Club, but it has been legally declared to be sometimes necessary. For authority, the club's legal department points to a recent decision of the Missouri Court of Appeals.

"It is impossible," said the court, "to lay down fixed rules by which to determine just when an automobile should be driven from the rear seat. The courts all agree, however, that a passenger or guest in an automobile must use ordinary care for his own safety and when this requires that he call the attention of the driver to approaching danger, he must do it, or be open to the charge of contributory negligence."

Mystery Shrouds Woman's Identity

Silk Thief Refuses Court's Offer of Probation if She Told Name.

Minneapolis, March 25.—A woman in district court recently refused, even to save herself from a prison term, to reveal her family name.

She called herself Mary Giddings when she came before Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye for sentence after she had been convicted of stealing a bolt of silk from a downtown store.

Mary Giddings had been her name once, she explained to the court, so in a way she still had a right to use it, although some years ago she had renounced that name when she obtained a divorce.

In accordance with the usual statutory custom, Judge Nordbye, before imposing sentence, asked the woman certain questions. It was possible, her attorney advised the defendant, that the court might consider probation if it appeared that the woman had relatives or friends to whom she could go.

But, although Mrs. Giddings admitted that her father, a man she said was well-to-do, was living in Minneapolis, she refused to give his name; neither would she tell the name of brothers or unmarried sisters living in the city.

"They have always been an honest family," she said. "I have kept all word of my trouble from them and I do not want disgrace to be visited on their name."

the JOY of LIVING

is founded on Good Health

Did you know that every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles?

Your joy may depend upon rich, red-blood-cells

A HEALTHY body is vigorous, strong and sound. It is man's and woman's greatest asset. It demands that the red-blood-cells shall not be decreased in number.

The red-blood-cells are its workers—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give to the blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal. Even though you have allowed your blood count to get too low, with resulting ill health, you may still be strong and well again.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It promotes healthy body building. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S. S. S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easy to assimilate. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

S.S.S.

You will be delighted with S.S.S. blood-building and tonic effects. Take at mealtime. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Makes You Feel Like Yourself Again

Bridge Play Over Radio Is Analyzed

Pretty Game Is Played by Experts in 19th of Series Arranged Over WRC by Milton C. Work; No Trump Bids.

Four American Bridge League champions, selected by that organization to represent it in a radio contest, played a pretty game as the nineteenth of Milton C. Work's radio bridge games, broadcast yesterday afternoon from Station WRC.

The players were Mrs. M. K. Alexander, her sister, Mrs. Rose Fleischer, and Mrs. Sydney Lovell, all of Chicago, and Dr. Emma T. Dafter, of Evanston, Ill.—all of whom have won many trophies at important Auction and Contract events.

The hands were: Mrs. Alexander, dealer, South: Spades, A, K, 7; Hearts, K, Q; Diamonds, K, 10, 6, 2; Clubs, Q, J, 10, 3. Mrs. Lovell, West: Spades, K, 6, 4, 3; Hearts, 9, 7, 5, 3, 2; Diamonds, 7, 5; Clubs, 5, 4. Dr. Dafter, North: Spades, 10, 4; Hearts, 10, 6, 4; Diamonds, A, 9, 4, 3; Clubs, A, 8, 6, 2. Mrs. Fletcher, East: Spades, J, 9, 8, 2; Hearts, A, J, 8; Diamonds, Q, J, 8; Clubs, K, 9, 7.

The only bid of the Auction was one No Trump by Mrs. Alexander, South. West's and North's passes were obvious; East passed, even though her hand had some strength in every suit, because she was in the weak position under or to the right of a No Trump. If she doubled, and found her partner without strength, the double would lead to disaster. But she hoped to save game.

Mrs. Lovell, West, opened the play by leading her fourth-best Heart, the Trey, following the convention that it is better to open any five-card suit than a four-carder headed by a King or lower card with only a spot-card next. Dummy, North, played the 4 of Hearts; East won with the Ace; and Declarer, South, played the Queen.

East was then able to place the Hearts in her partner's and the Declarer's hands to a nicety. West led the Trey, therefore her fourth-best must have been either her lowest or next to lowest card of the suit, and at most she could not have had more than five Hearts. As Dummy and East herself had six Hearts between them, Declarer, South, must have two Hearts, and at most, only three; and since Declarer, South, had played the Queen on East's Ace, it was patent that South could not have had the Deuce. Applying the Rule of Eleven to West's lead of the Trey showed there were eight Hearts higher than the Trey out against West; and as six of these were in the Dummy and East's own hand, South must have had two Hearts better than the Trey, of which one was the Queen. South's other Heart higher than the Trey must be the King, as she hadn't the Ace or Jack, and wouldn't have sacrificed the Queen on the first trick if she had had a low Heart. As Declarer must have had two Hearts, and did not have a low Heart, it followed that she had the singleton King remaining after playing the Queen on trick one.

Consequently, East did not follow the general rule to return the higher of two remaining cards of partner's suit. Should she return the Jack, she knew South would win with the King and Dummy's 10 would be made good. So to trick two Mrs. Fleischer, East, led the 8-spot of Hearts; Declarer, South, played the King; West the Deuce; and Dummy the 6.

With her chances for game looking awfully slim, as she felt sure opponents would run three Hearts against her when they got the lead, Declarer hoped for a good break on her possible finesses in Clubs and Spades. If she were lucky enough to find the King of Spades in the West hand, so she could take the four Club tricks, she would have an even chance of two Spade tricks by trying the Spade finesse. Two Spade tricks, four Clubs, one Heart, already won, and her two sure Diamond tricks would give her game. So at trick three she led the Queen of Clubs from the South hand; West played the Four; Dummy the Deuce, and East won with the King.

To trick four East led the Jack of Hearts, giving Declarer renewed hope of game when she realized that East had been obliged to block West's suit. Declarer still saw chance for game if the Spade finesse should win, and if three Diamond tricks could be made, provided the Diamond trick that had to be lost should be won by the East hand, which had no more Hearts. Declarer wanted a Diamond led to the next trick, and so discarded the Deuce of Diamonds in hopes it would encourage East to lead that suit next. West played the 5 of Hearts; Dummy the 10. East, however, was not to be deterred from leading up to Dummy's weakness. She led the Deuce of Spades to trick five; Declarer finessed the Queen; West won with the King, and Dummy played the 4.

Mrs. Lovell, in the East, proceeded to save game and capture an extra trick by leading her two Hearts. On West's 9 of Hearts Dummy played the Trey of Diamonds; East the 7 of Clubs; Declarer the 7 of Spades. On the 7 of Hearts Dummy discarded the 4 of Diamonds; East the Trey of Spades; Declarer the 6 of Diamonds. To trick eight West led the 5 of Spades; Dummy played the 10; East the Jack, and Declarer, South, won with the Ace. With her three high Clubs and two high Diamonds good for the remaining five tricks, Declarer exposed her hand and made the claim, which adversaries conceded. Declarer scored 10 for her one trick below the line; 30 for three Aces above.

Mr. Work, giving his comments after the exhibition play was finished, approved the bidding of the hand, particularly the pass by East, saying, in regard to the latter: "I heartily commend East for not doubling. Many losses may be charged to unsound doubles; and a double by Mrs. Fleischer in her position would not have been sound. The difference between holding Kings and Queens under an adverse No Trump, and the same cards over it, is obvious. When South bids No Trump, a double by West would be justified with less strength than that which East would need to make the declaration.

"There is one point in the bidding of the adversary on the right of the No Trumper that is not generally appreciated. When that adversary is in doubt whether to bid or pass, the fact that the hand contains a face card or high intermediate in every suit makes a weak double or lead-directing bid far less excusable than when the hand contains one or two short suits headed by small spot cards. In that case the leader, if not guided by a lead-directing bid, would be apt to open such suit and, of course, would receive no assistance from his partner. In this particular hand East held unusually strong assistance in every suit, and it was much the wisest plan to let the No Trump stand and have partner lead a long suit."

The obvious high point in the play was Mrs. Fleischer's disregarding, at trick two, the general rule to return the higher of two remaining cards of partner's suit; thereby she saved game. If she had thoughtlessly returned the Jack of Hearts at trick two, South would have won the trick, lost the Club finesse to East, who would then have led the third Heart. This Heart would have been won by Dummy's 10, clearing the suit for West, but West would never again have got the lead until after Declarer's game was won.

Had the hand been dealt in a game of Contract, South, with a count of 18 and four suits stopped, would have been justified in bidding two No Trumps. After West's pass, North would, of course, bid three No Trumps which would hold the bid. The play would be identical with that at Auction.

This deal, according to Mr. Work, shows conclusively that even a strong combined No Trump holding that would make game nine times out of ten, may be defeated when the adversaries play brilliantly and finesses find Kings on the wrong side of the Aces.

Jane C. INTERPRETS the MODE

Paris, March 25.

THERE are two stories in prints, and in case you have any doubts whatsoever about whether or not the new prints really look new, I can tell you right now that they do. This summer's prints are as different from the designs of two or three years ago as chalk is from cheese.

In the chiffons, for instance, for very summery afternoon wear and evening gowns, you have the prints in soft pastel shades, sometimes rather small in design and usually flowers. Both the background and the finished flowers are soft.

And then there are the very tiny prints for daytime wear, which look exactly like mosaic, being little flecks or scrolls or dots or what-nots of various colors.

And then, of course, there are the very popular polkadot effects, tiny polkadots as a rule, and on a dark ground. White polkadots on navy blue are particularly smart.

* * * *

How do you choose a print to wear, in the matter of color and in relation to your own coloring? Well, not by one of the colors in the print, but by the general effect of the whole thing. Because prints, as you can tell so readily from the fine white on black of fine black on white effects, which give an excellent tone of gray, always run to tones, regardless of the background. It is this tone you select. And they are very good, indeed, these prints, which not only have a tone that is becoming to you but as a rule an extra color or so in the design that is extra becoming.

* * * *

Shirred, but with the shirring in the form of incrustations, and each incrustation put on to make the dress conform to the lines of the body—that is what gave so much charm to Tollman's pale green chiffon evening dress that I sketched for you today. But then, I can say truthfully, without batting an eyelash, that Tollman styles are always charming!

* * * *

There are some cute tricks that you can do with gloves and bags. Oh, one is a musketeer cuff, which you make of felt and then use the rest of the felt to make a terribly smart bag. Another is a gathered sort of affair on the glove, which fastens with silk cords ending in colored glass balls—well, you'd just better send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and get that interesting leaflet, which tells you how to put expensive cuffs on inexpensive gloves! 'N if you're not interested in that, there is a terribly smart, new bag in the same leaflet. The stamped envelope goes to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, you know.

Lanvin's really beautiful evening hat of pale silver lame is sketched for you today—what a lovely thing it is, really! It's a hat, you know, not just a drape, and ever since seeing it at the formal opening of her spring collection every one has been looking for one on somebody. Of course, it requires a very formal occasion, and there aren't so many of those this season. Still it's lovely and I thought you'd like to see it.

There are other things you will enjoy in the weekly Dare fashion letter. It appears, you know, in The Sunday Washington Post.

WORK'S BRIDGE

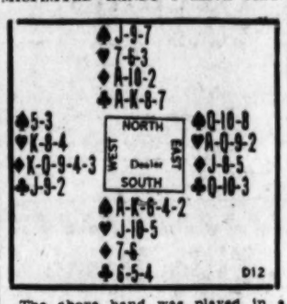
GOOD NEWS, BRIDGERS.

We are pleased to announce we can now renew the offer of Milton C. Work's great Contract and Auction booklet entitled "THE PLAYING PROBLEMS." Bridgers who received copies from previous offers are most enthusiastic over it.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS" presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reason for each answer in complete detail.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 8 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

MISPLAYED HANDS I HAVE MET.



The above hand was played in a game of Contract. South bid one Spade, West two Diamonds, North two Spades, which was the final bid. South, who had started with an absolute minimum, of course did not rebid.

At Auction the bidding would be the same, or nearly the same, as that given for Contract.

When the hand was played, West led the King of Diamonds. The Declarer won in dummy, led two rounds of trumps, and was disappointed—although not surprised—when the adverse Queen did not fall. The Declarer then could count that his combined hands were sure to lose one trump and in addition probably would lose one Diamond, one Club and three Hearts; consequently he must expect to be defeated unless South could discard on North's long Club. Hoping for the best but fearing the worst, Declarer led a small Club from closed hand and played small from dummy. East won, led the good trump, and then the Jack of Diamonds which West permitted to win. East then led a third Diamond "to force the strong hand." South ruffed, and as he was able to discard a Heart on dummy's thirteenth Club, he took eight tricks.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

The error in this case was with East at trick 7. He should have realized that West's Diamond bid showed that South had no more Diamonds and remembered that there are times when the generally sound play of forcing the strong adverse hand results disastrously. This happens when it permits the discard of a losing card that could be captured, and East could see that North probably had a thirteenth Club that would be cashed. So after the Jack of Diamonds won, East should have led the Ace of Hearts and with West playing the Eight, should have continued that suit. Played in that way the Declarer would have taken only seven tricks and failed to make his contract.

You'll readily understand why smart women prefer Kotex when you discover its clever shaping and remarkable softness.

WHAT a difference the right sanitary protection makes under your smart new frocks!

With clumsy methods ... you have awkward lines and bulges.

With Kotex ... smooth fit, a minimum of bulk; never a revealing outline!

Kotex is made of a remarkable substance (Cellucotton — not cotton — absorbent wadding) which makes bulk and weight unnecessary. Cellucotton is so light and cool, so amazingly absorbent.

Used in 85% of hospitals

Cellucotton is so vastly superior that you'll find it used in 85% of the very greatest hospitals, not for one or two purposes alone, but for important surgical work.

Cellucotton absorbent wadding is, as you probably know, a cellulose substance which performs the same sanitary function with 5 times the absorbency of the finest cotton.

Cellucotton absorbs away from the surface, leaving the surface always soft and delicate. This prevents chafing and packing, and makes Kotex hygienic as well as comfortable.

There are many other reasons why millions of women today will use only Kotex. One is its instant disposability. Others are noted at the right. Please try Kotex. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT ...

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

Ask to see the KOTEX BELT and KOTEX SANITARY APRON at any drug, dry goods or department store.

PREJUDICE CHARGED TO FOX SUITS JUDGE

NEW APPOINTEE SOUGHT

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—Another legal entanglement appeared today in the complicated litigation which involves William Fox and his motion picture corporation. It took the form of an affidavit of prejudice calling upon Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman to withdraw from three equity receivership proceedings pending against the corporations and others.

The affidavit was filed by counsel for Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., on behalf of H. L. Stuart, president of the corporation, and one of the Fox trustees named in the trusteeship agreement of December 3, 1929.

Judge Coleman adjourned proceedings until Thursday afternoon in order to find time to look up the law on the matter.

"I assume," the judge said to the assembled attorneys, "that the filing of this affidavit divests me of the power to hear the motions."

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mr. Fox, contended that since Halsey, Stuart & Co. were not parties defendant they could not legally file an affidavit of prejudice. In reply to this, Judge Coleman pointed out that Mr. Untermyer, himself, had recently filed a motion to make the financial house a party defendant. Mr. Untermyer said he would consider withdrawal of that motion.

The affidavit charged that Judge Coleman, by his conduct, had shown prejudice against Sutart in receivership proceedings before him. It asked him to file a certificate of disqualification with the court of appeals and asked that the court of appeals thereupon designate some other judge to hear the case.

Among several exhibits attached to the affidavit was a letter to Fox film stockholders, which contained the sentence, "Over several million dollars of judgments have been obtained by various creditors and only the indulgence of these creditors at the earnest solicitation of Hon. Frank J. Coleman, United States District judge, has prevented the complete breakup of the corporation's properties."

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Tuesday, March 25, 8 p. m.

Forecast: For the District of Columbia—Mostly cloudy and colder, probably occasional light rain Wednesday; Thursday fair and continued cold; increasing west or northwest winds, becoming fresh Wednesday afternoon.

For Maryland and Virginia — Mostly cloudy and colder, with local snows in extreme west, and probably light local rains in east and central portions Wednesday; Thursday generally fair and continued cold, except possibly snow flurries in extreme west portions; fresh to strong west or northwest winds, possibly reaching gale force on the coast Wednesday afternoon.

The disturbance that was central over Indiana Monday night has increased further both in intensity and extent, and it is now moving east-northeastward with center over western New York, Ithaca, 29.08 inches. This disturbance has been attended by precipitation almost generally over the Eastern half of the United States. The precipitation was in the form of snow as far east as Illinois and Michigan, and rain, changing to snow, in Indiana, Kentucky, and portions of Tennessee and Ohio. Another disturbance is developing over the southern Rocky Mountain and southern plateau regions, El Paso, Tex., 29.72 inches, and still another is over western Alaska, Dutch Harbor, 29.28 inches. High pressure prevails from the British Northwest Territory southward over the North Pacific States, the northern plateau, the northern Rocky Mountain region, and the plains States, Fort Smith, B. N. T., 30.48 inches, and North Head, Wash., 30.42 inches, and over and southeast of Nova Scotia Island, 30.12 inches. The temperature has risen in New York, and it has continued to rise in the plateau region and the interior of the Pacific States, while colder weather has overspread the central Rocky Mountain region, the upper Lake region, the great central valleys, and the Southern States. The weather is now unseasonably cold almost generally between the Rocky and the Appalachian Mountains, and unseasonably warm in the plateau region and the Pacific States. Yuma, Ariz., reporting a maximum of 92 degrees and Los Angeles 88 degrees.

The Eastern disturbance will continue to cause mostly cloudy and unsettled weather in middle and northern sections east of the Mississippi River Wednesday, with local snows as far east as the Appalachian Mountains, and probably occasional light rain east of the Mountains. The indications are for mostly fair weather Thursday in the Washington Forecast District. The temperature will be lower in the greater part of the district Wednesday, and in the Atlantic States Wednesday night, while there will be a reaction to slightly higher temperature Thursday in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, and portions of the South Atlantic States.

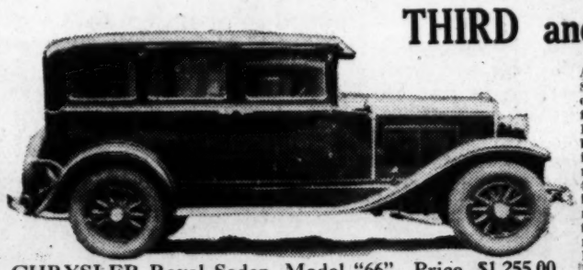
ENDS

LAST CLUB AND GOLD OFFER!

$500 EXTRA GOLD—85,000 EXTRA VOTES

No subscriptions received previous to March 13, the beginning of this special period, will count toward this big cash and extra vote reward, nor will subscriptions or payments received after the stroke of 9 tonight. All city candidates must turn in their results by that time and all out-of-town candidates must have their reports in the mail in time to have them post-marked not later than this hour. . . . This also brings the entrance period to an end, and no new candidates will be accepted after tonight. This is the last chance for new candidates to enter, but there is still plenty of chance for ambitious new entrants to win one of the big prizes. Make up your mind today. Probably never again will you have such a glorious opportunity.

THIRD and FOURTH BIG PRIZES



CHRYSLER Royal Sedan, Model "66"—Price, $1,255.00

Purchased from and on display at H. B. Leary, Jr., & Bros., 1612 U St. N.W.

After the first prize, Cadillac eight Sedan, the Nash eight Sedan, second prize, and the third and fourth prizes of the Auburn and Peerless Sedans, respectively, have been awarded, the candidate next in vote standing will receive this magnificent Dodge eight-cylinder, 4-door Sedan. The candidate who is sixth in final vote standing will receive the Chrysler Sedan illustrated on the left. Six more automobiles will be awarded and 16 Radio Sets, in addition to unlimited amounts in cash commissions.

DODGE 8—4-Door Sedan—Price, $1,295.00

How Prizes Will Be Awarded

The following six grand prizes will be awarded to the six highest candidates, regardless of districts or divisions, who poll the greatest number of votes during the entire campaign: $3,630 Cadillac Sedan, $1,985 Nash Sedan, $1,395 Auburn Sedan, $1,376 Peerless Sedan, $1,295 Dodge 8 Sedan and $1,255 Chrysler Sedan. The candidate polling the greatest number of votes will be awarded the Cadillac, the second highest the Nash, and so on.

After the six grand prize cars have been awarded, the three highest candidates in the city division (districts 1 to 5, inclusive) will be awarded, respectively, the Graham Sedan, the $776 Chevrofet Sedan and the $585.89 Ford Sedan.

The three highest candidates in the out-of-town division (districts 6 to 8, inclusive) will be awarded, respectively, the $993 Pontiac Sedan, the $776 Chevrolet Sedan and the $585.89 Ford Sedan. In other words, every candidate has nine chances to win a grand prize automobile.

After all of the automobiles have been awarded the next highest candidate in each of the five city districts will be awarded a $168 Atwater Kent Radio. The highest in each of the three out-of-town districts will be awarded a $167.50 Majestic Radio. The second highest candidate in each of the eight districts will receive a $116.50 Majestic Radio. ALL PRICES QUOTED ON AUTOMOBILES AND RADIOS ARE F. O. B. WASHINGTON, D. C., AND SUBJECT TO CHANGE.

PADLOCKS SOUGHT FOR FOUR PLACES

NUISANCE SECTION CITED

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney Harold W. Orcutt yesterday began proceedings seeking to padlock portions of the premises at 742 Second street northwest, 406 Ninth street northeast, 73 M street southeast and 1712 Seaton street northwest under the nuisance section of the national prohibition law.

Walter M. Earich, Dick Sullivan and Richard Melton Criswell are named as operators of a restaurant at the Second street address, while Mary Kanally is designated as owner. Rena Mae Cole, alias Rena Cole, is named as tenant of the Ninth street place and Charles H. Gladden is designated as owner. Numerous violations of the prohibition law are alleged at each place.

Virgie Regina Ford, alias Virgie Regina Beal, Charles Sumba Beal and Fannie Powell are named as tenants of the M street premises, and Rue Ella Higdon is the alleged owner. Cephas Coleman, Mary Emma Coleman, alias Mary Coleman, Fannie Wilson, Roosevelt Wilson and Isaiah Herndon are named as tenants of the Seaton street property, and Iva M. Pratt as the owner.

Noted Danish Musician Dies.

CHINA PROMISES AID TO 16 MISSIONARIES

TELEGRAPH WIRES CUT

Shanghai, March 25 (A.P.).—Sixteen American Catholic missionaries, 10 of whom are men and six women, are isolated in Kanchow, Kiangsi province, by bandit and Communist armies, and their situation is reported serious. The Red forces are said to surround Kanchow, refusing to permit anyone to depart or enter.

In a telegram to the Associated Press from Nanking, Foreign Minister C. T. Wang said:

"The Nationalist government has taken strong measures to suppress the Kiangsi Communists. It believes the American missionaries are safe if they do not attempt to move about."

Small Force on Scene.

A small number of government troops is at Kanchow, said a message from the Chinese foreign office to the American legation at Peiping, and the government is endeavoring to send reinforcements. Threats have been made by Kiangsi authorities to withdraw the garrison from Kanchow, however, said missionary advices which expressed the fear that if this were done the bandit troops would sack the city.

Meanwhile, the missionaries at Kanchow probably will be forced to remain there for some time, unable to break through the cordon of Communists and bandits who for several months have been raiding, looting and killing large numbers of the Chinese populace of Kiangsi province.

Details of their situation are lacking from the Kanchow missionaries themselves, telegraph wires having been cut.

Although missionaries in Shanghai asserted they were not particularly alarmed and believed the situation at Kanchow was not so serious as it appeared, other foreign circles in this city expressed anger over what they said was "the deliberate effort of the Nationalist government to hide details of a serious situation, which is now apparent."

Foreigners Warned Away.

A dispatch from Manchang, Kiangsi Province, to the Nationalist government's News Agency said that the provincial government had requested the central government at Nanking to advise foreigners to remain out of Kiangsi for the present. Foreigners within the province, said the dispatch, will be requested to "exercise discretion in their travels in order to avoid bandit infested regions."

The provincial government was reported to have offered a reward of $50,000 Mexican for the capture of Chu Teh, Communist leader, who is held mainly responsible for outrages in Kiangsi. Chu Teh is described as a capable individual who has been graduated from the Nationalist Military Academy in Canton, has studied in several European countries and speaks their languages.

Communists of western Kiangsi numbering 1,000 are reported to have invaded Human Province, looting, burning and killing.

Counterfeit Chips Hit Casino at Monte Carlo

Monte Carlo, Monaco, March 25 (A. P.).—Counterfeit chips that are causing the Casino to lose an average of $2,000 a day have brought the latest calamity to this little principality, which already is stirred by political undercurrents and the separation of its prince and princess.

The chips are said to be so perfect that they can not be told from the genuine. The Casino chips are changed frequently, and the counterfeiters apparently have a confederate within the Casino who is able to duplicate them quickly. Both French and Italian police are working on the case.

Couple Reunited After Experiment

Continue Living Together Following Sojourn of Wife With Another.

Detroit, March 25 (A.P.).—Mrs. Dorothy Rowe March and the husband who approved her three weeks' sojourn with another man as an experiment to determine which she wanted, returned to their home here this morning and issued a brief statement to the effect they had nothing to say for publication and desired only to be left to work out their own future.

The husband, Benjamin March, curator of Asiatic art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, met his wife Sunday on her return from Miami, Fla., and immediately whisked her out of town. Shortly after Mrs. March left Miami, the other man, Thomas A. Newton, jr., son of a wealthy Detroit packer, shot and killed himself in a Miami Beach hotel.

At the door to their home here the couple were greeted by a group of newspapermen and photographers. They posed for the cameramen.

To Those Who Would Make Their Homes More Interesting

It is the business of W. & J. Sloane to provide Furniture, Oriental and Domestic Rugs, Carpets and Draperies and to make proper selection of these a simple and pleasant process.

In addition, it is very definitely the business of this organization to study with the owner, various problems in the furnishing of his home, to advise him correctly and to execute in the best manner the work necessary.

The Decorating Staff of W. & J. Sloane is adequately equipped to do work of this kind. The Furnishings and Decorative Arrangements in many of the fine homes in Washington attest this fact.

Will you not let them consult with you on any matter of Decoration that you may be considering?

How to Keep Well

FLETCHERIZING NOT SO GOOD.

A RECENT investigation showed the inadvisability of Fletcherizing. The older generation will remember a gentleman named Fletcher, who advocated chewing of food until the bolus was converted into a semiliquid which slipped down the throat without conscious swallowing. Mr. Fletcher advocated the chewing of milk. He made a milk shake out of it. He was a sincere, earnest, plausible, and very energetic man who wrote books and delivered speeches advocating Fletcherizing.

His presentation began with his own life story. He was a wornout successful businessman who accidentally stumbled on the royal road to health. Following it had rejuvenated him physically, mentally and spiritually. Behold a youthful apostle! Unfortunately for his theory he aged rather rapidly and during the last years of his mission he was not a good exhibit A. He had to spend a part of his time in sanitaria, and, after a considerable period of semi-invalidism, he died somewhat prematurely. This would have occasioned no particular comment had it not been that he builded his system on his own health as the corner stone.

A recent physiologic investigation has shown that he had no ground to stand on. It is to be hoped, however, that the downfall of fletcherizing will not cause us to speed up while at the table. Nothing in the report warrants that. Good digestion must be begun by good chewing. The digestive juices can not do their work satisfactorily unless the food is well broken up in the mouth. The stomach has some ability to churn and break up food, but it is limited. Man has no gizzard, like a chicken, nor does he return his cud to the mouth for further chewing as a cow does. A second function of chewing the food is to increase its flavor and taste. The saliva dissolves portions of the food bolus and brings out its flavor.

A third function is the partial digestion of starch. Dr. T. B. Hartzell has shown that saliva has no mean part in the conversion of cooked starch when it is given a fair chance. To get this action, first, the starch should be cooked; second, it should be eaten toward the first of the meal when the ferments of the secretion are strongest; third, the food must be well chewed; and, fourth, the food must be held in the mouth while being slowly chewed and deliberately swallowed.

TREATING VARICOSE VEINS.

Mrs. B. writes:

1. Is there a fluid that can be injected into varicose veins that will cure them?
2. Is the operation serious?
3. Is it successful?

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. Not particularly.
3. Generally.

IT'S NOT DANGEROUS.

M. A. B. writes:

1. What causes polyps in the rectum?
2. Is it dangerous?
3. Does removal do any harm?
4. What will prevent its return?

REPLY.

1. Any chronic inflammation.
2. No.
3. No.
4. If you can cure up the basic inflammation the polyps should not return after removal.

INDUSTRIAL AGE OVERTAKES SHIRES

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, N. Y., March 25.—Old Mr. Comiskey, forgetting the things that gave him pleasure in his own youth, has repressed the Shires boy, who is no better ballplayer than he should be and therefore could not win by sulking, but only by apologizing and promising to be good.

The Shires boy needed his job more than Mr. Comiskey needed him for the job, so presently, he walked into the office, surrendered his flask and his bag of eating tobacco and signed articles containing some improvised equivalent of the morality clause which the moving picture magnates imposed on their people after a deplorable run of social homicides in Hollywood.

Mr. Comiskey has ceased to regard himself as a sporting character and become an industrialist with jobs to offer to sober men of quiet behavior, and as insistent upon the private virtues as Henry Ford. From now on, I take, he will appeal to his customers not for loyalty and that joyous adulation which the baseball patrons used to yield to the athletes, but only for patronage.

Frankly, They Are Mere Job Holders.

Certainly no man can expect such enthusiasm when he frankly makes the point that his employes are mere jobholders on the pay roll of a private corporation, because this is bound to dispel the illusion of heroism. Nor can a player carry himself as a sporting hero before people who are thus given to understand that he is no hero, but only, like themselves, a fellow with a job and a boss to bawl him out.

As a public figure, the athlete is in a position to appeal to the devotion of the patrons, but to succeed in the imposture, he must be allowed to color his wreck with the tints of his personality, all of which, in Shires' case, are red. Forbidden to express himself and held strictly to the performance of routine duties, without flourishes or by-play, the Great Shires will become merely C. A. Shires; color, white; age, 23; employed in the baseball works of a big firm doing business in Chicago and having no more public position than J. J. Dokes, color, white; age, 23, employed in the works of a corporation engaged in the manufacture of motor parts.

Magnates Less Candid In Other Days.

I realize, of course, that this has always been so in the baseball business, but the magnates were less candid in other days and the customers were permitted to enjoy a very pleasant illusion in which the athletes figured as gay and privileged characters.

The customers envied their apparent independence and waited at the clubhouse gates when the games were over to watch them enviously as they swaggered out. The employers, on their part, appreciated the business value of this harmless misapprehension and for a long time did nothing to correct it, believing, no doubt, that if they reduced their workmen to the level of workmen in the public fancy, then the public might be no more curious to see them leave the job at night than to see the day shift leaving some plant at the steel mills.

Barring his sun-tan, his diamond ring and his neck shave, the ball player looks much the same as other employes when he skins off his overalls and gets into his street clothes, as he calls them, to leave the works after the game.

Fact-Facing Will Have Evil Influence.

Being neither a stockholder nor a cash customer, perhaps I am speaking out of turn about this matter, but I do wish Mr. Comiskey would be more tactful in his dealings with the young men who work for his wages. This sort of fact-facing is bound to have a sedative influence on the customers of professional sport in all its phases, and when the customers finally do come to regard the athletes as common employes and no more glamorous than their own humble selves they may cease to be customers.

This would have an unpleasant effect on the sport-writing industry, and that is reason enough for me to deplore Mr. Comiskey's candor in his determination to debunk the Shires boy.

It seems agreed that the Shires boy was altogether too noisy and fractious last year and good order in Mr. Comiskey's ball club undoubtedly required that he be sat upon before the 1930 season begins. But it seems unnecessary to quash him flat.

The civilization of the baseball business has progressed a long way since the time when Mr. Comiskey himself adorned the game. Those were drinking and fighting days, when the long bar beneath the grand stand was as familiar in the appointments of the major league park as the hot dog and peanut dispensaries of the present. Last year I studied an old bound volume of the Police Gazette and decided that Charles Emerson-Orme Team Beaten, 40-19, by Yearlings.

Boys Club Fives Win and Lose in Post's Court Tourney.

ANOTHER challenger—the Central Y. M. C. A. Five—fell before the champion Woltz Photographer Team in the District A. A. U. championship tournament at Tech High School, 56 to 28. The Woltz victory was not unexpected but the decisiveness of the score came as a surprise to the large crowd in attendance.

By virtue of this victory, the Woltzmen advance to the semifinal round to meet the winner of the contest tonight between the Montrose A. C. and Jewish Community Center teams.

Earlier games saw the George Washington Freshmen defeat the Emerson & Orme Pirates, after the latter had given the Collegians an early scare, 40 to 19; the De Luxe Five gained a narrow 30-to-26 decision over the Boys Club Optimists in a 145-pound class semifinal contest, and the Boys Club Optimists gain a decisive 36-to-16 verdict over the Ambassadors in a 100-pound class semifinal.

The Red Triangle Quintet was unable to keep pace with the fast passing and accurate shooting Photographers, who returned to top form after an ordinary game in their last appearance against the Calvary Drakes.

Emerson & Orme Five Strong for Half.

Held in check for half of the contest, the George Washington Freshmen's offensive began to function successfully in the final fifteen minutes of play and the plucky Emerson & Orme Five, comprised almost entirely of present and former scholastic stars, was forced to submit to a trouncing.

The Colonial Yearlings were off to a good lead, 9 to 3, at the end of ten minutes, but the Emerson & Orme Cagers rallied to tie the score at 9 to 9 and take an 11-to-10 lead at intermission. Carlin, Wells, Burgess and Conner all figured prominently in the late spurt of the Collegians. The combination of McCullough, Cross, Noonan and Lampson carried much of the battle for the vanquished team.

By winning, the Freshmen earned the right to meet the Potomac Boat Club Quintet in the semifinals of the unlimited title scrap.

Castell and Hook Decide Outcome.

Two Boys Club teams, put on a spirited battle in the 145-pound class semifinal contest. The De Luxe Five scored a 30-to-26 victory after 40 minutes packed with thrills over the Boys Club Optimists. The teams alternated in the lead almost from the start and not until Castell and Sam Hook netted the ball in the last 2 minutes of play was the De Luxe superiority determined.

Six times the rival teams knotted and unknotted the score. The De Luxe Five led after 10 minutes of play, 6 to 5, but the score was tied, 11 to 11, at intermission. Again, at the 30-minute margk, the county was even at 18 to 18. With 2 minutes to go, the Optimists had a 26-to-25 ad-

Shires, Penitent, Signs With White Sox For $7,500, Explaining His Ring Career

Faces Fight to Displace Clancy From First Base Job.

Thoroughly penitent, the "great one" capitulated to all demands made by Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, and was rewarded with immediate reinstatement and a contract calling for $7,500 a year, or exactly $17,500 less than he once named as his price for helping the team out of the doldrums of the American League.

When Shires left his Texxas home last week he said he was through with the White Sox and would play semipro baseball this summer and attempt to get on the voluntary retired list. En route, however, he received some advice from some of baseball's older heads and thought again. Today he strolled into the White Sox offices, answered the questions Owner Comiskey had asked relative to his difficulties in the prize ring during the winter, promised to desist from fighting in and out of the ring and his contract and suspension troubles were over.

He left immediately for Texas. He will go home first and then report to Manager Donie Bush at the San Antonio, Tex., camp for duty.

Comiskey Negotiates By Proxy.

Comiskey did not see the belligerent White Sox first sacker today, but carried on his negotiations by proxy through Secretary Harry Grabiner. Secretary Grabiner refused to divulge what Shires' answers were to Comiskey's three questions on his prize-fighting troubles, which were:

1. Who accused you of wrong doing while in the boxing game?
2. Who suspended you?
3. Who produced the evidence that caused your reinstatement?

Shires was accused of attempting to "fix" a match with Battling Criss in Detroit, but was exonerated by the Michigan State Athletic Commission. Later, "Dangerous Dan" Daly, his first knockout victim in the ring, charged he took a "dive" by request, and the Illinois Athletic Commission opened an investigation. Daly failed to appear at the hearing, however, and Shires was again exonerated. Daly was suspended for life in Illinois.

Faces Fight to Win First Base Job.

"I'm in the pink and ready for the gong," Shires said as he stuffed the contract in his pocket and started back to Texas.

The "Great One" may have another fight on his hands when he gets to the White Sox camp, however, as "Bud" Clancy has been playing a great game at first and his hitting has been pleasing to Manager Bush, who believes he can cure Clancy of his habit of getting the "Hitless Blues" during midseason. Shires hit .312 last season until he was suspended for giving black eyes to Russell "Rena" Blackburne, then manager, and Traveling Secretary Lou Barbour.

His signing marked the last of the 1930 White Sox holdouts, as Outfielder Alex Metzler reported last week.

EAGLE NINE MEETS.

A meeting of all candidates for the Anacostia Eagle Unlimited Nine will be held at the home of Nolan Murphy, Congress Heights, Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Hitting the Baseball Trail

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees and Boston Braves bade farewell to their training camp today, with the American Leaguers taking the last game of the series, 6 and 5, in twelve innings. The Braves, however, won the series, 5 games to 4.

After Lazerri had put the Yanks out in front with a home run in the first inning that scored two men ahead of him, the National League representatives came from behind to take the lead only to have the Yanks tie the score in the eighth. Two passes and a wild pitch by Bruce Cunningham, coupled with Chapman's sacrifice fly, gave the New Yorkers the winning run in the twelfth.

Jolley's Double Wins For White Sox.

San Antonio, Tex., March 25 (A.P.). Smead Jolley's double, scoring Kerr from second in the ninth, gave the White Sox a 13-to-12 victory over the San Antonio Indians in a free-hitting game today.

The White Sox belted a trio of San Antonio pitchers, for twelve hits, while their pitchers, Bob Weiland and "Dutch" Henry, were found for ten. Ten errors were made by the teams during the loose game, six of them by the Indians and four by the White Sox.

Triple Play Aids Cubs To Beat Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, March 25 (A.P.).—George Bell, angular rookie hurler from Mobile, pitched a mid-season game today and, aided by a triple play and bunch hitting by his mates, he led the Cubs to an 8-to-0 victory over Los Angeles.

Bell pitched the entire route and permitted but six hits, most of them scattered. His only trouble came in the second inning, when a triple play came to his rescue. In the first Riggs Stephenson hit a homer, scoring two ahead of him.

Jim Bottomley suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning and Ernie Orsatti took his place at first base. Frankie Frisch made his first appearance of the season in the Cardinal line-up at third base.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 25 (A.P.).—Having survived what he called the hardest job in his life, the giving of a baseball talk over a national radio hookup, Connie Mack has buckled down to real baseball work for the remaining days he will spend directing the training of his Athletics here.

Connie began today giving serious consideration to the choosing of 25 athletes who will be members of the Philadelphia American League Team this year. It was said he may know by Friday, when he starts for home, which candidates have made the grade.

Oakland Pounds Kremer To Beat Pirates.

Tight Defense Aim Of Wagner.

Pensacola, Fla., March 5 (A.P.).—Manager Heinie Wagner believes that his Boston Red Sox players will have to outsmart their American League rivals this season if they want to get anywhere. Wagner concedes that his club is weak at the bat, but believes that the Red Sox pitching will be good.

"Our power is not great," Wagner said today, "so we will have to be a very tight defensive club to win a decent percentage of our games."

Yankees Sell Heimach, Pitcher, to Toledo Club

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 25 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees today announced the sale of Fred Heimach, southpaw, to the Toledo Club of the American Association. The pitcher came up to the Yankees two years ago from St. Paul after a previous big time trial with the Athletics and Red Sox.

Goslin Deal Talk About Brown Camp

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 25 (A.P.).—Rain and cold weather this afternoon caused the calling off of the practice game between the St. Louis Browns and the House of David Team.

With nothing to do, the Browns spent the afternoon discussing how one more slugger would put them in the pennant race. Regardless of what the management thinks about it, most of the players are hopeful that Goose Goslin will come from Washington to aid their attack. Reports of a deal for Goslin have been discussed freely, but nothing has come of them.

Penn Boxing Captain In Serious Condition

Philadelphia, March 25 (A.P.).—Oliver Horne, of New York City, captain of the University of Pennsylvania Boxing Team, was said by his physician at the university hospital to be in a serious condition today, following an operation last night for a dural hemorrhage.

Horne was taken to the students' ward of the hospital for rest and observation as a result of a beating he received in a bout with William Struble, of Pennsylvania State College, in the intercollegiate championships last Saturday.

The hemorrhage was between the brain and the brain tissue. Horne was saved by the bell from a probable knockout at the end of the third round of his hard battle with Struble.

Football Body Acts to Curb Trickery

Rule Makers Order Longer Pause Before Shifts.

"Unsportsmanlike" Camouflaging of Uniforms Hit.

By TED VOSBURGH.

NEW YORK, March 25 (A.P.).—Finding that some teams last fall were beating the stop rule on shift plays and others were wearing equipment the same color as the ball to trick opponents, the national football rules committee today announced definite action to curb these practices. These were the most important results of the annual session of the rule makers for 1930.

Instead of "approximately one second," the stop period on shift plays was changed to "a period of at least one second."

The count roughly measuring this moment of pause was increased from four to six and the referee was empowered to carry a split-second watch to assure himself that the rule is being observed.

Four pairs of eyes instead of one or two will be on a constant lookout for any and all violations of the rules next year, under a provision giving the referee, umpire, field judge and linesman "concurrent" jurisdiction over all fouls.

Referee to Act as Final Judge.

Under the old code there were certain fouls which the referee was to look out for and others for which one of his fellow officials was solely responsible.

The referee will act as the final judge should any conflict of testimony or opinion arise.

Deploring "unsportsmanlike tendencies" as represented by the use of camouflage in designing uniforms, the committee adopted a resolution which "deprecates the use of head protectors, jerseys or attachments which are similar in color to the ball that they give the wearers an unfair and unsportsmanlike advantage over their opponents."

The resolution further "suggests that if such head protectors are worn, the solid color be broken by at least two cross stripe of a markedly contrasting color at least two inches in width, and that the solid color of such jerseys or attachments be definitely broken by stripes or numbers of markedly contrasting color."

Ingenious Abuses of Rules Noted.

The committee felt that this statement, which will appear in the 1930 rule book simply as a resolution, will be sufficient to stop the abuse but if not it is planned to make it a mandatory regulation in 1931.

Some of the most ingenious abuses since the "bootleg football" evil of 1928, when "snouted" balls designed for passing were widely distributed to teams stressing an aerial attack, led to the committee's action.

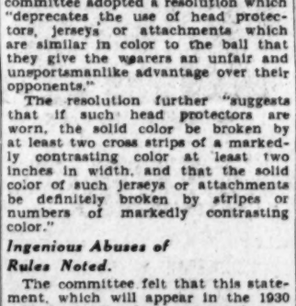
One well known halfback last fall, a member of the committee said, made a practice of wearing a headgear which had no chin strap and which would roll like a football which it closely resembled in color. Just before he was tackled this player would dislodge his headgear to make it appear that he had fumbled.

Another case mentioned was that of a team which wore elbow pads of the same color as a football, causing no little confusion for opponents.

Stewards Suspend Palumbo Until June 1

Jefferson Park Race Track, March 25 (A.P.).—Jockey S. Palumbo, whose ride on the Reuter Stable's Galahad, heavy favorite in a race here Saturday, occasioned much criticism, was today suspended until June 1 by the stewards of the local track. Palumbo kept Galahad many lengths off the pace and also guided his mount in the inside in the worst going throughout the race which caused many favorite players to grind their teeth in disgust. Galahad finally finished second to Klingstone.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT



FEET ARE PARALELL WITH LINE OF FLIGHT IN THE CLOSED STANCE

What is the position of the feet in the closed stance?

Answered by AL ESPINOSA

The closed stance is that in which the player stands with both feet parallel to the line of flight of the ball.

I am of the opinion that this is the best stance for the ordinary golfer.

Columbia Elects Negro Captain of Basket Ball

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—George Gregory, Negro center of the Columbia Basket Ball Team, today was elected captain for the 1930-1931 season. Gregory has been selected as center on the all-Star Five of the Eastern Intercollegiate League for the past two years. He is a product of Dewitt Clinton High School, of New York City.

Grand National Field, Reduced by 2, Now 47

London, March 25 (A.P.).—The scratching of Rhyticere and Sanders today reduced the probable starting field in the Grand National to 47. The elimination of Rhyticere, which is owned by Victor Emmanuel, also cut the American representation in the 4-mile classic over the Aintree course to four.

Smith at Pinehurst For North-South Open

Pinehurst, N. C., March 25 (A.P.).—Horton Smith, the stalwart blonde golfing youth from Cragston, N. Y., arrived here today to defend his title in the twenty-eighth annual North and South open championship tournament which gets under way at Pinehurst Country Club, Thursday. Smith is fresh from notable achievements in the South, his latest being to take second money of $2,500 in the La Gorce open in Florida.

The 72-hole event will occupy two days, finishing Friday afternoon. It is expected the entry list will go over the hundred mark.

Diegel to Play Mitchell For World's Pro Crown

San Diego, Calif., March 25 (A.P.). Arrangements were completed here today for a world's professional championship golf match between Leo Diegel, golf pro of the Agua Caliente Golf Club and American prochampion, and Abe Mitchell, champion of the British professionals.

The match will call for three meetings between Mitchell and Diegel. Each will be a one-day round of 36 holes. The first two matches will be played May 22 and 27 in England over courses yet to be selected. The third match will be staged at a date to be selected later but prior to the British open of June.

Diegel will leave Agua Caliente about April 20 for New York and will sail for England early in May.

Local Pigeon Fanciers Banquet Saturday Night

Maj. Gen. George S. Gibbs, of the United States Army Signal Corps, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Washington Racing Pigeon Club, which will be held Saturday night at the New Amsterdam Hotel. Over 150 fanciers, including some of the country's most prominent pigeon men, will be present, according to W. F. Dismer, vice president of the Columbia Heights Business Men's Association, who is chairman of the banquet.

Gen. Gibbs will exhibit during the evening two reels of films taken in France during the war, including photos of the Lost Battalion, which was saved by the winged messengers. A record of delivering 97 per cent of their messages was made by the birds. Besides Gen. Gibbs, those who will be the guests of the Washington fanciers are Walter Schmitt, president of the American Racing Pigeon Union; John T. McLain, vice president of the International Federation; Charles F. Hoser, publisher of the Racing Pigeon News, and Thomas Ross, pigeon expert of the United States Army at Fort Monmouth.

Harry C. Burke, for many years president of the International Federation, will act as the toastmaster.

GAME FOR KNICKERBOCKERS.

The Knickerbocker Midgets will play a game Sunday at 9 o'clock on the East Ellipse Diamond. Sacks, Martin, Upright, Bolwell, Pistolas, Rowzie, Weinbeigher, Pooley, Butt and Richardson are asked to report.

O'BRIEN NINE STARTS.

The C. A. O'Brien Nine will hold its first drill Sunday on Monument Lot No 7, at 11 o'clock. The following are asked to report: Bussink, Raffo, Gubisch, Franke, Hall, George Brew, Wiles, Malinoff, Richardson, McLarney, Rafferty. Johnny Wiles is booking games at North 1599.

Heated Action In Amateur Fights

Three J. C. C. Boxers Win by Technical Knockouts.

By JACK ESPEY.

FIVE knockouts, four of the technical variety, featured the program of preliminary bouts opening the first annual District of Columbia Association A. A. U. boxing championships last night before a capacity audience in the City Club Auditorium.

Of the 16 bouts scheduled, nine were fought, six were forfeited and one failed to materialize due to the failure of the contestants to appear.

As a result of the first night's activities, the slate of survivors for the semifinals to be held tomorrow night at Knights of Columbus Hall shows eight boxers of the City Club, seven of the Jewish Community Center, three of the Knights of Columbus and three with no affiliation.

Pairings for the semifinals will be announced tomorrow morning. There will be no semifinals in the flyweight, welterweight or heavyweight divisions owing to the fact that only two competitors remain ni those classes. The finals will be staged next Monday night at the Jewish Community Center.

Mirman Scores Clean Knockout.

The fans fortunate enough to secure tickets to the preliminaries under the rule restricting admissions to members of the competing organizations were rewarded with plenty of heated action. Championship aspirations were demonstrated plainly with all sorts of wallops, the fierceness of the fighting being amply attested by the five knockouts.

Gus Mirman, rugged southpaw welterweight of the Jewish Community Center, scored the only real knockout when he dropped Benny Hall, City Club, with a right to the jaw at close quarters. The blow surprised not only Hall but the spectators as well for previously the J. C. C. boy had been relying solely on his left. Hall had the better of an early slugging exchange.

Technical knockouts were registered by Leon Shub, J. C. C. bantamweight; Harry Allen, J. C. C. featherweight; Eric Sonnichsen, K. of C. welterweight, and Paul Grissett, Clyt Club, middleweight.

Boos Greet Decisions In Two Bouts.

Among the four decision victories was a surprise verdict won by Harry Winters, City Club lightweight, who gained the judges' verdict over Leo Covaleski, veteran of the K. of C. and George Washington University. Other decisions were won by Nevins Barbee, K. of C. featherweight; John Ryon, City Club featherweight, and John Peruzzi, City Club middleweight.

Boos greeted the decisions favoring Winters and Peruzzi. Many observers thought that Covaleski had earned the verdict from Winters on the strength of his strong finish, while Peruzzi's holding tactics against Warren Van Sciver, a novice competing unattached, turned popular favor to the loser. Van Sciver forced the fightingthroughout and caused the judges to order an extra round, but he was unableto land any effective punches.

Barber, in the featherweight class, performed impressively in outpointing Harry Haas, City Club, after the latter had taken the first round by a shade. Haas, strictly a counter-fighter, caught Barber with several uppercuts in the opening session, but thereafter absorbed a terrific body beating.

900 HORSES ON SCENE FOR 11-DAY BOWIE MEETING

Lang on Scene With 3 Horses, Expecting to Add More.

WITH the arrival yesterday of six carloads of horses from Cuba, there are now in the neighborhood of 900 horses at Bowie awaiting the opening of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association's eleven-day spring meeting on April 1.

As there are many New York stables due in within the next 48 hours, not to mention the outfits coming on from various winter tracks, it is a certainty that everyone of the available 1,100 stalls will have an occupant by Saturday afternoon.

The horsemen arriving today from Cuba were: Chick Lang, C. R. Fleischman, Ernio Myatt, J. Y. Chrisomas, G. Alexander, Arthur Brent, P. B. Codd, A. Ahearn, D. Leonard, G. McNamara and C. C. Smithson.

Chick Lang, former rider of Reigh Count, who had fair success at New Orleans, before shipping to Cuba, returned here with three horses. However, he expects to add to his string via the claiming route.

Nevada Stock Farm's Siskin Arrives.

R. F. Carmen, jr., had the Nevada Stock Farm's speedy Siskin out on the track for the first time yesterday. The 2-year-old son of Epinard is a keen looking thoroughbred and horsemen are all anxiously awaiting the day when he is asked for a speed test.

Prince D'Amour, who will vie with Siskin for the 2-year-old purses, looks and acts well and shows no signs of being bothered by the trip from New Orleans.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOLD RIDGE, $7.10, $4.10, $3.60; COY, $8.70, $5.10; FINLAND, $4.30.

GOLD RIDGE, slightly outpaced early, moved up stoutly on the outside in the final quarter and, under hard riding, was up in time. COY opened wide lead and held on well. FINLAND unseated rider on way to the barrier, was caught, returned and ran good race. SEMPER FELIX showed good effort. The reins on TURKEY'S NECK broke and the boy dismounted.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:17½. Off at 5:18. Winner, N. Deathrage's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BILL PHILLIPS, $20.10, $6.40, $5.00; TORCHER, $11.20, $7.70; TURF KING, $3.70.

BILL PHILLIPS, reserved close up through the early stages, took lead in the stretch and, responding gamely to hard urging, held TORCHER safe. The latter made a resolute bid, but was not quite good enough. TURF KING, away well, dropped back in the first quarter and, after encountering early difficulties, moved into contention entering the stretch, but hung under punishment when clear.

JOHNSON DRIVES PITCHERS DESPITE RAIN AND SNOW

Hadley to Go Full Route at Memphis

Johnson's Plan Is to Work Marberry in Short Shifts.

Seeks to Place Powell and Phelps in Minor League.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 25. Weather conditions here today reminded the Nats of Washington. Rain and winds last night and more rain this morning with a few flakes of snow falling at times, made the usual practice session impossible, although Manager Walter Johnson had his pitchers on hand at Engel Stadium and all worked out under the stands and along the sidelines.

Johnson is following out his preseason plans with respect to Fred Marbery and Irving Hadley, his two fast-ballers, whom he guarantees to have at top form by the time the season starts so that they can carry the staff along while the others are getting acclimated to the colder weather which they will encounter when they leave here for the East. These two flingers are being brought along by different methods, however. Marberry and Irving Hadley, his two faster when being used often in short shifts and is drawing assignments frequently, being scheduled to share the mound duties with Hadley and possibly Don Savidge against the Chattanooga Team here tomorrow. Hadley will then lay off until Sunday, when he will be asked to go the route against the Chicks in Memphis, and he will be expected to take at least one other long shift between now and the 1930 season's opener against the Boston Red Sox.

Savage to Get Test In Game Today.

The use of Savidge tomorrow has been decided upon in order that this youngster may get a chance to show exactly what he can do. His case is somewhat puzzling to Johnson in that he looks particularly good some days while flinging to batters and appears to be merely a thrower at other times. With enough tried and true flingers on hand indications are that Savidge will not be with the club this season, but if he shows enough ability strings may be kept on him when he is placed in the minors, possibly here with Joe Engel's team.

Two others not likely to see their names in the box scores during the regular season are Catcher Gordon Phelps and Outfielder Alvin Powell. These youngsters, who might be considered Washington boys, Phelps hailing from Bowie and Powell from Takoma, have made good to as great an extent as might be reasonably expected, in view of the fact that they played sandlot ball last year.

Both have impressed with their natural ability, but they need polishing and the only way they can get it is by playing day in and day out. As this would be impossible were they retained. President Clark Griffith is now trying to place them in a league of low enough classification to assure them action every day. They will be put out on option and, if they do the expected, the strings will be pulled and they will be yanked back for 1931 consideration.

Both Are Hitting Ball Hard.

Both are hitting the ball hard, while Powell has shown himself to be quite a fly chaser. Phelps, the big catcher, who is built along the lines of Bob (Pats) Fothergill, of the Tigers, has worked off much of his surplus fat and has shown himself to be particularly fast for a big man, with plenty of spring in his legs and good action.

Catcher Cliff Bolton, the youngster who has proved himself to be a demon hitter since he graduated from the High Point High School three seasons ago, is showing plenty of stick power with the Lookouts. He is one of Nats' optioned players and Manager Johnson is quite disappointed at the fact that indications are that he will not be used behind the bat regularly. He needs work to gain experience, but Ed Kenna, former Nat, has been obtained from Minneapolis and it looks as though he will do the lion's share of the backstopping for the Engels.

Myer's Ailin Arm Improving.

Second Baseman Buddie Myer's ailing arm has been responding to Trainer Martin's treatments and there is a possibility of him playing in at least part of the game tomorrow.

There was considerable discussion in the hotel lobby this afternoon among the players regarding a hole-in-one registered by one of the guests. In the midst of it, Outfielder Sam Rice broke down and confessed that he registered one at Hot Springs last month. It was made on a par 3, 165-yard hole, the ball landing on the green from the tee shot and making a bee line for the pin.

In recent exhibition games in which the Nats have figured there have been a number of long flies which have been recorded as sacrifices, thus saving the batter being charged a time at bat, which merely have advanced runners a base and have not been responsible for runs.

The question of the fairness of the strict application of the sacrifice fly rule in cases of this kind has been brought up on several previous occasions. Umpire Roy Van Grafian, here with the Nats, states that the rule likely will be amended in time to apply to 1931 so that long flies will only be considered as sacrifice ones when runners score after the catch. "This was discussed at the meeting between the umpires and President Barnard, of the American League," says Van Grafian, "and Mr. Barnard plans to take it up with the baseball rules committee and is confident that an amendment will be made."

Pitcher Garland Braxton, who has been at his North Carolina home having some infected teeth extracted is expected to rejoin the Nationals here tomorrow.

Hampden-Sidney Nine Opens Against Drexel

Special to The Washington Post.

Hampden-Sidney, Va., March 26.—Rounding into shape after daily workouts for about two weeks, the Hampden-Sidney hurlers move into action Thursday afternoon against the Drexel Institute Nine at 3 o'clock on the Death Valley Diamond.

The Tigers have scrapped for places at every practice session, but not until tomorrow afternoon will it be certain who will be on the line-up as the Bernier men make their bow to the fans.

Aspirants for the hot corner have waged an especially close fight for the bench, and Adams, the most experienced third-sacker, will have a hard time holding back Toone, Smith and Root, who have been pushing him hard in practice workouts.

The slate for the Tiger tossers' opener, judging from practice games, will probably read: Price, right field; Willis, shortstop; K. Crawley, first base; Capt. Lawson, center field; Knight, second base; Adams, third base; Kendig, left field; Lineweaver or Jefferson catching and Hunt or J. Crawley on the mound.

Waresneck, Va., Dog Wins All-Age Trials

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., March 25.—The final test of the two-day trials of the Virginia Amateur Field Trial Association for puppies and older dogs of all ages was concluded this afternoon. The trial of the younger dogs was held yesterday at Camp Lee where the trial of the older dogs took place today in the presence of a large crowd.

Thirteen dogs were entered for the contest which was won by Duke of Gloucester, owned by C. H. Alexander, of Waresneck, Va. The judges were Ford E. Yeung, of Washington, D. C., and Matthew Trimble, of Kensington, Md. There were forty riders.

FIREMEN START BALL LEAGUE

Representatives of the various fire departments affiliated with the Arlington-Fairfax Firemen's Association will meet at Cherrydale tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organizing a baseball league. Departments interested should have a representative at this meeting.

TEXACO MIDGETS ACTIVE.

The Texaco Midgets will play the St. Joe's nine Sunday at 1 o'clock on Diamond No. 7. The following are asked to report to Manager Ray Robertson tomorrow at 7 p. m.: Yeo, Acquilina, Sylvester, Perlimbia, Pama, Longo, Basiliko, Bovello, Ricucci, Chite, Perusso, Grasianla. The team is in need of left-handed pitchers and all candidates are to report to Robertson at 1411 North Capitol street.

POTOMAC NINE READY.

The Potomac A. C. is booking games with strong senior nines. Call Bob Farrell at Cleveland 3063 between 7 and 8 p. m.

WONDER BOYS PLAY.

The Wonder Boys will meet the Whirlwind Insects Saturday at 1 o'clock on the West Ellipse. Games being booked by Manager William Poole at Lincoln 6459-W.

COMET PEEWEES PLAY.

The Comet Peewees, who opened the season by beating the Wardman Nine, will play the Wizards on Saturday at the Reservoir Diamond. For games with the Peewees, call George Sullivan at Georgia 1289.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 25.—The Whitestone Basket Ball Team will play the Washington United Typewriter Grays here tomorrow night in the Armory Hall, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

The St. Mary's Celtics Baseball Team held another workout yesterday afternoon and will continue to drill daily. Manager Lemeric is pleased with the showing of the boys thus far. The new players who have shown ability are Lefty Gettman, a pitcher; Charlie Sadelle, a catcher, formerly of the old Dreadnaught Team, and Paul Gardner, an infielder from Fort Humphreys, who is expected to give the last years' veterans a battle for their jobs. Only one new outfielder has been added to the list, Billy Padgett, former Columbia Engine Co. star. With "Doc" Driefus, Charley Horne, Douglas Hewitt and Ralph Hamilton available on the mound, the local should go a long way in baseball this year. The infielders and outfielders who have returned are Bussy Brenner, Louis Hicks, Joe Hamilton, Art Ludlow, Leon Riley, Capt. Billy Langford, Ellett Cabell, Dave Bayliss and Jimmy Bradley. The Celtics will open their schedule next week, playing the Reading International Team.

Leon Riley, an Alexandria boy who has been playing professional baseball for the last three years, is working in Washington. He expects to play with the St. Mary's Celtics on Sunday and holidays, but does not expect to enter organized baseball again. He played with Norfolk, in the Virginia League; Raleigh, in the Piedmont League, and other clubs.

A new plan has been started at the local high school to create interest in baseball with a team on which freshmen are eligible to play. Clayton Seyphers, one of the high school teachers, has taken charge of the boys and about 35 freshmen reported to him yesterday afternoon for the first drill. Since the spring sport has been a losing proposition for the last three or four years, Coach Reynolds is pleased with the idea.

The Rotary Club, of this city, made a clean sweep of the fifteen-game match with the Kiwanis Club last night. With Jack Tullock leading the Rotary Club in scoring, his team was not pressed. He was also high-point man for the night with 114-pin game. The next time the two clubs meet will be on the golf course in the summer.

The Alexandria High School Baseball Team is fast rounding into shape for their opening game to be played on Thursday afternoon when Coach Reynolds takes his Maroon and White players to Fort Humphreys to meet the post team there.

Roanoke Net Team To Engage 12 Foes

Special to The Washington Post.

Salem, Va., March 25.—A schedule of 12 matches is being concluded by the manager of the Roanoke College tennis teams for the coming season. Four of the matches will be played at home.

The schedule is as follows:

Women's Scores High As Rain Hits Tourney

Southern Pines, N. C., March 25 (A.P.).—A driving rainstorm this afternoon, following intermittent showers during the morning, caused tournament officials at the Midsouth women's golf tournament here to call off today's second-round play.

Several of the leading players, including Glenna Collett, Marion Bennett and Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, were caught in the rain and turned in high scores.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, yesterday's leader, added a sparkling 76 today to her 78 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 154.

Players who finished their round today before the downpour will be allowed to retain their scores tomorrow if they desire, it was announced.

Miss Collett, who had a miserable 86 today, announced she would not take advantage of the ruling.

Ambassadors Victims Of B. C. Optimists.

Unable to meet the pace set by the Boys Club Optimists, the Ambassadors took a decisive 36-to-16 setback in a 100-pound class semifinal. The victory sends the Optimists into the finals against the Jewish Community Center Spartans.

The outcome of this contest was evident from the start. The Optimists ran up a 10-to-1 lead in ten minutes and were in front, 14 to 3, at half time.

Peruzze, of the victors, and Geldman, of the Ambassadors, were outstanding in the play of their respective teams.

Americans Figure In Oxford Golf Win

Hoylake, England, March 25 (A.P.). Oxford, captained by a stalwart young American supported by two other husky golfers from the United States, today won the first half of its forty-seventh annual contest with Cambridge, taking the foursomes, four matches to one. The Oxonians tomorrow need to win only four of the ten singles matches to register their first triumph over Cambridge since 1925.

Robert H. Baugh, jr., Birmingham, Ala., captain of the Oxford Team, gave a great exhibition in golf.

Baugh and Charles Sweeney, another American, had an easy time winning their 36-hole match from Eric Prain, captain of the Cambridge Team, and H. C. Longhurst, 10 up and 8 to play.

Harry Scheftel, an American, with A. C. Marbles as a partner, defeated a Cambridge pair, I. K. McCrosty and R. B. Beare, 3 up and 1 to play.

INDUSTRIALS' CLIMB MARKS STOCK SALES

BETHLEHEM STEEL IS UP

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—Bulls ran headlong into a bear pit in today's stock market, in their blind haste to celebrate passage of the tariff bill by the Senate, and the more cheerful tone of reports from the steel trade.

A roaring bull market that delayed the ticker nearly an hour delevoped in the early hours of the session, but the late ticker gave the bears their chance. Boardroom traders are still a little jumpy after the trying experiences of comparatively recent months, and with operations obscured by the late ticker, they had only to hear reports from the floor that a few issues were selling off to be stampeded into taking their profits.

Closing quotations displayed a fairly even mixture of gains and losses. The price index of 50 representative industrials closed a shade higher, recording a new high for 1930, but this was more than offset by a drop exceeding 2 points in the price index of 20 utilities. Trading tapered off considerably on the decline, but total sales aggregated 4,526,050, about 100,000 below the year's record.

Credit Rates Decline.

Credit conditions eased a little, call money sagging to 3½ per cent after renewing at 4. Bankers' acceptance rates, however, were substantially increased, dealers finding that the reductions of last week had been a little too drastic. Bankers felt that conditions promised a plentiful supply of call money at reasonable rates for some time to come, but the firmer tone in bankers' acceptances, together with continued strength in sterling exchange, made it seem less likely that the Federal Reserve Bank will again follow the action of the Bank of England in reducing its rate.

F. W. Dodge's weekly building contract statistics were the most cheerful in a long time, showing a total volume of construction contracted during the week ended last Friday 29 per cent above the total of the previous week, and nearly as much above the like week of last year. Reports from the steel trade indicated that United States Steel was maintaining operations at 80 per cent of capacity this week, the first week in three that operations have not been curtailed. Operations of other steel companies, in the aggregate, declined only slightly. Estimates of crude oil production for last week indicate continued success in curtailment.

The early bull movement carried about 100 issues to new high levels for the year, including such issues as United States Steel, American Can, Eastman Kodak and American Telephone. Several issues presented isolated points of strength during the late selling, including Standard of New Jersey, Bethlehem Steel, Colorado Fuel & Iron, Air Reduction, and A. M. Byers, which closed 2 to 6 points higher, and close to their best levels of the day

Western Union Slumps.

Vanadium shot up 5 points, then dropped 10 from the top. Western Union dropped 12 points to a new 1930 low at 177, in response to the annual report, indicating a reduction in earnings this year. U. S. Steel closed off 2 points, and Pacific Lighting, Pacific Gas, J. I. Case, Underwood Elliott, Auburn, Goodyear, Standard Gas and Macy lost 2 to 3 points.

The selling movement reflected in part an increasing cautiousness in the tone of commission house advices. There has been a growing feeling among conservative observers that the advance has been proceeding too rapidly.

Commodities likewise turned downward. Wheat futures lost about 1 to 2 points, reflecting bearish foreign and domestic crop reports, and corn lost about half as much. The cotton market was somewhat unsettled, futures price closing irregular.

Sterling cables touched $4.87, up ½-cent, and the highest since early January.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 25 (A.P.).—Wheat prices suffered material setbacks today as a result of free selling and general slackening of demand. Snow falls throughout a large part of domestic winter wheat territory were taken as presaging an increased crop and much attention was given to announcement that world shipments of wheat have been reduced to the smallest total of any week since 1925. Forecasts that spring wheat acreage in the United States and Canada would be curtailed respectively 10 and 6 per cent were current, but as an offset to bearish factors, had little or no success.

Chicago closing prices were weak, ½ to 2¾ cents a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ½ to 1½ cents down. Oats ¾ to ⅝ cent off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

Persistent selling pressure that was manifest in wheat from the beginning widened out into something akin to a stop-loss flurry before trading was at an end. Relatively slow response which European quotations today made to advances yesterday on this side of the Atlantic did much to stimulate bearish sentiment here, and it was generally considered that the widespread heavy snows would be likely to benefit winter wheat by affording needed moisture, as well as protection against cold. Meanwhile, export purchases of North American wheat amounted to only about 450,000 bushels, and this total was presumed to be altogether Canadian wheat.

Active buying support from Farm Board allies came into play in the wheat pit after price downturns apparently threatened to become acute. The buying on the part of the Government-sponsored agencies did a good deal to steady the May deliver, but was comparatively ineffective as to the new crop months, July and September. Explicit notice that the Wheat Stabilization Corporation, an auxiliary of the Farm Board, did not contemplate shipping any unsold wheat to European markets was also helpful in upholding the May price, and apparently tended likewise to give more firmness to the Liverpool market today at the last. Buying of Chicago new crop futures deliveries was at low ebb, however, toward the close, which was at virtually the day's bottom level, with optimistic crop reports from Texas a particular bearish influence.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

BOND PRICES DROP NI ACTIVE MARKET

NEW RAIL ISSUES SEEN

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—Prices of numerous pivotal domestic bonds eased in an active market today. Several of the important rails lost as much as a point, while investment utilities, which ran a close race with the carriers in the bustling days of last week, also encountered selling. United States Government's closed from two to eight-thirty-seconds below the Monday final quotations.

The tendency of the market to seek lower ground was attributed largely to liquidation by banks. When money dropped to 2 per cent last week these institutions, which had been uninterested in bonds during the eighteen months prior to about February 1, bought with a rush, apparently in the belief, it was pointed out today, that a period of phenomenally cheap money had come for an indefinite sojourn. Subsequent developments indicated, however, that the low interest rates of last Thursday were only coincident with an unusual situation attendant upon the Treasury financing and the income tax payments, and with money back at 4 and 3½ per cent some of the securities purchased last week are finding their way back to the market.

American Telephone Declines.

Among the investment issues declining at least a point on fairly large turnovers were American Telephone 5½s, Rock Island 4½s, Great Northern 4½s, Missouri, Kansas, Texas prior lien 5s, New York Central 6s and 3½s, Montana Power 5s, the New Perre Marquette 4½s and Union Pacific 4½s. Losses of nearly a point appeared in International Telephone 5s, United States Rubber 5s, North American Edison 5s, Erie 5s and Chicago Great Western 4s. The last-named rallied briskly early in the session, but closed nearly 3 points under its top.

On the other hand, Chicago & Eastern Illinois 5s continued to show strength on reports of Van Sweringen purchases into the road. Green Bay & Wisconsin debenture "B" certificates sold up 2 points to 30, Keystone Telephone 5s rose 5, Florida East Coast 5s rallied 3 and Marion Steam Shovel 6s improved 6 points. Thus the little bullishness remaining in the market was in the low-priced issues.

Convertibles turned heavy in the late trading as stocks lost their gains. American Telephone 4½s made a new high since the market break by touching 169, but the closing price of 166¾ was ¾ below the previous final. Alleghany 5s of 1950 lost more than a point.

Baltimore & Ohio Drops.

There were fractional declines in Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, International Telephone 4½s, New Haven 6s, Texas Corporation 5s and Southern Pacific 4½s, with warrants.

Foreign bonds, on the whole, were well supported. Belgium 7s made the new high of 109½, closing a point higher. Austrian 7s likewise gained a point on the day. Listings of Chile were active, but inquiry was readily supplied and the improvement was small.

Two railroads revealed plans for new financing. The Virginian Railway, which has a $5,000,000 issue of 5s in its treasury, asked authority to replace it with a 4½ per cent loan. The Nickel Plate requested permission to sell a $12,000,000 issue of 4½s. Both are 50-year bonds and both will be offered at 94½.

DIRECTOR IS NAMED BY PHONE COMPANY

Former Rotary President, W. W. Everett, Will Assume Position.

TWO GAS FIRMS REPORT

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

William W. Everett, vice president and general manager of Woodward & Lothrop, a director of the American Security & Trust Co., and well known in local business circles, was elected a director of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. at a meeting of its board held yesterday. Mr. Everett is a former president of the Washington Board of Trade and the Rotary Club and is a member of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

The board authorized additions and improvements to the telephone system in the District of Columbia amounting to $436,265. This construction includes underground cable relief in the Adams-Columbia and west central office district. It also includes additions to buildings, outside plant, central office equipment and the installation of telephones and private branch exchange switchboard equipment. The total amount authorized for construction in the District of Columbia so far this year is $478,635.

Washington & Georgetown Gas Light Cos. filed their statements of operation for February yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission. Net income for the former company in February was $148,371.09, as compared with $130,426.03 in the same month last year, and that for the year to date was $214,794.18, as against $226,273.83 for the same period in 1929.

Operating Income Is $209,281.

Operating income for last month was $209,281.79, as compared with $188,596.69 in the month a year ago; gross corporate income was $210,960.39, as against $190,618.33, and gas sold was 628,005,818 cubic feet for the month, as compared with 618,348,692 in February, 1929.

The Georgetown company's net corporate income for February was $25,435.85, while in the month last year it was $16,822.36. A gain was also shown in that for the year to date, $46,134.65, that for the similar comparative period last year being $33,227.33.

A comparison of important items of its report for February, 1930, with those for the month last year follows, last month's figures being given first: Operating revenues, $105,819.14 and $98,729.56; operating expenses, $71,900.90 and $72,577.98; operating income, $29,374.66 and $20,660.95; gross corporate income, $30,523.18 and $21,884.72.

New Exchange Quarters Opened.

Many visitors attended the opening session of the Washington Stock Exchange in its new quarters on the sixth floor of the Washington Building yesterday, and an unusually large number of members was present when President George O. Walson opened the session. E. L. Hillyer, vice president; James M. Johnston, treasurer, and C. J. Gockeler, veteran secretary of the institution, were also in attendance.

The Washington Stock Exchange made its first call of securities November 6, 1881, in a building occupied by H. D. Cooke & Co., near the intersection of F and Fifteenth street northwest. Outlining the aims of the institution, George H. B. White, its first president, said that day, "the Washington Stock Exchange composed of well known, enterprising and successful citizens, should rank with the most honored of the country, and there is no doubt that its future history will show such a record."

How his prophecy was fulfilled is shown in the increase of its list from 34 to 123 issues, of this number 98 being regularly listed and 23 called once a week.

Curb Review

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—Trading on the New York Curb Exchange set a new high record for the year today with a turnover of 1,363,500 shares, but the bull movement, which sent scores of issues to new high levels for the year in the early trading, was checked in the last hour by a heavy volume of profit taking and short selling. In only a sprinkling of volatile issues were the day's gains entirely wiped out, although most of the leaders closed below their peak prices of the day. The previous record turnover was 1,346,200 shares on March 18.

Buying orders in today's market embraced a fairly broad list with the oils and utilities again giving the best demonstration of group strength. The early demand for stocks received its chief impetus from a lowering of the call money rate and the passage of the Senate tariff bill. The rapidity of the recent rise, however, obviously had weakened the technical position of many issues, and made them vulnerable to selling pressure.

United Gas issues were the leaders in point of activity, total transactions in the old and new stocks and warrants comprising about one-fifth of the day's entire volume of business. The old and new stocks closed with net gains of about a point each at 44⅜ and 27¾, respectively, after having set new high records about a point above those levels. Lone Star Gas touched a new high at 43½. Dixie Gas Utilities at 23 and American Natural Gas at 15½, with merger and expansion rumors again the chief background for the rise.

Electric Bond & Share was again a laggard, showing a net loss of 1⅜ points at 100⅜. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Hartford Electric and Pennsylvania Water & Power were pushed into new high ground. American Gas & Electric and American & Foreign Power Warrants turned heavy.

Oils made a further response to the reported reduction in crude oil production last week. Humble ran up more than 7 points to a new high at 114⅜, but lost nearly half its gain; Indian Territorial, Ohio Oil and Standard Oils of Indiana and Ohio also reached new high ground, while Gulf closed a point higher at 151 after having hit 154.

Revival of speculative activity in American Cyanamid B, based on predictions of record-breaking earnings for the year ended June 30 next, sent that stock to a new high at 37, but it dropped back to 35⅝, up 1 point net, at the close. Anglo-Chilean Nitrate, Consolidated Laundries, Deere & Co. issues, Merchants & Manufacturers A, Pacific Coast Biscuit issues, and Zonite were among the many other issues to sell at new peaks.

Investment Trust & Trading Corporation issues were irregular. General Realty & Utilities issues broke into new high ground, the annual report published after the close showing earnings of $1.62 a share last year with a profit of $565,209 reported on stocks sold since the first of the year. Tri-Continental common also attained a new top.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, March 25 (A.P.).—Rallies in cotton from a slight early decline reflected a renewal of covering by trade and speculative shorts in the old crop positions today, but the demand tapered off, and advances of some 11 to 22 points were followed by rather irregular fluctuations in the late trading. May contracts, after selling up from 15.44 to 15.71, closed at 15.60, compared with 15.49 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed steady 11 net advance on 11 points to a net decline of 6 points, with new-crop positions relatively easy.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 2 points. Some buying was reported on the steadier ruling of Liverpool, but there was a renewal of yesterday's selling movement which was supposed to include further realizing, liquidation and some selling for Southern account. This supplied the initial demand, and sent the active months about 2 to 5 points net lower during the early trading, with July easing off to 15.53 and the new October contracts to 15.16. Offerings tapered off on this decline, however, and the market developed renewed firmness on trade buying of the old-crop positions. This seemed to bring in more covering or rebuying by recent sellers, and the market, while not particularly active, showed considerable strength during the middle of the day.

July advanced to 15.78 and the new October contract to 15.32, or about 11 to 22 points above yesterday's closing quotations, after which the demand became less active and there were setbacks later in the day under realizing. Buyers of old crop positions were sellers of new crop months particularly in the late trading and at the close May was 45 points over the new October compared with a difference of 28 points at the close of the previous day.

Liverpool cables attributed the relatively steady ruling of that market to covering, trade calling, continental buying and a cessation of liquidation. They also said there had been a fair business in cotton cloths with the home trade and Australia, and reported an improved turnover in cotton yarns.

Trading in the current March position ended here at noon today, the last sale reported being at 15.55.

Port receipts, 8,051. United States port stocks 1,896,988. Exports 10,360, making 5,804,365 so far this season.

SEALED PROPOSALS, IN TRIPLICATE, will be received in the office of the Chief Clerk, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., until 2 p. m. April 7, 1930, and then opened, for concrete supporting wall for stacker track. Blanks for submitting proposals may be obtained upon application to the Chief Clerk of the Department at the above address. Proposal No. 22082. 24,26,29

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, March 24 (A.P.).—Steel operations throughout the country during the past week declined further to about 73 per cent of rated capacity, Dow, Jones & Co. reported today. This ratio is about 1 per cent below that of a week ago, and 3 per cent below that of two weeks ago. The reduction was attributed to curtailment of operations among the smaller companies. The U. S. Steel Corporation was said to be maintaining its operations at 80 per cent, the first time in the last three weeks that the rate has not been reduced.

The recently authorized reduction in the par value of the common stock of the Canadian Pacific Railway from $100 to $25, and the splitting up of the stock on a four for one basis has been approved by the railway committee of the Canadian House of Commons. The plan to increase the number of directors to 24 also was approved.

Construction contracts awarded in the 37 States east of the Rocky Mountains from March 15 to 21, amounted to $135,999,400, compared with $105,158,400 for the preceding week, an increase of 29 per cent; and with $106,002,400 for the corresponding week of last year, according to the F. W. Dodge Corporation. Since the first of January contracts have totaled $955,254,700, a daily rate of about 8 per cent below that prevailing during the same period last year.

Reports from the copper trade today indicated that foreign buying will show greater improvement in the next few weeks than domestic buying, although a fair improvement should be recorded in the latter, as spring and early summer construction programs get under way.

The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 47,300 barrels for the week ended March 22, totaling 2,535,900 barrels, says the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,886,500 barrels, a decrease of 48,100.

The American Smelting & Refining Co. today advanced the price of lead from 5.50 to 5.65 cents a pound.

The Reichsbank statement as of March 22 shows the following changes in reichsmarks: Gold and bullion increased 11,331,000; reserve in foreign currencies increased 38,702,000; bills of exchange and cheques decreased 134,708,000; silver and other coins increased 11,817,000; notes on other banks increased 1,971,000; advances decreased 12,718,000; investments decreased 1,000; other assets increased 61,332,000; notes in circulation decreased 156,858,000; other maturing obligations increased 134,590,000; other liabilities decreased 6,000.

Cotton goods were somewhat firmer and the demand for gray cloths was better. Wash goods are more active. More business was reported on wool overcoatings and specialty lines of men's wear for fall. Raw silk was firmer and quiet. Silk goods were reported in better demand for cutting up purposes. Burlaps were quiet.

All officers were reelected in the annual meeting of the American Woolen Co. stockholders today. The report of President Andrew G. Pierce showed a net loss for the year of $4,228,190, which he blamed to a drastic decline in raw material prices and a heavy annual charge for depreciation. He said, however, that the company was never so strong financially and needed only normal goods buying and stabilized raw material markets to demonstrate the earning possibilities of the system of mills.

Directors of the American Light & Traction Co., public utility holding organization controlled by the United Light & Power Co., today called a special meeting of stockholders for May 5, to vote on a proposal to

Two increases in bankers' acceptance rates, bringing them ¼ to ⅜ of 1 per cent above those of yesterday, were announced today by the American Bankers' Acceptance Council. The first readjustment ranged from ⅛ to ¼ of 1 per cent for all maturities and the second, announced this evening, made a further advance of ⅛ to ¼ of 1 per cent in some of the short and medium maturities. The new rates, effective tomorrow, are 3 per cent asked, 2⅞ per cent bid, for 30-day maturities; 2⅞ per cent asked, 2¾ bid for 60 to 90 day maturities, and 3 per cent asked and 2⅞ per cent bid for 120 to 150 to 180 day maturities. These increases followed nine successive reductions over a period of less than three weeks, and indicated that dealers had misjudged the money market as a result of the plethora of funds piled up here in anticipation of midmonth Federal income tax, dividend and interest payments.

Unfrocked Priest Must Doff Cassock

Otherwise He Will Be Fined in Italy for Masquerading.

Monreale, Italy, March 25 (A.P.).—Unfrocked priests who refuse to quit wearing cassocks are henceforth to be punished exactly as are masqueraders in the uniforms of the Italian armed forces. This is provided by the concordat between church and state, and Nicolo Termini, suspended from priestly functions by the Archbishop of Monreale, has just found it out.

Prior to the conclusion of the Lateran treaties, the Catholic authorities were powerless to enforce their canonical decisions on rebellious former clerics. Now the Italian state itself insures the respect of the ecclesiastical habit.

The Monreale case has had wide repercussions. The well-known Ernesto Bonajuti, whose sacerdotal dignity was taken away in 1925 by the congregation of the holy office, has at last been obliged to forsake priestly raiment. Moreover a curb has been put on the custom of masquerading in clerical garb during the carnival season.

Beryllium as Hard Metal.

As many as 200,000 coconut trees have been infested by a single invasion of insects called leaf miners.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

American Woolen; Remington.

F. F.—What is your opinion of American Woolen and Remington Arms Corporation?

Answer—American Woolen must be relegated to the speculative class. Earnings have been poor practically since the war and no dividend is paid on the stock. Earnings of Remington Arms for 1929 are conservatively estimated at $1.75 a share. With the increase of 12½ per cent in the price of ammunition effective since January 1 last, earnings should increase at least $2 a share from the ammunition business alone, and estimates for the entire year 1930 place earnings at between $4 and $5 a share. Such profits would tend to make the stock attractive for the long pull.

Pilot Radio & Tube.

J. F.—I am thinking of investing some money in Pilot Radio & Tube stock. What can you tell me about it?

Answer—Dividends are paid at the rate of $1.20 a share per annum. Earnings last year approximated $2 a share on the 200,000 shares of class "A" stock. This company turns out radio set parts. It is now concentrating on the manufacture of television sets for the home and expects earnings from this source to boost income this year. The stock may be regarded as a speculative investment with attractive possibilities for long-term holding.

About Two Stocks.

H. O.—I would like your opinion of Hollander & Son and Foote Bros. Gear & Machine stock.

Answer—Hollander & Son is a non-dividend paying issue due to rather unsatisfactory income the past year. Foote is enjoying a large demand for its tractors, business for the month of December setting up a new high mark. Earnings last year were equal to $2.34 a share on the 240,000 shares outstanding, as compared with $1.07 a share in 1928. This company in addition to turning out tractors is the largest maker in the world of gears. The stock pays a dividend of $1.20 a share per year, making it desirable for the long pull.

Ford Motors, Checker Cab.

A. R. H.—I would like your opinion of Ford Motors, Ltd., as a speculative investment; also would you advise selling 50 shares of Checker Cab at a profit or would you hold it? I bought it at 38.

Answer—Ford Motors, Ltd., acquired the motor vehicle manufacturing business of the Ford Motor Co. (England), Ltd., for $20,482,790, consisting of $70,970, and 4,200,000 shares of its fully paid one pound par value common stock. The company recently declared a dividend of 10 per cent on the American shares, the first distribution since organization. This dividend was payable March 17 to holders of record March 7. Now that the stock pays a dividend and the company is under the sponsorship of the Ford organization, it has much more attraction, from a speculative investment viewpoint, than heretofore. We can not advise you whether to sell or hold your Checker Cab as your guess is as good as ours. The old saying in Wall street, however, is that you will never go broke taking profits.

Vanadium Steel.

F. E. R.—Have you any information on Vanadium Steel to account for its recent strength?

Answer—The stock has been influenced to some degree by unofficial reports of a merger. Aside from its steel business, Vanadium is a growing factor in the chemical field, and turns out more than 100 chemical products. The company owns the largest known deposit of vanadium ore in the Peruvian Andes, and holds a 50 per cent interest in a vanadium company in South Africa. Dividends are $4 per annum, this rate including extras. Earnings for 1929 are estimated at about $6 per share, profits in the first half of the year equaling $3.13 a share. There is no funded debt and only one class of stock, namely, 376,637 shares of no par. Vanadium may be termed a speculative investment with fair prospects.

The NEW Classified Section That Says—"There It Is!"

APPEARS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THIS ISSUE OF

The Washington Post

BEGINNING TODAY The Washington Post presents its Classified Advertising Section in an improved, indexed form which eliminates for the reader the necessity of groping through an entire column of ads in order to find the offerings in which they are interested. Systematic preparation of copy, scientific arrangement of type and simplification of indexing through logical listing of every article or service for sale or wanted, in alphabetical order under its proper classification, makes this section "distinctly NEW, vitally DIFFERENT and infinitely BETTER." Turn to these pages now!

Note the Comprehensive Coverage Provided by the Classification Index ☛

Practically any article or service that may be desired can now be located as quickly and as easily as a name is located in the telephone directory. The same method of A B C listing is used under various main and subheadings which are made still easier to locate by being placed in numerical order and also identified by numbers. But, no amount of explanation could so convince you of the radical improvement that has been made as will your own study of these interesting columns. Read these hundreds of important announcements and remember that the opportunity of presenting your own message to the thousands of readers of this newspaper is equally yours. New rate schedules, in combination with this improved system, makes advertising in these columns of greater value than ever before, to both the occasional and consistent advertiser. Any responsible person may place an advertisement in the NEW Post Classified Section and have the bill rendered after the first insertion, with the full privilege of the special cash rate if paid within one week of first insertion. Satisfy your own wants through reading these classified advertisements—appeal to the wants of others through your own announcements in this medium.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

FINE AND SENTENCE GIVEN STILL OWNER

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245. Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

In the Fairfax County Circuit Court yesterday Gardner Arnold pleaded guilty to running a still and Judge Howard W. Smith imposed a fine of $5 and costs and a six months jail sentence. Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr presented an information against Thomas Lester for violation of the prohibition law. Lester entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50 and costs and given a jail sentence of 30 days, which was suspended during good behavior.

Annis Woodlawn, colored, of Merrifield, pleaded guilty to transportation and possession of ardent spirits, but in view of the fact that she is the mother of seven small children, one of them an invalid, Judge Smith deferred sentence until Thursday with the understanding that she will try to secure a $500 bond not to violate the State prohibition law for one year. The trial of her husband who was indicted for the second offense of violation of the prohibition law, will be heard by the court tomorrow.

Judge Howard W. Smith, in the chancery court, granted James A. Howard a divorce from F. Estelle Caplow Howard on grounds of desertion.

Dr. Frank W. Huddleson, treasurer of Fairfax County, yesterday returned a list of sales to individuals and sold by him in accordance with the statute in such cases made and provided and also a list of sales of tracts or parcels of land to the comptroller of the State for the year 1928, which are received and filed. The clerk of the court was directed to record the sales to individuals in a book to be kept by him for that purpose and properly indexed.

This list of sales to individuals makes certain entries on the first list erroneous and double recordations resulting will cause confusion to examination of titles.

It was adjudged and ordered that the clerk of the court do amend the report made to the board of supervisors and recorded by him by striking out all sales that appear in the report of sales to individuals and recorded, referring to this order as his authority for so doing.

Gordon Brown, of Franconia, was arrested in Franconia and W. H. Barron, of McLean, was arrested at Tysons Cross Roads yesterday by Prohibition Inspector Virgil Williams and Traffic Policeman Carl B. McIntosh for drinking in public. They were both taken before Justice of the Peace Thomas P. Chapman at Fairfax, where they were fined $10 and costs each.

Monday evening H. E. Culbertson, of Cleveland, Ohio, and George M. Stuart, of Alexandria, were driving their cars along the Washington-Richmond highway between Penn Daw Hotel and Hunting Creek, where they sideswiped each other. They failed to reach an amicable agreement between themselves, so Traffic Officer A. W. Mills was called to the scene of the accident. He took the two before Justice of the Peace George K. Pickett at Groveton to iron out their differences. From the evidence given before him one of the two was guilty of reckless driving, and he imposed a fine and costs, which amounted to $14. Neither would admit his own guilt, so an agreement was reached whereby both men paid one-half of the fine each. Leaving the question of responsibility unsettled, they departed.

The report of Miss Ida H. Jones, assistant collaborating epidemiologist for Fairfax County, shows that 13 out of the 17 physicians engaged in active practice in the county reported 14 cases of influenza, 8 whooping cough, 4 lobar pneumonia, 2 chicken pox and 1 case of diphtheria at Falls Church during the last week.

In compliance with the tax code of the State of Virginia Commissioner of Revenue James U. Kincheloe announces that he will meet the taxpayers of Providence district at several voting precincts of that district for the purpose of aiding them in making returns of their incomes and tangible and intangible properties for this year. The State law requires that these returns must be made prior to June 1. Failure on the part of a taxpayer to comply with this law means a penalty of 10 per cent of the amount of the tax, with a minimum of $2.

The commissioner or his deputies will be at Feeser's store in Vienna on April 4 and 5, Havenner's store at Oakton April 7, Llewellyn's store in Idlewood April 8, Tyson's Cross Roads April 8, McLean April 9 and 10, Oliver's store at Kenmore April 14 and Stalcup's store at Chesterbrook on April 15.

Taxpayers failing to meet the commissioner at these locations on the dates specified will have to make their tax returns in the commissioner's office at Fairfax in order to comply with the law. In former years the commissioner would call at the homes, but this arrangement proved unsatisfactory.

Deputy County Clerk Elton R. Holbrook yesterday announced to the persons in Fairfax County that any one having heads and scalps of predatory birds and animals on hand must bring them to the clerk's office prior to March 31 in order to receive the bounty on them. Under the new law payment of bounties was abolished, effective April 1, 1930.

Edmund H. Allen, president of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, has announced the schedule of the programs for the month of April, which will be broadcast every Tuesday afternoon from 5 until 6 o'clock over Station WJSV, at Mount Vernon Hills, Va., under the auspices of the Fairfax Chamber.

Beginning next Tuesday, April 1, the Fairfax County board of supervisors, headed by W. F. P. Reid, chairman of the board, will be in charge of the program which will include addresses by several prominent speakers and a musical program.

The next two programs on April 8 and 15 will be in charge of Capt. Thurlow White, of Baileys Cross Roads, a leader in the civic organizations of the county. On April 8, Capt. White will speak on the "Suburban Advantages of Fairfax County," and on April 15, "The Manufacturing Location and Other Advantages of Fairfax County." Musical selections will also be included in both programs.

The Rev. J. C. Dugger, of the Southern Methodist Church, at Herndon, will lead the program on April 22, the subject of his address will be "The Commercial Value of the Church to the Community." The choir of the church will render the musical portion of the program.

The conclusion of the present series of weekly programs broadcast under direction of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce will be held on April 29. This program will be arranged personally by President Allen, and will include addresses by several of the leading citizens of the county and a musical program.

This series of broadcasts was inaugurated on February 4, and communications have been received from all sections of the country by the chamber, with congratulations upon the splendid programs.

Delegate Leon L. Freeman, of Fairfax County, will address a meeting of the Dranesville School and Community League tonight. The meeting will be held in the Dranesville School.

There will be a meeting today of the King's Daughters Circle at the home of Mrs. J. W. Brown in Falls Church.

The Nazarene Guild, of Falls Church, will hold its meeting this morning at the home of W. S. Orr in Falls Church.

Mrs. Hugo Stahl will entertain the West Falls Church Branch Auxiliary this afternoon at her home in Falls Church. A Presbyterian Missionary who returned to this country from Africa a short time ago will be the guest speaker.

The Providence Council, Daughters of America, at Fairfax, will meet tonight in Robey Hall.

The Ladies Social Club at El Nido Catholic Church is holding a meeting at the home of Mrs. W. M. Carlin, at McLean, tomorrow.

A square dance will be given tomorrow night by the Great Falls Grange in the Grange Hall at Forestville. The dance will be under the direction of the permanent dance committee and the money made is to be applied to the building fund debt.

Labor Parley Date In Petersburg Set

State Federation to Meet May 18, 19 and 20 in Armory.

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., March 25.—The Virginia Federation of Labor will hold its State convention in Petersburg, May 18, 19 and 20, in the Petersburg Grays Armory. Edward F. Grace, representing the federation, was here last night to confer with local members in regard to plans for the convention.

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, has been invited to attend and is expected to make the opening address on May 19. Other addresses will be made by Mayor R. T. Wilson, City Manager Paul S. Morton and other prominent local men. The convention is expected to be attended by 500 delegates from various sections of the State.

Plans are being made for an extensive entertainment of the visiting delegates, among which is a buffet luncheon on Sunday prior to the opening of the convention by the Petersburg Typographical Union. On Monday, after the formal opening of the convention, there will be a sightseeing tour which will take in the battlefields and other historical points.

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., March 25.—Miss L. McGarrigle, styling herself State organizer for the Congressional Districts Modification League, which is working for modification of the Volstead act to permit manufacture and use of wines and beer under Government supervision, with headquarters in the National Press Building in Washington and with business offices at 4 South Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, was detained for a time at police headquarters this afternoon along with another woman of more maturity, calling herself Mrs. A. Riegle, and claiming to be district organizer for the league.

The two admitted that certificates of membership in the league were being sold here for $1 each. Warrants were being issued charging them with selling securities in violation of the blue sky law when Mayor Bright ordered that they be released upon condition that they not operate any longer in Richmond. This they agreed to do. Miss McGarrigle, in a verbal tilt with Detective Capt. A. S. Wright while a magistrate was issuing the warrants, broke down and wept. She claimed that she had already operated in Norfolk and other Virginia cities without police molestation. She told Capt. Wright that she gets 10 cents for each certificate sold, while 50 cents goes to the district organizers and the remainder of the dollar is remitted to Washington headquarters.

Mrs. Riegle, who said that she was Julian Cook, of Petersburg, before marriage, said that she was working merely as an employe of Miss McGarrigle and had been given to understand that everything was being done in compliance with the law.

Funeral Rites Held For Mrs. Jennie Byrd

Baltimore, March 25 (A.P.).—Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie Byrd, grandmother of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Harry Flood Byrd, former governor of Virginia, were conducted this afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Shipley, jr., of Baltimore. The Rev. Benjamin B. Lovett, rector of the Memorial Protestant Episcopal Church, officiated.

The body will be taken to Winchester, Va., tomorrow for burial. Mrs. Byrd died at the Maryland Hospital for Women here Monday. She was 91 years old.

Danville Armory Looms In $75,000 Bond Issue

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 25.—A special committee of the city council has under advisement the building of a new armory and city auditorium, it being tentatively proposed to ask for a bond issue of $75,000.

The Government has threatened to withdraw its support to the three local contingents by withdrawing equipment on the ground that it is not properly housed. The annual payroll here for the military companies is $30,000.

MRS. ROSS TO TALK TO WOMEN VOTERS

Former Wyoming Governor to Be Honor Guest at Lyon Park House.

BRIDGE APPROACH URGED

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Nellie Tayloe Ross, former Governor of Wyoming, is announced as the principal speaker at the meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, which will be held in the Lyon Park Community House tonight.

The business session will be preceded by a dinner to be served promptly at 6 o'clock.

Among the subjects for discussion will be the recent hearings on the Capper-Cramton bill providing for development of the shores of the Potomac River, a report of which will be read by Mrs. J. N. Roberts; the report of the committee, of which Mrs. J. B. Lowell is chairman, to investigate financial arrangements incident to installation of water and sewer in the Waycroft subdivision will make its final report at this meeting.

Other projects to be considered will be establishment in Arlington County of the proposed Federal Postoffice Building which has the indorsement of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce and the report from Mrs. Florence E. Cannon on the attitude of the county board of supervisors regarding erection of a new county jail.

A joint committee representing the Parent-Teacher Associations of the county will meet tonight in the home service rooms of the Rosslyn Gas Co. at Clarendon.

At this meeting, according to Arthur Orr, sponsor of the movement, a permanent organization will be formed and officers elected.

Mr. Orr stated that the purpose of the organization will be to carry on an education campaign throughout the county in the interest of the bond issue for the enlargement of school buildings as outlined in the recent report of the United States Bureau of Education filed with the county school board.

Announcement was made yesterday by County Engineer C. L. Kinnier that Robert M. Walker, who for many years has been superintendent of the scavenger department, has been relieved of that position and will become one of the county road foremen under Harry Whitehead, who is general foreman of the county road department.

Mr. Whitehead will, in addition to looking after road construction and maintenance, assume the duties of superintendent of the scavenger department.

While the two departments have been consolidated, there will be no reduction in salary at this time so far as Mr. Walker is concerned, according to Engineer Kinnier.

Announcement was made yesterday by Mrs. Mary Morris Lockwood, chairman of the board of governors of the Arlington District Library Association, that a letter has been written to the business interests of the county and to all civic leaders asking their united support to the library.

The Arlington Rotary Club will hold its weekly luncheon tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock at the Washington Golf and Country Club. The president, Dr. R. N. Sutton, will preside.

Fellowship Council, No. 49, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, announce they will hold a benefit card party tomorrow night at the Odd Fellows Hall, in Clarendon.

The monthly meeting of the Auxiliary to Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, will be held tonight in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

The Lyon Village Citizens Association will meet tonight at the home of the president, Robert N. Anderson, on Norton street, at 8 o'clock.

Officers will be elected.

The National Society, Children of the American Revolution, announce the appointment of Mrs. Charles W. Maffett as president of the George Johnston Society, Children of the American Revolution.

The society will hold its first meeting Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William E. Williams, Clarendon avenue, Clarendon.

At this meeting officers will be elected and delegates to the national congress to be held in Waashington in April will also be elected.

There will be a special meeting of the executive committee of the Arlington District Library Association tonight in the library rooms in Clarendon at 7:30 o'clock.

Funeral services for Calvin Hansbrough, 88 years old, who died in Georgetown Hospital, Washington, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from Mount Olivet Methodist Church in Ballston by the pastor, the Rev. William W. Hodges. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Hansbrough, who was born in Culpeper County, came to Arlington County more than 25 years ago, making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Cora Shreve, at Ballston, since the death of his wife thirteen years ago.

Mr. Hansbrough served in the Civil War.

He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Bessie Robinson, of New Jersey; Mrs. Susie Harrison, of Sparton, Va.; Mrs. Cora Shreve, of Ballston, and Mrs. Kate Eberhart, of Leesburg, Va., and five sons, John, of Waashington; Earley, of Warrenton, Va.; William, of Maryland; Meade, of Ballston, and Herbert, of Accotink.

The Arlington County Monarch Club holds its weekly luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12 o'clock at the Ashton Heights Woman's Clubhouse, with President A. B. Honts presiding.

The Ladies Guild of St. George's Episcopal Church announce they will serve a turkey dinner tomorrow night in the Parish Hall from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Today at 1 o'clock the Clarendon Circle of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold a luncheon meeting at the Parish Hall.

All members are asked to attend as many matters of interest to the circle will be discussed.

Speaking at the monthly meeting of the Arlington Citizens Association Martin Webb, former president of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, advocated inaugurating to provide an adequate approach to the new Memorial Bridge connecting with the Columbia pike to take care not only of the residents of Arlington County but those of Fairfax County as well.

The association approved the plan and voted to instruct the secretary to write to County Engineer C. L. Kinnier in an effort to bring the proposed project to a successful conclusion.

The secretary read a report from the County Engineer's office to the effect that the surveys for the proposed county-wide sewerage project are about completed and ready to submit to the county board of supervisors for their approval.

The report points out the project will cover the entire county as one sanitary district with between 25 to 30 miles of trunk line sewers which will require a bond issue of about $1,250,000 with about $250,000 from current funds for the installation of the lateral lines.

The Arlington County Bankers Association held its monthly meeting yesterday in the Rucker Building at Clarendon, President George B. Fadeley, presided.

Without taking definite action there was much discussion on proposals to make small charges for general routine which it was pointed out by many of the members would insure increased service to their patrons. Those charges which were considered would be for the return of checks where it appeared there was not sufficient funds, the carrying of small accounts and for the taking care of overdue notes.

This question, it was said, would come before the association at its April meeting for further consideration.

PETITION ANSWERED IN PAVING TAX ROW

Montgomery Officers Aver Hearing Was Held as Provided by Law.

GUARD TO BE INSPECTED

The Montgomery County Commissioners and J. Forest Walker, county treasurer, yesterday filed answer to the order to show cause granted residents of Bonifant street, Silver Spring, in connection with their petition asking that the county commissioners and the treasurer be enjoined from collecting a benefit assessment charged against them following the paving of that street.

Through Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, counsel to the county commissioners, the county denied that the proper methods of holding and advertising a hearing had not been carried through and claimed that the very residents who filed the suit attended the public hearing and gave their assent to the assessment.

The commissioners ask that the suit for injunction be dismissed by the court and the defendants dismissed from further action.

Annual inspection of the Service Company, First Maryland Infantry, National Guard, will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Silver Spring Armory, it was announced yesterday by Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, commanding officer. The inspection will be by Capt. H. H. Muyer, Federal inspector, and Maj. Harry C. Butler, State inspector.

There are 58 enlisted men and four officers. Other officers beside Capt. Cissel are First Lieut. Ward W. Caddington, First Lieut. Victor Kreh and Second Lieut. Ainsworth Glover.

The Washington Rapid Transit Co. has filed an application with the Maryland Public Service Commission asking permission to operate buses on the Ashton-Colesville pike, it was announced yesterday by Alexander Schapira, assistant to the general manager. The route is to run through Silver Spring, Four Corners, Burnt Mills, Colesville to Ashton and connect with the buses now operated by the company from Washington to Baltimore through Sandy Spring. The new buses are to be of modern design, of the parlor coach type and are to have a cooling system.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday were informed by officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad that they will lend their support to the construction of a pedestrian underpass at Boyd Station. This assurance is understood by the county commissioners to mean that the underpass will be built at an early date.

The assurance was received in answer to a letter sent by Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, to the engineering department requesting that plans and specifications be prepared and cost estimates be submitted, with a view to having the railroad undertake the construction of the underpass.

The county commissioners approved the petition of William H. Riley, of Silver Spring, asking for a change in Classification of property on Georgia avenue next to the colored church at Triangle road intersection from residential to commercial.

The commissioners were notified by the Maryland State Roads Commission that the commission is ready to begin construction of the bridge over the Kensington grade crossing at an early date. Plans and other necessary papers were inclosed.

Col. Wise Chosen Postal Chief Aid

(Associated Press.)

Postmaster General Brown yesterday announced the appointment of Col. Jennings C. Wise, World War veteran, as special assistant to the Attorney General, assigned to the Postoffice Department. Col. Wise took the oath of office this afternoon.

A native of Richmond, Col. Wise practiced law for many years after being graduated from Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia Law School. In 1917 he was commissioned a major and served in the American Expeditionary Forces until 1919. He was wounded in action three times and awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Col. Wise sreved as special counsel for the United States before the Mixed Claims Commission from 1922 to 1923, arguing important test cases for the United States under the treaty of Berlin.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY TRAINS ARE URGED

STREET DATA DISCUSSED

As a means of improving service and eliminating complaints concerning smoke from locomotives of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, the Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce voted to work for the passage of legislation that would compel all railroad locomotives within the District of Columbia to use electricity as the motive power. The motion was referred to the executive committee of the organization for the drafting of the proper suggestions for presentation to Congress and to the District of Columbia Commissioners and to the members of the Public Utilities Commission of the District. The meeting was held last night in the Takoma Theater Hall, and Gordon W. Bonnette, president, presided.

Improvement of streets leading to Takoma Park from Washington and from highways from nearby Maryland leading to the community was discussed at length, and the street committee, of which H. L. Thornton is chairman, was instructed to bring to the body a comprehensive plan for highway improvements affecting Takoma Park, chief among these being Piney Branch road, New Hampshire avenue, Blair road, Fifth street, Thirteenth street, Easter avenue, in the District of Columbia, and Carroll avenue extended, Columbia pike from Seeks Corner to White Oak, Ethan Allen avenue extended from its present end to Riggs Mill road, and Philadelphia avenue from Chestnut street to Georgia avenue.

The Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce is taking a leading part in the formation of a Maryland State Chamber of Commerce, and the following members of the local group have been appointed members of the membership committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, Gordon W. Bonnette, H. L. Thornton, William A. Mellen and John W. Coffman.

Assessments just completed and levied by a condemnation jury covering the cost of improving Piney Branch road were the subject of prolonged debate and it was decided to aid in every way property owners who felt aggrieved regarding the results.

Another matter that was the subject of a resolution was the deletion from the 1931 appropriation bill of the District of Columbia of the item of $211,000 for the elimination of Chestnut street grade crossing. This item, after receiving the indorsement of the District Commissioners and the Bureau of the Budget, was rejected by the House subcommittee on appropriations. The Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce favors the retention of this item since it will mean the doing away with a railroad grade crossing at which four lives have been lost during the past two years.

Copies of the resolution passed will be forwarded to United States Senators Arthur Capper, chairman of the District of Columbia committee; Senator Hiram Bingham, chairman of the subcommittee on District appropriations; Senator Phillips Lee Goldsborough and Senator Millard F. Tydings, both of Maryland; and Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, of the Sixth Maryland Congressional District and chairman of the District of Columbia House committee.

New York Hotel Thieves Rob Clarendon Bowlers

Returning from Waterbury, Conn., where they helped the Clarendon (Va.) Bowling Team win second place in the National Duckpin Bowling Congress, Thurston Furr and Maj. H. F. Goff, of Clarendon, were robbed yesterday in a New York hotel. As a result they had to telegraph home for money.

Mr. Furr is said to have lost $90 and a pair of trousers, while Maj. Goff lost all his money, the amount of which is not known here. The two, together with other members of the team, were motoring back to Clarendon.

CLOSED MARYLAND BANKS TO REOPEN

PHONE BUILDING OPENED

The two banks of the Southern Maryland Trust Co. which were closed December 13 because of frozen assets by order of the State bank commissioner, will reopen their doors this morning. The employes of the two banks at Seat Pleasant and Upper Marlboro worked all day yesterday preparing for the opening today.

The banks have reopened through the efforts of the stockholders, who subscribed funds sufficient to cover the frozen assets which caused the closing of the bank. New officers have been elected, as the officers who served at the time previous to the closing had resigned prior to the closing.

Credit for the arrangements looking to the reopening is given to Allen MacCullen, secretary of the institution, and Deputy Bank Commissioner John D. Hospelhorn, who are declared to have worked night and day to bring the affairs of the bank to such a state that they could be declared solvent. Ogle Marbury, special counsel to Bank Commissioner George W. Page, has taken care of the legal aspects of the opening.

Judge Joseph C. Mattingly signed the order permitting the opening of the two banks late Saturday and plans were immediately started for the reopening.

New officers of the institution are A. O. Dille, president; Dr. Z. M. Brady, W. W. Collins and W. Seton Belt, vice presidents; Allen MacCullen, secretary and Miss Mary Myer, treasurer.

Formal opening of the new telephone building at Maryland avenue and Franklin street, Hyattsville, which will house the Hyattsville exchange and the Southern Maryland business office of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., will be held April 10, it was announced yesterday by F. J. Little, commercial superintendent of Hyattsville district.

The opening exercises will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Hyattsville Armory and will include speeches and sound moving pictures. The general public has been invited to attend. The present building has three stories, but provisions have been made for the addition of four more stories as the business expands. William L. Hicks is manager of the Hyattsville central office area.

Founders Day was observed yesterday by the closing of banks in the county and with patriotic exercises in the county schools. The Rev. Earl Wilfley, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, addressed a meeting of the student body of the University of Maryland, held in the gymnasium at College Park. The university program was featured by a parade of the colors by the College Reserve Officers' Training School unit.

Corner stone laying ceremonies for the new Rockville Presbyterian Church, which was forced to rebuild to make way for the construction of the Montgomery County Courthouse at Rockville, will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The services following the laying of the corner stone will be held in the Methodist Church.

The Rev. James H. Taylor, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, of Washington, will preach the sermon at the services. A large group of ministers from the Potomac Presbytery is expected to be present and participate. The Rev. Henry K. Pasma is pastor of the church. While the new church is being constructed, the Presbyterians are holding their Sunday services in the Montgomery County Clubhouse.

William F. Kirby Dies Following Operation

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., March 25.—William F. Kirby, 80, retired steam line foreman for the Potomac Edison Co., died yesterday at Allegany Hospital, following an operation. Mr. Kirby was native of Frostburg, but had been a resident of Cumberland 50 years. He is survived by his wife, Annie Paul Kirby; three sons, George L. and C. Dale Kirby, this city, and Frank W. Kirby, Detroit, and three daughters, Mrs. Robert J. Hatton and Mrs. Arch G. Perdew, this city, and Mrs. Harry White, Greensburg, Pa. Mrs. Margaret Ahrberg, Pittsburgh, is his sister.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from St. Mary's Catholic Church, with burial in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Efforts Fail to Reach Survivors of Rich Man

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., March 25.—Vital statistics authorities had been unsuccessful tonight in efforts to locate relatives of George D. Gleason 79, presumably from McIndols Falls, Vt., who died last night in a hospital of bronchial pneumonia. He came here recently from Strasburg, Va., and appeared to be a man of considerable wealth. He wore a Masonic ring. A card in his pocket, said in case of sickness notify his sister, Laura A. Gleason, 11 Middaugh street, Brooklyn, N. Y., but a telegram to that address was returned, no person of the name living there.

In his pocket were numerous letters from Mrs. Grace Mortimer, 930 Madison avenue, Paterson, N. J., but nothing to indicate relationship. One indicated she planned a trip here. The body still was at a morgue tonight. Gleason told a doctor he had plenty of money in a Washington, D. C. bank.

Debts of Bankrupt Firm Fixed at $11,748.59

William J. Rogers, Inc., lithographers, which was adjudged bankrupt Saturday owed debts totaling $11,748.59 and had assets of $5,494, according to the schedule filed yesterday in District Supreme Court. Income tax totaling $2,100 is one of the largest items in the liability list.

The schedule, like the petition, was signed by William J. Rogers, as president. Attorneys Shefferman and Aronson appear for the company.

Rites for Mrs. Williams Held.

Cumberland, Md., March 25 (Special).—Funeral services were held last night for Mrs. Lillie S. Williams, wife of John B. Williams, 202 Springdale street, who died Sunday. The Rev. Merritt Earl, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, officiated. The body was taken to Clarksburg, W. Va., today and burial will be in Mason Cemetery, Good Hope, tomorrow. Mrs. Ora Langford is her surviving daughter.

Grecian Freedom Exhibit on Display

Recognition of the 100th anniversary of the independence of Greece is the occasion at the Library of Congress for a special exhibit of materials from its collections illustrative of modern and ancient Greece.

A printed copy is on view of Webster's famous speech in the House of Representatives January 19, 1824, supporting resolutions believed by him, he said, to be the "first official expressions favorable to the independence of Greece uttered by any of the governments of Christendom." It is a witness to contemporary enthusiasm in the United States for the cause of Greece in its struggle for liberty.

Other literary treasures which are on exhibit are a first edition of "Childe Harold," by Byron, which was partly written in Greece; a first edition of the Fables of Aesop, and a first edition of the Iliad of Homer. Several religious books identified with Greek history are also to be seen.

1,000 TO TAKE PART IN VIRGINIA PAGEANT

BIG CROWDS EXPECTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., March 25.—"The Bud and Bloom" will be the theme of a colorful pageant produced by the faculty and nearly 1,000 boys and girls of the Handley Schools during the seventh annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival here next month. As in former years, the incidental music will be by the United States Navy Band, Lieut. Charles Benter, directing. H. S. Duffey, superintendent of city schools, has written the pageant's story. Crowds attending the pageants have increased year by year, and in 1929 it was estimated 50,000 people swarmed over the 70-acre Handley campus to attend that year's presentation.

The lyrics are being written by Mrs. Edna Eighmey Petrescu, elementary school principal, and they will be sung by the Handley Glee Club of over 100 voices under the direction of Miss Elma Hancon, director of vocal music. The dancing numbers will be directed by Miss Virginia Boyd, Mrs. Petrescu and Miss Opal Robinson, while the historical tableaux are being developed by Mrs Gertrude Ritter Peery. Costumes are being produced under the guidance of Miss Ruth Beery, and the art work is under the supervision of Miss Katherine Pannill. Miss Lelia Shipp will be the pianist.

The first part of the pageant deals with development in nature as shown through the clouds, the winds, the raindrops, the sunbeams, the cultivated flowers and the wild flowers.

Shawnee Indian villagers introduce the second episode, and they are followed by early colonial settlers, and they in turn by the Revolutionary, Civil and World War periods, and then the period of exploration, in which Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, of Winchester, is pictured as the chief hero.

The third part depicts the development in dancing. It begins with folk dances of the Indian tribe, then the minuet, the country barn dance, and lastly the modern stage dance. The pageant closes with a tableau, in which all pupils take part.

28 Bids Submitted On City Projects

Low Figures Announced on Street Resurfacing Estimates.

Twenty-eight bids were submitted by contractors for the work of resurfacing the city streets out of funds remaining available for such work from the appropriation for the current year. Low bids were announced yesterday by Roland M. Brennan, chief clerk of the engineer department, as follows:

Resurfacing sheet asphalt streets, Corson & Gruman, $182,908; cement alleys, McGuire & Rolfe, $122,252.50; cement sidewalks, the Cranford Co., $53,650; repairs to cement roads, Corson & Gruman, $45,435; bituminous surface treatment, Corson & Gruman, $15,260.

Contracts will be awarded in a few days. The bids were opened earlier than usual this year as an aid to provide employment and speed up the recovery of business. Additional street work will be done later as soon as the money in the pending District appropriation bill becomes available.

Traction Firm Faces $25,000 Damage Suit

Claiming permanent injuries as the result of the alleged derailment of a car of the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Electric Railroad Co. last November 18 at Chesapeake Junction, George J. Carnell, of 345 McLeane avenue southwest, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against the company, seeking to recover $25,000 damages.

Carnell alleges that when the car jumped the track he was partially thrown through a window and that a number of passengers were thrown against him in such a manner as to partially crush his head. He asserts that his eyesight is permanently impaired and that he suffered other injuries of a lasting nature. Attorneys Herbert P. Leeman and Charles J. Dean appear for the plaintiff.

Rites for Negro Educator.

Danville, Va., March 25 (Special).—Funeral services were held here yesterday for Prof. William F. Grasty, 75, well-known Virginia colored educator who died here last week. The colored schools closed at noon as a mark of respect and members of the city school board attended the obsequies which were held at Calvary Baptist (colored) Church.

Police Seek Missing Girls.

Baltimore police last night asked local authorities to search for three girl students of Montrose School, Baltimore, Md. The girls who left their homes Saturday are Mable L. Arnold, 14 years old, of Baltimore; Leona May Miller, 14 years old, of Cumberland, Md., and Eleanor Cornell, 15 years old, of Baltimore.

MEETING WILL ACT ON INCREASED FARE

PRIMARY AIDS SELECTED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A public mass meeting has been called for 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Elks Home, Prince and Royal streets, by the committee appointed on Monday night at a meeting of a number of residents of Rosemont and Alexandria proper, to take action on the proposed increase in rates on the bus and electric railway lines between this city and Washington.

Harry F. Kennedy, chairman of the committee, will preside and state the object of the gathering and ask for expressions of opinion from the various business and other interests in Alexandria and adjacent territory.

As this subject is of far reaching consequences the attendance is expected to be large, the Alexandrians employed in Washington being affected materially, while the residents of the suburbs would be the most seriously concerned, in that the rate of increase the Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Bus Line and Electric Railway proposes asking of the State Corporation Commission is 100 per cent in most cases.

The citizens of Alexandria are expected to attend the mass meeting and arrange for a representative of the people to be present at the hearing in Richmond on April 8 and protect their interest. As the public utilities in question are interstate, the matter will also have to be brought to the attention of the Interstate Commerce Commision, at Washington, whose policy has heretofore been to accept the decision of the State body and concur in its action.

Officials who will have charge of the Democratic primary next Tuesday, at which three members of the city council will be nominated, subject to the general election in June, were announced yesterday by the city electoral board, as follows:

First Ward, Armory Hall, Royal street between Prince and Duke streets, Scott Grimm, J. Edward Shinn, T. Alton Moore, Louis Poss and Bernard Fegan.
